Caucuses Opened Without Incident
This Morning

Light Vote All Over the City During Early Hours—Ward 4 Alone Showed Activity at Opening of Polls—Candidates Were Busy Last Night

If this were an election day the wisecracks would shake their heads and aver that it meant democratic success.

Unfortunately for democratic hopes it is only caucus day when both parties are nominating their own candidates for the fight yet to come.

The caucuses today opened at 11 o'clock instead of at noon and will close at 8 instead of 9 as formerly. The basement of city hall was the scene of great activity during the early morning hours. The police who guard the 27 polling places are obliged to report to the city clerk several hours before the opening of the polls and take with them in job wagons the ballot boxes, ballots, check lists, etc., which for a few days previous have been sacredly guarded night and day by police officers. The last precinct, 1 of ward 2, which is nearly, went out at 10:20 o'clock.

The polls opened promptly at 11 o'clock and outside of ward 4 there was practically nothing doing for the first hour. In ward four there were signs of life but nothing startling.

In all precincts the indications at noon were that the caucuses of both parties would be comparatively light. The rain which started to come down just as the mills were dismissing for dinner undoubtedly kept many working people away from the polls during the noon hour and was responsible for a great activity on the part of the candidates who have contests on their hands to get carriages out earlier than usual. All candidates were busy last evening although there was comparatively little excitement about town.

Messrs. Casey and Carmichael held several rallies which drew out fair sized audiences, while the republican candidates visited the Middlesex Social, the Centralville and Pawtucketville Social clubs and other semi-political clubs where informal rallies were held. There was unusual activity in the 17th district last night among the friends of Reps. Barlow and Marchand, the only two candidates in that ward to declare their preference in the Ames-Lodge contest. The report got around that two of the candidates against them were Lodge men under cover, and that the Lodge forces were making a special fight in that district. As a result the friends of the two candidates were out personally soliciting all their friends to vote for Messrs. Barlow and Marchand. If the Ames people gave any assistance to the two candidates it didn't appear on the surface.

Senatorial Candidate Best was a busy man explaining how he was let down on the ballot and he made it so strong that the officials of the republican city council found it expedient to make an explanation over their signatures in a local paper exonerating themselves from any blame in the matter. In the same paper Candidate Best had a lengthy communication which intimated that his inexperience was taken advantage of by the local machine.

Hon. James B. Casey and Col. Carmichael were both around the polling places from the opening of the polls, the former spending considerable time in ward four, his own ward, where it is expected a great vote will be polled. Senator Hubbard was met at several polling places making a general tour and talking with lieutenants whom he had stationed at the different precincts. Mr. Best was around in his auto. Mr. Varum was not seen during the early part of the voting and rumor had it that he had given up the fight after the discovery of his mistake in not plunging his delegates. was made, though the rumor was not confirmed, and later in the day he appeared at the polling places.

Everything was quiet and Sunday-like in wards eight and nine where there are no small contests.

A BANKER'S SON

To Take 'Phone Girl as His Bride

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—When wealthy George K. Lord, aged 22, son of George F. Lord, secretary of the Boston stock exchange, weds Miss Helen Marie Callahan, telephone operator of the Oxford exchange, in the Catholic rectory at Beaumont tomorrow morning, leading society folk of Lynn and Boston will attend.

The Rev. Father James J. Hickey of Beaumont will perform the ceremony, which marks the close of a pretty vacation romance.

It was early in the summer of 1909 in the mountains of New Hampshire when young Lord, whose father is one of the best known bankers in Boston, met the telephone girl at a house party.

Acquaintance fast ripened into love. Miss Callahan met the stock exchange secretary, and the elder Mr. Lord counseled his son to acquiesce in Cupid's plans.

Although their friendship has since continued Mr. Lord's friends were greatly surprised yesterday when the announcement of tomorrow's nuptials was made from the Lord residence at 18 Wave street, Lynn.

Even young Lord's club mates were surprised at the news, for it was generally supposed that Lord would marry into one of the leading families of Lynn.

The telephone friends of Miss Callahan surprised her last night at her home at 14 Brantford avenue, Beaumont, by according to her a "tin shower" under the leadership of Miss Agnes McLaughlin. Meanwhile Lord was tendered a stag party at Young's by his financial acquaintances.

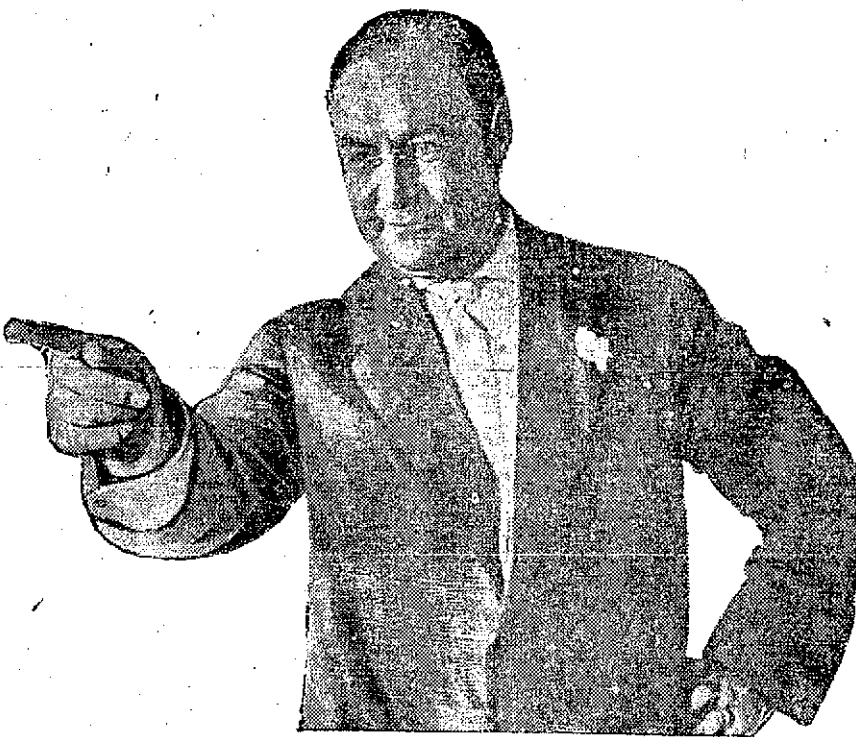

The groom-to-be is with the brokerage firm of White & Bowditch, 53 State street. His uncle, David J. Lord, was formerly president of the Commonwealth Trust company and lived on Commonwealth avenue. Since his retirement a few years ago he has removed to Lynn.

After the wedding ceremony the party will go to Boston for the wedding breakfast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lord will leave for Washington, D. C., via the Hudson river.

After a 20 days' trip they will reside in a handsomely furnished apartment at 12 Garrison avenue, West Somerville.

HON. DUNCAN FRAZER DEAD
LITTLEFAX, N. S., Sept. 27.—Hon. Duncan Cameron Frazer, lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, died today at his residence in Littleboro. He had been ill for several months.

COL. ROOSEVELT

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN

Makes Attack on State Committee for Favoring Sherman

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The state convention of the republican party opened in this city today. A bitter fight is expected between the factions headed respectively by Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman.

Colonel Roosevelt early today authorized the following statement:

"The conduct of a majority of the state committee last evening puts in the clearest light what this contest really is. The statements of Messrs. Griscom, Krulwich, Kracke, Wanamaker and Henkel prove conclusively the trickery that was used in the effort to win a majority and keep the management of the party under the control of the men who have discredited it by their actions. There has never been a state convention to which it was better worth going than this; for never in another has the issue been so clearly drawn between cleanliness and honesty in public life and that peculiar baseness in political management which has made the very word 'politician' obnoxious to the president. Our fight is squarely against corruption and the unclean bossism which has bred corruption. The men who try to keep control of the state committee and who now come here in the effort to dominate the convention are the very men who are responsible for the corruption which produced Allds and for all that has been discreditable in the party management; and now there deeply discredited bosses resent the effort of the president, the effort of the plain people who make up the great bulk of the republican party to rescue that party from the factions which have used it only to further their own base and selfish purposes."

It was decided by the "progressive" leaders to name U. S. Senator Root as permanent chairman of the convention in the event of their winning today's battle in the convention which was scheduled to begin at noon. Frank Hicks, a delegate from Nassau, was selected to place Colonel Roosevelt's name in nomination as temporary chairman and it was decided that Lloyd Griscom, chairman of the New York county committee would second it.

Large delegations arrived during the forenoon from Troy and Albany to demonstrate for their rival leaders, the Trojans being for Roosevelt while the Albanians supported Sherman.

The convention fight quite overshadowed the main business, that of making nominations for governor and other state offices. Chief interest centers in the fight over direct nominations. A tentative draft of the final plank drawn by one of the progressive leaders and approved by some of them follows:

"We favor progressive primary reform legislation on the lines of direct nominations by the people which shall provide: An official enrollment of party members. A uniform primary day, protected by all the safeguards provided for election day. Protection of party primaries from participation therein by members of opposing parties. Preservation of the sound principles of majority rule. Direct vote by the people upon all delegates to all conventions except delegates-at-large to the national conventions. County option of direct nominations of county officers. Direct nominations for all officers in the smaller civic units. And generally for easier and more efficient ascertainment and enforcement of the popular will. Application of the relevant provisions of the corrupt practices act."

Though Mr. Barnes concedes the defeat of Vice President Sherman for temporary chairman, he indicated that there would be a warm fight on the floor of the convention. State Chairman Woodruff will make a statement defining the position of the "old guard" with respect to the selection by the state committee of Vice President Sherman and Mr. Barnes may also have something to say.

Former State Senator Ellsberg and

Roosevelt Cheered

The legend that statesmen are punctually late applied with equal force today to the leaders of the "old guard" and the "progressives" who gathered tardily at the opening of the republican state convention. Not so the delegates or the spectators. Col. Roosevelt was the first to come. He came at noon and started rounds of applause. Shortly after Vice-President Sherman took his seat and the demonstration shook the building for several minutes.

William Barnes, Jr., the "old guard" leader, came in for applause.

Chairman Woodruff called the convention to order at 12:05 and asked that the aisles be cleared. After the prayer by the Rev. Joseph Cary of Saratoga the convention began the regular order of business.

"Officers," cried Chairman Woodruff, "put every spectator out of a delegate's seat."

The police force, consisting of one patrolman, asked Colonel Roosevelt if he was a delegate.

VICE PRESIDENT IS THE CHOICE OF THE STATE COMMITTEE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—By a vote of 22 to 15, the republican state committee, at a special meeting last night, reaffirmed its selection of Vice-President Sherman over Theodore Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the state convention, which will convene today.

Chairman Woodruff read a letter from Vice-President Sherman, asking for an investigation by the committee of the charge that his selection for temporary chairman of the state convention was brought about through trickery, and saying that if such charge were substantiated he would not care to serve.

"As you know, I had no ambition to preside over the state convention to convene tomorrow. As you also know, I was asked to preside, not alone because it was known that in response to the president's request I had spoken of the administration and for him on several occasions in different sections of the country; because it was known I had been a staunch supporter of the president during his entire term of office; because I was known to be an especially ardent supporter and advocate of the basic principles of the party. My name was presented in the state committee in accordance with custom in state and nation. I solicited no man's support. I consented to act as a service to my party, not to gratify a personal ambition. In that respect I had none."

"The charge has since been made in some quarters that my selection was accomplished in the state committee by means of deception and misrepresentation. I do not believe it. So far as I am personally concerned, I know the statement to be absolutely unfounded. Even to do the party service, I am unwilling to serve in the face of such a charge it well founded. I therefore ask that at the committee meeting tonight the charge so publicly made be with equal directness and publicity investigated; that the majority of the state committee who originally

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Opened Today for the Fall Term—Increased Registration

The day school year of the Lowell Textile school begins today and the evening school year will begin October 17th. Examinations of applicants for the evening school will be held every Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Many old students put in an appearance today and there was quite a list of new students. The total number of students was considerably greater than on opening day last year.

The new building on Colonial avenue which was finished this summer and in which are included the woolen department, chemistry and dyeing department, opened today, and this big addition means increased efficiency. The courses this year are the same as last year.

Herman H. Bachmann, a German American and a man of wide experience in the textile business, will succeed Fenwick Umpleby and will have charge of the department of designing and power weaving.

Ralph Gullion, a graduate of Springfield Training school, is a new comer. He will teach physical culture, will have charge of the gymnasium work and, incidentally, will coach the football team.

The day classes at the Lowell Textile school are especially intended for the instruction of those whose intention it is to enter the business of textile manufacturing in any branch. The courses are sufficiently complete to enable one to start without any previous acquaintance with textiles, but at the same time those who have been engaged in such business and wish to improve their knowledge and experience, can with profit pursue a course of study at the school. Each course covers a period of three years, at the satisfactory completion of which the regular diploma of the school is awarded.

The evening classes are for those who are engaged during the day in mills and work shops, to enable them to perfect their knowledge of the branches in which they work, to acquire knowledge of other processes than those in which they are regularly engaged, and to complete in the course of several winters, a thorough technical education without interfering with their daily duties.

ly favored my selection may each declare whether or not his preference was based upon any statement which bore any color of misrepresentation or deception for if such be the fact I ask that my name be not presented to the convention for its temporary presiding officer tomorrow.

Boulger sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Griffin and Mr. Boulger, Miss Carolyn White presiding at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased was held and expressing the profound sorrow felt at her early demise. # DR. GRANT ARRESTED

Is Held in Connection With Death of Eva Swan

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The real name of "Dr. James E. Grant," the man under arrest in connection with the death from an alleged illegal operation of Miss Eva Swan, a young school teacher of Paso Robles, is Dr. Robert Thompson, according to his professional associates in this city.

Thompson is said to have come here about a year ago from Boston, where he is reported to have had a bad record.

Early in the year he bought out the business of Dr. West and put up his sign as "Dr. J. I. Grant," also retaining Dr. West's sign.

His patients at the establishment on Golden Gate avenue knew him as Dr. J. E. Grant and the nurse, Miss Marie Messer Schmidt, who was arrested with him, as Dr. Mary Grant.

The police late Sunday got what they say is conclusive evidence that Dr. James Grant caused the death of Miss Swan.

Miss Schmidt, the trained nurse, has made a confession.

To the detective she said:

"Eva Swan had made two visits to Dr. Grant's office before she came for the operation. The doctor put her on an operating table, but before he was through he became greatly alarmed over her condition.

"She was placed in the doctor's hospital and I nursed her. On the tenth day after the operation she died. Young Paul Parker was a frequent caller on her and she told me he was responsible for her condition.

"Dr. Grant was in a state of great alarm and decided that the body must be removed promptly and he swore both me and Willie Saack, office boy, to secrecy, declaring that we were all in one boat. Then he fetched a trunk from upstairs and began sawing the bones of the dead girl's legs, so he could crowd the corpse into the trunk. He went about this work as though he were butchering an animal and it made so great an impression on me that I fainted. When I came to the doctor was chafing my hands. I told him I couldn't help him, as I couldn't stand the sight, so he told me to go home and brace up.

"I don't know when the body was removed. All I know is that when I came back two days later the trunk was gone."

Parker is a well known Stanford graduate and a prominent athlete. Parker lived in the house where Miss Swan roomed.

When the news was broken to Dr. Grant in his cell that Miss Schmidt had confessed he had a hysterical attack. He sobbed and moaned and declared the woman had sent him to his death.

MANY PETITIONS

Passed Upon by Committee on Sewers

The committee on sewers met last night and gave hearings on various petitions. The committee went a-viewing during the afternoon and acquainted itself with the places mentioned in the petitions.

The matter of relaying the Gorham street sewer between Union and Appleton streets was taken up. City Engineer Bowers said that the present sewer was laid about two years ago and though it is a comparatively new sewer there have been many complaints concerning it. Mr. Bowers allowed that it would cost about $2000 to fix the sewer and Supt. Putnam was instructed to investigate the matter and report to the committee at its next meeting.

A communication to the mayor and board of aldermen, relative to laying a sewer over the Lawrence street bridge, was read. It was stated that the sewer would be used later on in connection with the draining of Wiganville. It was voted to recommend the sewer.

A Mr. Joyce appeared to remonstrate against the petition of Joseph R. Bonham for a sewer in Mariand avenue. The committee voted to recommend the sewer. Other petitions recommended were: J. Edwin Lyle and others for a sewer in Summit street; George H. Waterhouse and William B. Watson for a sewer in Sandborn street; Nathan N. McEwan for a sewer in Holden street; Caleb L. and Sarah A. Smith for a sewer in Albert street. The petition of Charles L. Marren for a catch basin in Burlington avenue was laid on the table.

FRANK McDEVITT

WATCHMAN AT BROOKLINE COUNTRY CLUB KILLED

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Frank McDevitt, employed as a watchman at the Brookline country club, died at the Massachusetts general hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries received while riding a bicycle on Walnut street near Chestnut street, in Brookline about 8 in the morning.

McDevitt was on his way home, and when about to descend the Walnut street hill he lost control of the bicycle. It dashed into a tree and McDevitt was thrown forcibly against the tree.

Word was sent to the Brookline police station and Dr. Francis was notified. The injured man was removed to the hospital in the police auto ambulance.

McDevitt did not leave his address at the country club and it was not until late in the afternoon that his relatives were located. He has a sister, Miss Fannie McDevitt, who lives on Jamaica street, Jamaica Plain. She has been notified of her brother's death.

NARROW ESCAPE

MAN FELL IN FRONT OF AN ELEVATED CAR

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—F. J. Cunningham who lives in Abmont street, Winthrop, narrowly escaped death at the Forest Hills station of the elevated last night. Cunningham, who was standing on the outbound platform about 11:20 was stricken with faintness and fell from the platform into the pit. At that moment an incoming train, carrying a large number of passengers, came into the shed and bore directly upon Cunningham, who lay in its path unable to move.

The motorman, Peter Pello, saw his body lying on the track and put on the emergency brakes. Pello brought the car to a stop within half a car length of Cunningham, who escaped without injury.

Cunningham, who fell beyond the third rail, was taken out of the pit by guards and soon revived.

SULTAN OF SULU JOHN R. THAYER

Plans to Build a "White House"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—His sublime highness, Hadji Mohammed Jamulu Kiram, the sultan of Sulu, who won fame some years ago by proposing to Alice Roosevelt and having a tie, Ade comic opera named after him, paid his respects to Acting Secretary of War Oliver and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army yesterday.

To Gen. Wood and Col. Scott the sultan talked over old times, with Charles Verwie, interpreting. His highness recalled how Gen. Wood, soon after he went to the island as military governor, gave him a life annuity in the nature of 6000 pesos, or $3000 in Uncle Sam's money, a year.

Gen. Oliver greeted the only titled American subject cordially. The general said he hoped his highness was

To be Chairman of the State Convention

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Ex-Congressman John R. Thayer of Worcester will be named as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention, at the meeting of the executive committee of the state committee, to be held at headquarters tomorrow.

This was announced by Mayor Fitzgerald, following a call upon him by the ex-congressman, yesterday. The mayor said Chairman Macleod of the state committee had asked him to urge upon Mr. Thayer the acceptance of the chairmanship, and the Worcester man had given his consent to the program of the party leaders.

Besides selecting a permanent chairman, the executive committee will choose a temporary chairman, and a chairman of the committee on resolutions, who will draft the party platform. Representative William H. O'Brien of Boston has been mentioned for temporary chairman of the convention, and Harvey H. Pratt and Louis D. Brandels for the chairman of resolutions.

A majority of the members of the executive committee are working in harmony with Fitzgerald, and it is expected that whatever program he lays down will be carried out. The membership of the committee is: John F. McDonald, chairman, Boston; Frederick J. Maudslow, Cambridge; Thomas J. Collins, Boston; Walter H. Creamer, Lynn; Daniel F. Doherty, Westfield; Henry A. Frothingham, Boston; Roger Sherman Hoar, Concord; Thomas L. Lawler, Greenfield; Joseph A. Maynard, Boston; John F. McManey, Blackstone; David P. O'Connell, Worcester; Humphrey O'Sullivan, Lowell; Charles F. Sullivan, Fall River; James W. Synan, Pittsfield.

After his conference with the mayor, Mr. Thayer said the democratic party never had a better chance to win than it has this year.

"We ought to sweep the state, from the head of the ticket down," he said, "and by working together I am con-having a good time and was learning something of the life of the accident.

"I like the country very much, especially this city. It is grand and I would like to stay here a long time," said the sultan.

From Gen. Oliver's office the party went to Maj. McIntyre's office in the bureau of insular affairs. Maj. McIntyre spent several years in the Philippines and visited the island of Jolo and the sultan.

Today the party is going to the Washington monument. How his highness will ever reach the top is beyond the conception of his hosts. If he refuses to ride in the slow-moving elevator there is not for him to do but walk the 500 and some odd feet up.

Gen. Wood tried to persuade the sultan to ride down in one of the small elevators in the war department, but the nearest he could get him to it was in the shadow of the sliding door.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the sultan will pay his respects to President Taft.

A trip about the city in an automobile yesterday afternoon and last night seemed to delight the entire party. They wore broad smiles from the time they left the hotel until they returned.

His highness will look over some agricultural implements while here. He said yesterday that he wanted to introduce some modern ideas into his country when he returned.

The sultan is captivated by "American palaces," as he calls the White House and departmental buildings. He told his interpreter that when he returned to his native country he would build himself an American house if it cost him all the money he had.

When he passed the White House yesterday morning he stopped to admire it, and said, in his native tongue, "I would like to live in that house or one like that."

ident we will do it. I look for a harmonious convention, because I believe the candidates for the gubernatorial nomination will see the necessity of sinking personal ambitions and working together for the good of the party.

"Let us act with judgment. It is a worthy thing to have potent ambitions, but there should be no bad blood when it comes to facing the enemy. Then we should close up and present a united front. I believe any one of the four candidates mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination could win this year if his campaign was properly handled and the democrats were united."

Asked what he thought of the fight being made by Congressman Ames for Senator Lodge's seat, Mr. Thayer said: "I believe there is a splendid opportunity to defeat Senator Lodge. Butler Ames has campaign material of a most convincing kind. I listened to him on his recent visit to Worcester, and was deeply impressed with the argument he made against the senior senator."

LOWELL SINGERS

The following call for a public meeting will be of interest to all singers:

We are a city of 106,000 people. Among our varied activities we should have a live singing society; and with our population to draw from, and a competent and energetic conductor, it would seem easy to have it. Sometimes an old idea under a new name will win success. Suppose we have a choir guild or a singers' union, would it go any better than a choral society?

On Monday evening, Oct. 3, at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the First Unitarian Congregational church, Dutton street, a meeting of singers is called to meet Professor William R. Lane, baritone and conductor. With twenty years' experience along musical lines, he believes he has the qualities for carrying to success a musical organization which, combined with zest and vim, makes a good leader.

This meeting is called to take action for the coming fall and winter, and it is hoped there will be a rousing attendance, full of enthusiasm and anticipation. If feasible, an organization will be perfected and rehearsals appointed.

Professor Lane will have on hand

music for the evening and will give an hour's preliminary rehearsal.

Be sure to come, and interest someone else to come, and let us talk it up with success as the end in view. Remember the date and save the evening. Yours sincerely,

George F. Kennell,
Pres. Lowell Choral Society,
Thomas F. Boulger, Vice Pres.,
John A. McKenna, Secretary,
Samuel Kershaw, Treasurer,

WOMAN IS HELD

SHE IS CHARGED WITH BEING AN ELOPER

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Manuel Da Braga, a woman and eight small children, are detained at the Immigration station on request of the United States consul at St. Michael's Azores. The group arrived Sunday on the Romanic, but the consul's cablegram reached Boston almost a week before the liner put in an appearance.

Da Braga is a Portuguese, 40 years old, and the woman he claims as wife is about 35. The question has arisen whether Da Braga is eloping with the mother and family and an investigation is on foot.

Da Braga stoutly maintains the children are his. He smiles broadly at the suggestion that he has assumed the job of feeding and clothing some other man's offspring.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—In order to prevent corporations, firms and individuals from borrowing to the extent of their credit in their own cities, then going elsewhere and doing the same, Comptroller of the Currency Murray has decided upon the establishment of a central credit bureau in Washington where will be recorded all such borrowings from national banks.

commanding David to play and sing before him at his encampment. The second act shows the Israelitish camp at Elah, which has been harassed by the Philistines for forty days and nights. Goliath, the mighty giant of Gath, has repeatedly challenged any of Saul's army to meet him in single combat, but no one has been found who is brave enough to go against him. The capture of a notorious Edomite while engaged in an act of treachery brings upon Saul one of his mad spells, and he raises his javelin to strike the traitor to the earth, when David, by his singing and his playing, charms away the king's anger and restores his reason. Again comes the fierce challenge of Goliath. David offers to meet him with his sling, and the death of the boasting monster at the hands of the shepherd forms the climax of the act.

Act three is the throne room of the palace of Gibeath two years later. Saul has begun to fear and hate David and a great jealousy takes possession of his heart. His eldest daughter Merab, having learned from the prophet Samuel that David is to become king at the death of Saul, now seeks his love, but David is constant to Michal, whose life he saved and whom the king has promised to him for his wife. He is also comforted by the strong friendship of Jonathan, who has learned that which David has not yet dreamed, that at his father's death it is David and not he who is to become king. In an outburst of anger Saul attempts to slay David but his life is saved by the little bond-maid, Adora, who rushes between them and receives the javelin's thrust. David turns upon the king and denounces him for his wickedness, and amid the flashing of the lightning and the rolling of the thunder of the gathering storm that proclaims Jehovah's wrath, he denounces his command and rushes out into the night.

The first scene in the fourth act takes place in the cave of the witch of Endor six months later, when Saul has come to learn something of the future. The spirit of Samuel appears to him and foretells his death and that of his son. The last scene is in the courtyard of the palace next day. Saul and his army have been routed, his son slain and himself mortally wounded. The arrival of David turns defeat into victory. He is reunited to Michal and upon Saul's death ascends the throne.

The story is of intense interest and enthralls the audience from the very rise of the curtain upon the first act. Interspersed with stirring stories of warfare, jealousy and intrigue are most tender and captivating love scenes exquisitely portrayed, the whole producing an inspiring effect upon those who follow it with rapt attention to the fall of the last curtain.

The beauty of the play itself is greatly enhanced by the elaborate and historically accurate scenery and costumes. The possibilities of the artistic stage manager would appear to have reached the limit in the setting representing the camp of Saul in the vale of Elah, with a distant river casting forth its scintillating rays in the moonlight with the camp in the darkened foreground. The cave of the witch of Endor is also a marvel of the stage craft. Every scene in fact presents a remarkable stage setting.

Mr. Lorimer received curtain call after curtain call at the close of each act, the enthusiasm of the audience was general and spontaneous and reached its height after his rendition of the 23d psalm. He was most ably supported and charmingly withal by Miss Margot Merriman as Princess Michal, Miss Alma Chester as Princess Merab and Miss Ruth Copley as Adora. Bernice Belknap as the witch of Endor was positively awe-inspiring, while Miss Ivah Ferrier as the king's dancer was most graceful and captivating and made a charming centerpiece for one of the most bewilderingly beautiful scenes in the play. Charles D. Herman as Saul, J. Irving White as Prince Jonathan, Daniel Giffether as Jesse, the father of David, did excellent work and the minor characters were all in good hands.

"The Shepherd King" is one of the plays of a lifetime and everyone in Lowell should see it. "The Shepherd King" will be presented all week.

FRANK DANIELS.

Frank Daniels, comedian by gift of nature, comes to the Opera House next Tuesday, October 4, in "The Belle of Brittany," a musical comedy which the Messrs. Shubert selected for him as Mr. Daniels' first starring vehicle under their management. First produced at Daly's theatre, New York, the play met with generous approval. On tour Mr. Daniels was told that he had the best play of his career. So successful was the tour that the play is being retained as eminently suited to the talents of the "funny little fellow." The piece was originally played in London. The score is by Howard Talbot, composer of "A Chinese Honeymoon," the lyrics by Percy Greenbank and the book by Leedham Bantock and P. J. Barrow. Marie Horne has contributed additional numbers. The company in support of Mr. Daniels is a large one.

"THE BLUE MOUSE."

A girl who wants to be petted all of the time is "The Blue Mouse" in the play of the same name, which Clyde Fitch recently adapted from the German. The piece was presented recently in New York and it met with such instant and overwhelming favor that it remained in Manhattan for over a year. A duplicate of the New York company has been sent on tour with Wanda Ludlow as the Mouse. The farce will be seen here for the first time next week at the Opera House.

THOMAS A. WISE

Few stars have written a successful play, but Thos. A. Wise, co-author and star of "A Gentleman From Mississippi," which will be the offering at the Opera House soon, is one of the conspicuous examples. It is a tribute to the acumen of Wm. A. Brady that he accepted the manuscript on the first reading. The entire original cast which was seen in the play's memorable sixteen weeks' run at the Park theatre, Boston, last season, will appear here.

BLANCHE RING.

Blanche Ring, a comedienne, always warmly welcomed in Lowell is among the early attractions announced for the Opera House. Miss Ring continues under the management of Lew Fields and Frederick McKay in a musical play by George V. Hobart and Sylvio Hein, called "The Yankee Girl," which was seen last spring at the Herald Square theatre, N. Y. Needless to say Miss Ring returns with a new group of popular Ring successes, her new songs including "The Top of the Morning," "Louisiana Elizabeth," "The Wise Fisherman," "Nora Malone," "Rings On My Fingers," is still in her repertoire. The comedienne's supporting company consists of Harry Gilfoil, Bertha Shalek, William P. Carleton, Halstead and Curley, Marguerite Wright, Cyril Ring, Juan Williams, Paul Porter, E. J. Caldwell, Fannie Skidston, Margaret Malcolm and William De Bail.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Something which never happened and something which will probably never happen—although you cannot sometimes, always tell—was brought to the attention of the theatre going public of this city yesterday afternoon and last evening when John B. Hymer, that effervescent comedian presented "Tom Walker on Mars."

Undoubtedly you never witnessed the sketch before, therefore take the advice of one who knows a good thing and send your way to the box office of Hathaway's theatre and purchase a ticket. The piece, itself, is difficult to describe, the only way to learn its real worth or find out what it is is by attending one of the performances. Suffice to say that "Tom Walker," a man who will not work and would do anything to eat—excepting work—makes a deal with a circus man to be sewed to a Zulu man in order to be presented before the public as the Siamese Twins. After he has been travelling with the circus for some time the show goes bad and he and his other half are stranded. While wandering through the streets he is met by the devil and sells his soul for something to eat and a visit to Mars. It is true that "Tom Walker" makes a deal with the devil whereby he delivers his soul to his satanic majesty, but what of that, "Tom" is to be given a real good feed as a result. Does he get it? He does—not.

The sketch is a good one and one which will be thoroughly enjoyed despite the fact that the drift of the piece is rather absurd. It opens on a road near Coney Island where "Tom Walker" and his Zulu friend sell themselves to the devil for a feed and a visit to Mars. Next comes the groit of stars on the planet, Mars, which is a very spectacular scene. The story is an old one, but worked up in a new way. It reminds us of a farce in "Faust," for when the curtain drops on the sketch the audience is given a chance to think of the principal character, the devil, who is nothing more or less than "Mephistopheles" in Faust, although the scene is different.

The sketch is mythical but nevertheless interesting and enjoyable. After "Walker" signs the paper transferring his soul to the devil he is sent to Mars where he meets people who have lived for thousands of years. On that planet there are no people who have ever committed sin—but after "Tom Walker" and his other half and the devil get there the latter spread the teachings of the lower planet which include sin. Everything is going along in a rosy manner, "Tom" is trimming the life out of the ladies of the planet, the different ginks and other officials owing to the fact that he has loaded dice, until the devil says the date to "Tom" and then comes the trouble which leads up to the death of the devil.

Hymer who takes the part of Walker is very good and the same may be said of David Walters, who portrays "Prince Inferno." The "Queen of Mars," as carried out by Miss Leona Leigh is worthy of favorable mention and "Ookun Uuk," the other half of "Tom Walker," despite the fact that he does not speak, but cranks, is responsible in no small measure for the success of the piece.

Helen Boyton and her company present "Alias Irish Tessie." The sketch shows how a clever woman shoplifter gets the better of a detective. Her manner of outwitting the store detectives is very clever and as a result of her work she relieves store after store of valuables and then removes to another city.

She almost meets her Waterloo, however, when "Bill Keegan," a central office detective puts in an appearance and "gets her dead to rights." The situation, however, does not freeze her the least for she shows that she is clever by leading her captor to think that she has taken poison while in reality she has taken nothing more or less than cologne. She then snatches in outwitting the detective and slipping him away in a trunk.

Mamie Harnish is one real big hit. She is the candy girl all right. She is a good singer, a better story teller, a good dancer, well she is one of the best entertainers that has visited Hathaway's theatre for a long time. She has one of those naughty twinkles in her eyes which attracts the attention of the audience and by no means is her twinkle the only attraction. If you want to have a good laugh, hear some good songs and have a chance to think over stories which she tells just drop in and listen to Mamie.

The remainder of the bill is exceptionally good, including Maxine, the drunk on the wire; Wolf, Moore and Young, a clever trio; Sanson and DeLille, sensational athletes; Jimmy Doherty, the singing comedian and the moving pictures.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If you judge by applause and laughter the show at the Academy must be the best yet. Gibson & Ranney have a cowboy sketch that is a corker and he wins his bride in real cowboy fashion. Zelaya is certainly the king of the piano, his selections are well chosen and his execution perfect. Green & Park are a very clever pair and their work was appreciated. The pictures are new and well chosen. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

STAR THEATRE

Crowded houses are the rule at the Star theatre this week, where Dolly Clifford and her big company of girls and comedians are showing. Twelve pretty girls and four comedians working in front of special scenery and electrical effects complete a lively two and one-half hours' show.

Tomorrow night Jim Prokes and Capucines, of Montreal, will wrestle for the middle-weight championship in addition to the big regular show. The regular prices, ten and fifteen cents, will prevail on the special nights, too.

On Friday night the amateurs and the hook will be in order.

Next week Tiny Davis and her big company will be at the theatre. There will be an entire change of faces, olio acts and everything.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Bright, breezy, "different." That is what the bill at the new Merrimack Square theatre, in Paige street, is this week. It is even better than the opening week, and those who witnessed the opening performances will appreciate just how very much that means.

An excellent sample of just how good the program this week is, is the act presented by the Feldsburg Four. They are billed as "vaudeville's sweetest harmony singers," and with reason, for their harmony act of the most pleasing singing acts seen in Lowell in many months. Each of the four has an excellent voice, full toned and rich and sweet, yet with plenty of volume. The songs are all new, too, and sung with a vim and go and the sort of harmony that makes you want to join right in on the choruses.

Something different is the one act play, "Dr. George," presented by the Scenic Stock company and written by the company's leading man, George S. Mackey. The play is a story of modern life involving a husband, Dr. George, played by Mr. Mackey; his wife, played by Miss Beaulieu Overton, and a very natural friend, played by Fred L. Sutton. There is an intensely interesting plot based on the love of the physician's wife for the friend Karl and involving with unexpected and tragic results an invention of the physician's. The whole is dramatic in the extreme and is bound to grip the attention of an audience, while the climax is as forceful as it is original.

The presentation of the play was just what was needed to bring out its best qualities. Mr. Mackey as the Dr. George of the plot made the very most of his opportunities, and Miss Overton carried the role of the wife without overdoing what might easily have been spoiled. There was a delicate role to act but Miss Overton gave a delightful interpretation. Mr. Sutton as the friend Karl was entirely adequate.

George S. Lauder, the Australian ventriloquist, created no end of amusement with his galaxy of mannikins, their small talk and their intensely funny gyrations—they were all of that. The act is along the usual lines of the sort, but more elaborate than is customary and exceptionally well done.

Mr. Lauder proved himself a ventriloquist of splendid ability yesterday. Murphy and Andrews furnish some real comedy in their topical sketch with parodies and some witty local bits which brought down the house yesterday. They have some imitations which catch an audience from the word go and they keep their act at the top pick of laughter and go from curtain to curtain.

The Kolo Trio of acrobats are better than the run by far. They have a "straight" act without any attempt at comedy or clown stunts, and they do some really wonderful things in the way of tumbling and balancing.

Four films of moving pictures of comedy and tragedy, with a lesson or two and some interesting exhibition scenes, are interspersed on the bill. The whole makes a program very worth the seeing.

You can easily repair or replace your old stove lining by using The Thompson Hargrave Co.'s Asbestos Stove Lining. Large package 25c. Try it.

PRAISE STATE CHARITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Reports on the conditions of Catholic charities from practically all parts of the country, were read yesterday at the forenoon session of the first national conference of Catholic Charities, which was held at the Catholic University of America, and was presided over by James F. Kennedy of Chicago. Most of the reports dealt with the question of fairness or unfairness of state charities and illustrations to Catholic interests.

Practically all the reports declare that the administrations of state boards of charity are fair and just and that there is no effort on the part of state institutions to interfere with the religious and spiritual interests of Catholics. Committees reported from the following states: New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Nebraska, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Arkansas, Oregon, Louisiana, District of Columbia, New Hampshire, Missouri, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Virginia, Georgia and Iowa.

Wright Lorimer and his excellent company of players opened a week's engagement in Mr. Lorimer's superlative production of the spectacular biblical drama, "The Shepherd King," before a fair sized audience last night.

This is the second appearance of "The Shepherd King" in Lowell, but that fact will not interfere with its success here for those who have not witnessed a performance will not miss the opportunity, having heard so much about the production, while those who have seen the play will recall its charm and will find themselves irresistibly drawn to another performance. "The Shepherd King" is a wonderful play presented in a wonderful manner by Wright Lorimer, the creator of the leading role of "David." As "David" Mr. Lorimer's name has become a household word among theatre-goers and will ever be linked with the character even as O'Neil in "Milk and Honey" and the several other eminent players who have become world famous through the medium of one certain character which they have portrayed and which in the popular mind would lose its force, charm or identity were it ever attempted by another. Mr. Lorimer is the Shepherd King that the American public wants to see and hopes to see for many years to come.

"The Shepherd King" is but a most remarkable illustration of the deeply romantic biblical story of David, the poor shepherd boy who rose to be a king, whose psalms have been repeated with devotion by countless thousands through the long vista of years, whose marvelous prowess in slaying the mighty Goliath with his sling is known and wondered at by every little boy who ever attended Sunday school. It is a theatrical epic produced with an elaborateness of infinite detail that is really indescribable. The capacity of the Opera House stage is taxed to its utmost in presenting the different scenes while 100 people appear on the stage, not to speak of the small army of the mechanical actors behind the scenes; the electricians, property-men, mechanics, etc., who contributed their share to the completeness and success of the production. And all is given under the personal direction of Mr. Lorimer himself while also presenting in faultless manner the exacting title role.

3 SHEPHERD KING C U

Says He is Not a Candidate Won Out From a Very Classy Field at Columbus

for Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mayor Gaynor issued last night, for the first time, a formal statement that he is not a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Nowhere in the statement does the mayor say, however, what course he will pursue in the event the nomination is thrust upon him.

He indicates that he prefers to serve his full term as mayor, but that the same time he emphasizes that he feels no moral obligation to do so.

The statement, dated St. James, L. I., Sept. 26, in the form of a letter to John A. Dix, chairman of the democratic state committee, follows:

"Dear Sir:—I have further considered the matter as you requested when you called on me here with Mr. Mack last Wednesday, but can only reiterate to you that I am not a candidate for nomination for governor. This must have been well known all along, for I have written it to many people during the last six months.

"I am not influenced in my course by assertions made here and there that I made an agreement or compact during the mayoral campaign to serve out the four years if elected. These false assertions are made by persons who opposed me and voted against me, and would do so again.

"I made no such agreement. I certainly did not with those who opposed me and voted against me. I could have had no compact with them. It takes two sides to make a compact. Nor did I make it with those who nominated and supported me. They did not ask for it.

"I did say of my own motion and at the request of no one that I purpose to devote the next four years to the service of the city. But this only started a hue and cry against me that I should make a pledge or compact to that effect, which I refused to do. And if I had made a pledge, that could not prevent the voters from electing me to some other office.

"I am well aware, as has been pointed out to me, that there are some large things which a governor could readily do for the city of New York, by oversight and legitimate interference which the mayor of the city cannot do without much time and difficulty, if at all.

"Among them I may mention the planning and construction of a comprehensive system of subways, with a single fare over the whole system, which, in the disorganization or duality of government, or both, now existing in that city, is a difficult and protracted matter.

"But, nevertheless, my wish to remain as mayor is such that I do not care to become a candidate for nomination for governor. May I add that as a matter of fact the office of mayor of the city of New York, considering the power and the constant occasion for the exercise of the highest functions of free government lodged in it, is second to no office in this country, save one.

"Many tell me and write me that in taking this course I give up my future. But I shall not take myself or my future into consideration. None of us has a future, but only the present. And if I thought I had a future, I should be content to entrust it to the people of the city of New York.

"I trust that the convention will nominate some one who is not a mere dealer in the political commonplace and jingles of the last 25 or 30 years, but who has kept pace and grown with the times, and whose absorbing purpose will be to make the government of the state in all its branches, general and local, intelligent, honest and decent, and to lift it up and make it an object lesson to the whole nation.

"If to do this he has to be more or less meddlesome, we will all forgive such meddlesomeness, if kept fairly within the law. Sincerely yours, "W. J. Gaynor.

"John A. Dix, Esq., Chairman, etc."

TO FIGHT MAYOR ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The opponents of Mayor Gaynor debated yesterday and last night in preparation for the struggle against his selection for the head of the democratic state ticket, which now seems likely to be the distinguishing feature of the two days remaining before the convention.

At present the Havens men head the anti-Gaynor forces, but when the supporters of the other candidates arrive they hope to enlist their aid on the common ground that the elimination of Gaynor is the first requisite toward insuring the success of anybody else.

The Whitcomb house, which has been selected for democratic state headquarters, began to show signs of political life yesterday, when Secretary John A. Mason of the state committee arrived from New York.

The Havens men admit that they have no assurance of the support of William B. Hebert if their candidate receives the nomination; but they call attention to the fact that the New York editor supported Mr. Havens when he ran for congress, and hope that this course indicates that Mr. Hebert has forgotten the fact that Havens opposed him when Hebert ran for governor in 1906.

Not even the New York leaders are awaited with more curiosity here than Morris M. Minion, the New York man who has been circulating pro-Gaynor literature in the name of the so-called league of Gaynor clubs.

Mr. Minion is the mystery of the pre-convention campaign. Mayor Gaynor has asserted that Mr. Minion's activities on his behalf are without his knowledge and consent, but Mr. Minion has continued his campaign.

He has engaged a suite at the Whitcomb house in the name of his league and rooms for himself at another hotel and otherwise indicated that he will keep up his efforts to the eve of the convention.

SULZER WILL FIGHT NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Representative William Sulzer wound up his campaign for the democratic nomination for governor last night by addressing a crowd of Bronx voters.

Mr. Sulzer, accompanied by his campaign committee and a delegation of supporters, left yesterday for Rochester.

According to his supporters, a fight to a finish will be waged for Sulzer's nomination. The first demand will be for an open convention, free from the application of the unit rule.

The Sulzer candidate also insists that every candidate declare himself on leading issues such as direct nominations, the income tax and election of United States senators by popular vote.

Deposits made on or before Saturday, October 1st, in the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank draw interest on that date.

GIRL CAPTURED

She Tried to Pass a Bad Check

TAUNTON, Sept. 27.—After attempting to pass a check which would have deceived a 10-year-old boy and much less Cashier John H. Dalglish of the Merchants' National Bank, in whom she presented it, Anna Smith, a colored girl 18 years old gave Patrolman Grady an exciting run before he captured her, and when landed in a cell at the police station attempted to hang herself with her belt, stab herself with some hair pins and to suffocate herself with her handkerchief. Finally the threat of handcuffing her proved effectual and she promised to be good.

She was employed up to yesterday in the family of Herbert Fisher of Somerset avenue and soon after she severed her connection with the Fisher household appeared at the bank with a check for $57.75, which Mr. Dalglish hardly glanced at before he decided it was no good. Anna walked out and one of the bank clerks hurriedly notified Patrolman Grady. When he came in sight she ran and was giving the patrolman a good run before she fell in the rear of Union block and the officer secured her.

At the police station she stated to Deputy Cash that she had relatives in Winter street, Boston, but finally said they lived in Newton, and that she came from Charleston, S. C. She denied writing the check or trying to cash it.

Mayor Fitzgerald Says He Is Not a Candidate

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Mayor Fitzgerald issued the following statement last evening:

"Men have been kind enough to tell me that I ought to stand for governor. The publicity given to this suggestion has caused rather an unexpected and an embarrassing activity among my friends throughout the state. It has tended to confuse the situation.

"Local democratic leaders have told me that the doubt whether I would permit myself to become a candidate has disturbed alignments and postponed decisions in different localities.

"It will not be wise to allow this condition to continue. The democrats tomorrow will choose the delegates who, at the coming state convention, will nominate the democratic candidate for governor.

"So great is the probability that the democrats at this convention will be able to elect the next governor, if they select their candidate wisely, that it seems to me of the greatest importance to make their task as easy and as simple as possible. Eliminating every unavailable candidate is one way to simplify the problem of selecting our candidate for governor.

"I am keenly conscious of the great opportunity which is afforded me to lead the democrats to victory in the state this year, and no one would appreciate the honor more than I; but on reflection it does not seem to me that I ought to lay down the task in Boston which my city has recently put in my hands, and which is still so far from performed. Therefore, under the circumstances, I must ask the democrats of the state to consider my candidacy unavailable.

"I step aside because I have work to do in Boston, and because I want to help to make easy the task of selecting the best man to lead the progressive forces of the state against all that Lodge and Draper represent; but I do

Understanding for Foss

It became apparent early yesterday that friends of Mayor Fitzgerald were not taking the talk of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor very seriously.

They said there was too close a connection between the democratic state committee headquarters on Beacon street and the rooms of the democratic city committee in Exchange street to believe that the mayor meant to stand gubernatorial nomination.

Then, too, they said the so-called conferences between the Foss manager, Chairman Macleod of the state committee, the mayor and Pres. Maynard of the democratic city committee savored too much of the love feast to make them believe that there was anything in the Fitzgerald boom for governor.

The average politician is quite sure that Foss, Macleod, Fitzgerald and Maynard all have a thorough understanding about the gubernatorial nomination and appears to be quite amused over the stories of any real difference between them.

FEDERAL EXAMS

For Good Jobs Under Uncle Sam

Secretary Murphy of the board of trade yesterday received from the United States government another batch of notices of examinations for positions in the Federal service to be held within short time at the post office in this city.

Those who desire to take the examination should send in their applications within 10 days of the date of the examination and full particulars relating thereto may be obtained from Secretary Murphy or at the post office. The close analysis of the dates of the examinations is as follows:

MANSLAUGHTER "PROGRESSIVES"

Charge Against Bennett Was In Control of the New Hampshire Convention

BELFAST, Me., Sept. 27.—The charge of manslaughter against Sidney Bennett of this city for the killing of Mrs. Hattie French Thomas in her home here on February 22 last was not pressed in the supreme court today on motion of County Attorney Buzzell. Bennett and Ira S. Grady, a Unity blacksmith, were indicted on a charge of murder at the April term of the court. Grady was tried last May but not convicted. Then the charge of murder against Bennett was reduced to one of manslaughter and the case continued to this term of court.

MINING CONGRESS

To be Called at Pinchot's Suggestion

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Clifford Pinchot's contention that the conservation idea had taken such a hold on the American people that it was bound to prevail and that it would be wise for the mining and oil men of the country to take up rather than oppose it, is the principal topic of discussion among the delegates to the American Mining congress. Resolutions demanding the enactment of employers' liability laws that will have the effect of rendering mine operators and heads of other industries more cautious and thus protect the lives of their men constituted one of the main subjects for discussion in the resolutions committee today. Other resolutions presented today commend the federal bureau of mines for its activity in the direction of lessening the hazard of mining; recommend the establishment of a national chemical or physical laboratory for the development of new and better processes of ore treatment and urge that the bureau devote special attention to assist legitimate mining interests in the task of eliminating "wild cats."

TO ISOLATE CARS

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The government has issued an order that all railroad cars entering Paris from Austria and Italy be isolated in the Bercy depot for medical inspection. Bercy forms a quarter in the southeast of Paris.

Let democrats grasp their opportunity at the primaries today and nominate candidates who can be elected.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 27.—"Progressives" controlled the state republican convention in this city today and the platform, the only business before the delegates, was presented by a committee which was almost unanimously "progressive." All of the state officers, headed by Robert Bass of Peterboro, the "progressive" leader for governor, were chosen at the first direct primaries ever held in this state on Sept. 6.

A Godsend to Sickly Children

Mr. N. L. Duffee, of Helena, Ala., the thankful father of a little baby girl who was made healthy and fat after she was not expected to live, writes: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the finest of medicines. I have a girl baby, now five months old, who until she was two months old we hardly saw any chance of raising her. At that time I procured a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and gave her a few drops at a time. Now she is acknowledged to be the finest looking baby in town. Baby is still growing as fast as a pig."

It is just the right thing for them when they have coughs, colds or any throat or stomach troubles that are so prevalent with the children. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It is invaluable for overworked men and delicate women.

All druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. John Giles of Hanover was the permanent presiding officer at today's proceedings and his speech with that of Mr. Bass and the adoption of the platform practically opened the fall political campaign in this state for the democratic convention, disposed of its business on Sept. 22. Clarence Carr of Andover, the democratic gubernatorial nominee of the primaries, will be the chief opponent of Mr. Bass at the polls.

The republican state convention today was one of the largest in the history of the party, although the new primary law limited its duties to the adoption of a platform and the election of a state committee.

Judge Oscar L. Young of Laconia, chairman of the republican state committee, called the convention to order at 11:20 and Rev. William H. Trickey of Tilton, a delegate, offered prayer.

The organization of the convention recommended by the caucus of Monday night was adopted, with Dr. John M. Giles of Hanover as chairman.

It was voted to increase the number of members of the state committee from 100 to 150, and the election of such committee was the closing business of the convention, which was the most harmonious in the history of the republican party in New Hampshire.

BLEW OPEN SAFE

Burglars Entered the Post Office at Claremont, N. H.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Sept. 27.—Burglars robbed the postoffice here early today while two citizens looked on, blew open the safe and succeeded in escaping with about $450 in cash and stamps. There were seven men in the party of robbers and it is believed they used an automobile, as all those who were seen were automobile coats.

It was early this morning when W. O. Fuller, who lives in back of the postoffice, observed the men walking around in the building. Mr. Fuller stated that there were six men inside and one on watch in front. They had entered by forcing the bars off a rear window. Another neighbor of Mr. Fuller's, Jeffrey R. Noyes, who lives upstairs, was aroused and both men watched the robbers at work but apparently were too excited to give any alarm. Mr. Noyes had a revolver in his hand but refrained from using it. The burglars blew open the safe and obtained $100 in cash, money orders for $200, and $10,000 stamps mostly 1 and 2 cent ones. They then hurried away, after rifling the cash drawers and disappeared in the darkness.

No Danger of Another Baseball War

By TOMMY CLARK.

As has been the case for many years at this time of the baseball season, there is talk of a third major league circuit. The talk is more persistent this time than ever before, and men with millions are said to be behind the scheme. The plan of the promoters is to have a twelve club circuit with teams from the big cities. A few years ago reports such as these would have thrown the baseball world into a flurry of excitement and even dread on the part of magnates. The stories at this time caused scarcely a ripple and merely an elevation of the eyebrows on the part of those financially interested in present clubs.

The growth of the national pastime which has made possible as well as necessary the investment of fortunes in mammoth grand stands and pavilions and the purchase or lease of valuable tracts of property for the playing fields has tended to the stability of baseball investments. The great expense incidental to launching a baseball league in opposition to the present machinery of organized baseball is the greatest obstacle to that plan.

Even if the proposed twelve club circuit, impracticable on its face, were reduced to eight clubs, the initial outlay would represent an investment of from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 before the first gun of actual warfare was fired. To compete on a basis of equality with either the National or American league a new organization would need commodious grounds and stands. Any major league club which has not at least a $250,000 plant is a "piker" in the present day of baseball fortunes. After that would come the luring, only at fancy prices, of diamond stars from their present engagements and then the battle for patronage and prestige, for it is certain the present organizations would fight and fight hard against any intruder, pouring back against the money already made at the sport, while the invaders would be spending "new money," so to speak. Under present conditions the financial difficulties seem to argue against the formation of a third major league from new material. That some of the present organizations might expand or that there might be a realignment of men now interested in the national game would find more ready listeners.

Talk of a possible baseball war as a result of the foundation of a new league backed by theatrical interests has recalled the fact that since the national game became firmly organized in 1875 five of these "wars" have marred the sport and burned up thousands of dollars. Either jealousy or a desire by outsiders to cut into the "good thing" caused the trouble in each instance. The first strife was in 1882, when the National league clashed with the newly organized American association. Then in 1884 the Union association was organized and a fight to a finish with the National league and the American association followed. In 1890 the Brotherhood of Baseball Players, headed by John M. Ward, helped to form the Players' league, which tried to put the National league out of business, but without success. Ten years later the American league was founded by Bay Johnson, and after a bitter struggle it succeeded in compelling the old National league to sue for peace.

It was after the National league, the American association and the Northwestern league had signed what was known as the tripartite agreement in the fall of 1893 that outside promoters, realizing that there was money in professional baseball, decided to cut in. Headed by Henry V. Lucas, a young St. Louis millionaire, these persons met at Pittsburgh in September of that year and organized the Union association, placing clubs in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Altoona, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati. Lucas' bank roll provided the means for wholesale raids on the National league and American association clubs, and before spring arrived fifty ball players had been induced to jump the reserve clause in their contracts.

Some Ancient History.

After the season had been under way six weeks Altoona blew up and Kansas City was substituted. In midseason Lucas, who owned the St. Louis Union, induced Jack Glasscock, Jim McCormick and Brody to jump the Cleveland. This caused a big row, but Lucas had the men sewed up so tight that they could not be recovered. As the baseball public did not take much interest in the new league it soon began to totter. Philadelphia disbanded, and Wilmington, admitted, also went by the board after a few weeks. Then Lucas and his friends took in Milwaukee and transferred the Chicago club to the Smoky City, where there was another collapse, and St. Paul was pressed into the circuit. The season wound up with only five clubs able to take the field, St. Louis winning the championship in a walk with twenty-one victories and sixteen defeats. Lucas, nothing daunted, announced that the Union association would be reorganized for the season of 1895, but during the winter the National league magnates began to show how they could play baseball politics by admitting Lucas and his St. Louis club to their circuit. Of course, Lucas jumped at this chance, and the Union association received its deathblow.

Death of Union League.

It was five years after the death of the Union association that the Players' league was formed for a desperate struggle for public patronage. This movement resulted from a disagreement between the National league and the Brotherhood over the players' contract and reserve rule and John T. Brush's classification scheme, which involved a general reduction in salaries. The Brotherhood leaders were John M. Ward, then captain and shortstop of the Giants; Buck Ewing, Tim Keefe, Roger Connor and Jim O'Rourke, also of the New Yorks; Edward Hanlon of the Pittsburghs, Mike Kelley of the Bostonians and other famous stars. The Brotherhood pledge was signed by practically every National league player.

In all more than $1,000,000 was subscribed to start the stupendous undertaking, and when the season of 1890 opened there were new clubs in Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Bereft of first class players, but with a fortune to spend in fighting the movement, the National league gathered in a raft of young talent and then proceeded to take the reserve rule into the courts. Ward's case was tried in New York county, and the decision was in his favor. There were conflicting games all along the line.

The conflicting schedules soon killed public interest, and the crowds every way dwindled until deadheads predominated. In midseason it was a foregone conclusion that the rival leagues would lose all kinds of money. The Boston Players' league club won the pennant easily.

Players' League Goes Down.

In September the Players' league as a unit bought the Cincinnati National league club for $40,000, but the Redland fans turned their backs. The Players' league backers now had cold feet and were ready to capitulate, although as a matter of fact they did not know that they had the old league beaten to a frazzle. A. G. Spalding and C. H. Byrne were the big men in the National league in those days, and as soon as they got the Players' league backers into a conference the fight was at an end. The National league knew how to play baseball politics with the usual shrewdness, and in the following winter the Players' league was sold out. The players ran to cover as fast as they could, and when the season of 1891 opened the rival clubs in New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and Chicago had been consolidated; Cleveland and Buffalo had been purchased, while the Boston and Philadelphia Players' league clubs were turned over to the American association. This arrangement lasted one year, when the National league organized a twelve club circuit and absorbed the American association.

Andrew Freedman became dictator of the National league's policy in the course of time and proceeded to order a reduction of the big circuit to eight clubs. Accordingly Baltimore and Washington were lopped off in the east and Cleveland and Louisville were dropped in the west. This fatal move was made in 1890 and afforded the American league, headed by Johnson and Comiskey, a chance to grow. Johnson and Comiskey had changed the name of the Western league and forced the National league to grant them a Chicago franchise. As a result the American league circuit that year was made up of Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Kansas City and Minneapolis. The league was so successful that Johnson and Comiskey, backed by C. W. Somers of Cleveland, proceeded to ask the National league for the Washington and Baltimore territories. The request was coldly turned down, and the American league promptly withdrew from the National association.

War was declared, and a new American league circuit was arranged with clubs in Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Milwaukee. The National league clubs were raided for players, and a barrel of money was lost by the older organization. In 1902, with the war still raging fiercely, McGraw sold the Baltimore club to the National league and signed with the Giants, also bringing Bresnahan, McGinnity, Gilbert and McGinnis to the Polo grounds. This was a body blow for the American league, but another club was placed in Baltimore, and the schedule was completed with much success.

Invasion of New York.

Bent upon making a clean sweep, the American league men decided to invade New York. They found a backer in Frank J. Farrell, who spent $110,000 for new grounds before he could play a game of ball. Beaten all along the line then, the National league before the season of 1903 began was ready to sue for peace. Garry Herrmann had purchased the Cincinnati National league club and was a big factor in bringing about a settlement. The peace pact was signed, and the two leagues then settled down in perfect harmony. Since that incident professional baseball has enjoyed wonderful popularity. Practically all of the major league clubs have coined money. The world's series each fall has stirred up interest never before known.

It has been predicted within the last two years that another baseball war is inevitable. The leading minor leagues, the American association and the Eastern league, are growing more powerful each year, and several of the more prosperous club owners in these circuits are said to be anxious to reach out for some of the major league territory.

HOW TO HANDLE A RACER.

Kind Treatment Always Favored by Ed Geers and Tod Sloane

Ed Geers, the veteran reinsman, whose achievements in the sulky this year have been of the sensational order, says that horses are like children and should be governed accordingly. "Never treat a horse roughly if you want him to do things he is capable of doing," Geers says. "Govern him kindly, and the results of this patient treatment will frequently be surprising." In his training Geers exercises the greatest patience and never has been known to treat one of his equine charges roughly. Few trainers exercise such perseverance in this regard as does the driver who has twice landed a Chamber of Commerce stake and a Merchants and Manufacturers' stake the same year. His treatment of kindness continues after the trained animal is sent out to race. He never deviates from the course of kindness with which he starts when a horse is placed in his charge.

In regard to the kind treatment of horses and the results achieved therefrom Geers is not unlike the former great jockey, Tod Sloane. Those who were associated with Sloane during the time he was considered the premier rider of the country contend that he never was known to abuse a horse, nor did he ever have any patience with any person who did.

Sloane had the reputation of getting more out of a horse than any other knight of the plow. He did not bring about these results by means of the whip or spur. It was kindness alone that won the day for Sloane with fractious horses. He further contended that if he had had the early training of these animals they never would have developed their savage dispositions.

Sloane nursed his mounts along in their races through a line of kindly conversation, which he was ever indulging in. Geers is just such another horseman. He talks to his horses as he drives along and never resorts to the whip until it is absolutely necessary to do so, and then in no brutal fashion. The horses under the pilotage of Geers and Sloane appear to understand the meaning of the whip more than do those animals which are indiscriminately lashed by brutal and clumsy jockeys and drivers.

The Geers and Sloane treatment seems best all around, especially in the light of the victories achieved by the pair on horses that did not accomplish anything in a winning way under the guidance of others.

GAMA IS AFTER BIG GAME.

Victory Over Roller Has Started Indian Wrestler on Warpath.

Now that Gama, the Indian wrestler, has defeated Dr. B. F. Roller, the American grappler, and John Lemm, the big Swiss, his manager is seeking engagements with other mat artists. Gama is a big fellow, weighing 210 pounds, yet no larger than some of the fellows whom he had challenged in vain. He is eighteen inches around the neck, forty-eight inches in the chest when in repose and twenty-seven inches at the thigh.

Among the propositions that had been made by Gama's manager, but without acceptance, was one to throw Zysso three times in thirty minutes for $1,000 a side, to throw Hackenschmidt in twenty minutes for $500 a side or to throw each of any two wrestlers in England once within an hour or forfeit $500. Gama also wants to meet Gotch.

Early Horse Racing. The earliest definite establishment of horse racing seems to have been made at Chester, England. It was William Lester who about 1693, being mayor of Chester, "did cause three silver bells to be made of good value to be run for upon the 'Roode Dee'."

SOME OF THE FINDS OF THE 1910 SEASON

Photos by American Press Association.

If the managers of the major league clubs are as lucky in unearthing star youngsters next season as they have been this year they should be thankful. Reports from the scouts of the big league clubs say that promising material is very scarce in the minor circuits. Out of the fifty-seven youngsters left after the weeding out process last spring more than half will be kept for next season. Among the youngsters who have made great names for themselves in the American league this season are Russell Ford of New York, Duffy Lewis of Boston and Lapp of Philadelphia. In the National league there are King Cole of Chicago, Jake Daubert of Brooklyn and Vincent Campbell of Pittsburgh. Although there were many others discovered, these are the shining lights. Ford is considered to be the greatest pitcher developed in the American league in two years. Chicago experts are of the opinion that King Cole will be the leading pitcher of the National league next season. Lapp is considered to be one of the best backstops in the junior big organization. Daubert is a corker and is now classed among the leading first sackers of the National league. Manager Clarke thinks so well of Campbell that he has selected the latter to play left field for the Pirates next season. Lewis is the best outfielder developed in the American league this year.

ACCIDENT MADE HIM UMPIRE.

Jack Sheridan Tells How He Broke Into Game.

"An accident common to ball players started me on the downward path of umpiring," says Jack Sheridan. "In youth I aspired to be a bold athlete and got along very well until I went to Chattanooga, Tenn., to play second base with a pig iron arm. That was in the spring of 1885. Early in the season they used the acid test on the arm, and it was a case of tin can for me."

"They had passed the iron age in Dixie. Henry Grady, the silver-tongued statesman, was president of the Southern league at that time. He must have thought my voice sounded ripe for the business, so he offered me a soft snap umpiring at $75 per month. I needed the money, but had I known then what I do now I would not have needed the money. Sometimes a fellow can get along without it."

Pitcher Is at Fault, Says McGraw.

Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals says bases are not stolen on the catcher, but on the pitcher. He says it is up to the pitcher to keep a base runner close to first base. "If the pitcher allows too much of a start the best throw in the world cannot stop him," says McGraw. "Of course the catchers make bad throws occasionally, but they would make very few if the base runners were held close and throws did not have to be made in a hurry."

FOOTBALL PENALTIES

If Referee or Somebody Else Would Announce Them 'Twould Be a Boon

While gridiron savants and others not so savantish are telling how fine or how fierce the game is going to be this fall under the reform code, decanting learnedly or otherwise on a subject on which it is pretty much guesswork with all of them, there is one plan the rules committee could order which would be sure to help spectators in comprehending what was going on. The simple plan of having the referee announce through a megaphone what penalties are for when inflicted has been suggested. If the referee is too busy, then let the field judge, line-man or somebody with a good voice do it.

The penalties to which teams are liable in football are manifold, and nine times out of ten the spectators don't know what, particular breach of the rules has incurred a penalty. Generally they put it down to holding or offside and let it go at that. It might be one of several dozen offenses. An announcement of the offense and the nature of the penalty would clear up doubt and educate the spectators, and that the big majority of football patrons need education in the fine points of the game, and lots of it, is a body can't hurt its popularity.

As showing the crying need for a diffusion of knowledge on what has incurred a penalty here are some of the things for which penalties can be imposed. Substitute coming in and not reporting to the referee.

Prohibited apparel of any kind. Unnecessary delay. Illegal positions of players in scrimmage line.

Offside and holding. Linemen not going five yards back when they drop behind the line.

Player in motion before ball is snapped, except obliquely or toward his own goal.

Ahead of the ball on the kickoff. Ahead of the restraining line on a kickoff.

Ball being held for kick touching ground without being kicked immediately.

Punt-out violations. Fair catch violations and illegal signaling.

Out of bounds violations. Faint to snap ball when putting it in play.

Interlocked interference. Interference with the snapperback.

Penalties for incomplete forward pass, illegal forward pass or illegally touching the ball on forward pass.

Tripping, hurdling, crawling, slugging, foul tackling and piling up on runner.

Touching the ball when offside, coaching from the side lines, more than five persons on the side lines, kick not made from five yards back of the scrimmage line, and so on ad infinitum.

If anybody besides the officials can distinguish among all those cases of infraction of the rules he is more than mortal.

BATTERS COMPLAIN OF USE OF "BEAN BALL."

Players Say Pitchers Try to Hit Them.

Baseball players all over the country have been making a howl this year against the "bean ball" used by pitchers to frighten batters. Batters say the pitchers are deliberately trying to hit them. It certainly does look like it, judging from the number of batters who have been hit this year.

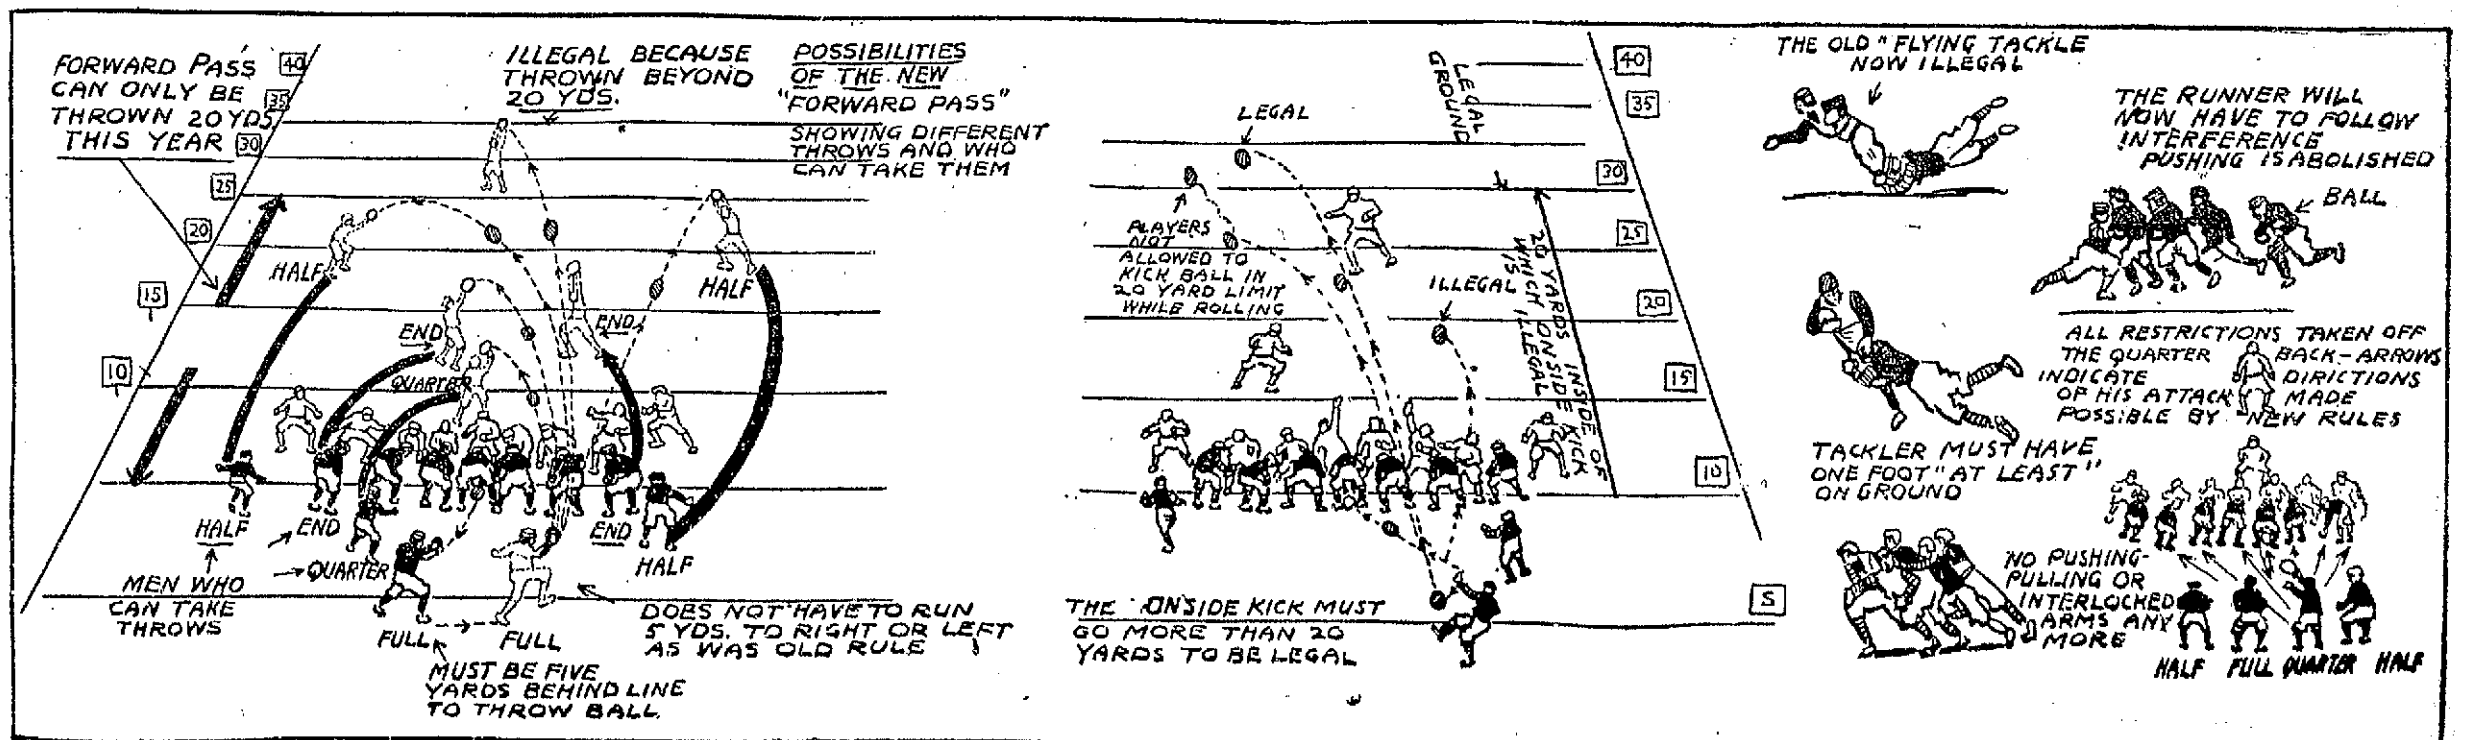

Several players have been killed and a number badly hurt by being struck with supposedly wild heaves. There are many cases on record in baseball where star players were compelled to retire from the game for good on account of being dangerously injured by pitched balls.

Adds Joss, the famous Cleveland pitcher, admits that he uses a "bean ball" on dangerous batters in order to scare them, and he charges other twirlers with doing the same trick.

Next time you attend a league game watch a pitcher when he is in a tight hole and a good hitter up. It's a good bet the twirler will peg one at the batter's head in an attempt to intimidate him. Often batters charge pitchers with intentionally hitting them. It's about time for the national commission to get busy and do something to check pitchers who deliberately hit batters.

If a fine or suspension was imposed on a pitcher every time he struck a batter there probably would be a decided decrease in the "hit by pitched ball" department of a tabulated score.

BURGLARS' HAUL WORTH $68,000

Wakefield Residence Robbed of Large Booty Secured by Noted Flat Workers $2500 Last Night

WAKEFIELD, Sept. 27.—The police today are looking for the perpetrators of the largest burglary that has taken place in Wakefield for some time. The residence of John E. O'Brien at 4 Shumway Circle, in the most fashionable district of the town, was entered last evening while the family and servants were out and jewelry and silverware which Mr. O'Brien estimates to be worth about $2500 was stolen. Entrance was gained through a window opening on the piazza. When members of the family returned they found the house in great disorder, closets, bureaus and cabinets having been ransacked.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—John Clinton, 22 years old, who has turned state's evidence against Isane Marks, a South Side jeweler, on trial for operating a "fence," testified in Judge Kavanaugh's court yesterday that he and his "pal" robbed from one to five flats or houses a night from January 1st to April 23rd, the day of his arrest. The goods recovered are valued at $68,000 and Clinton testified that Marks paid them only $400 for the lot. Clinton, telling of his methods of working, said:

"If we were detained over seven minutes in a flat we figured we were losing money. First we would ring a doorbell, and if we got a response we would inquire for somebody. If not, we got busy. That big 'jimmy' was all we ever used. We never took anything but money or jewelry."

$125,000 LOSS

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Fancy lumber to the value of $125,000, was destroyed by fire early today in the yard of the Parker & Palmer Lumber Co. in Charlestown. It was covered by insurance. The flames started in the drying room from whence they spread to the piles in this yard, where they were checked after two alarms had been turned in.

BAGGAGE HELD

CUSTOMS DECLARATION OF WOMAN WAS NOT SATISFACTORY
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mrs. H. N. Slater of Readville, Mass., said to be related to the prominent Slater family of New England and financially interested in a New York firm of the same name, was not permitted to take away her baggage when she arrived yesterday on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, accompanied by her daughter and a maid.

She declared 10 gowns valued at $1400 and additional personal effects worth $300, but the customs inspectors were not satisfied and insisted on a complete appraisal of the contents of her nine pieces of baggage.

After the seizure Mrs. Slater said that she could not remember exactly how many gowns she brought over. No charge was filed against her, but her declaration will be compared with the contents of her trunks.

STRUCK BY ROCK GRANITEVILLE QUARRYMAN INJURED BY BLAST

While blasting with his son, at his quarry on Saturday, Thomas Rafferty, a well known stone contractor of Graniteville, was struck by a jagged piece of rock, which ripped an ugly hole in his left side and splintered the hip bone. He was hurried to his home in the village and Dr. W. H. Sherman summoned and later Dr. O. V. Wells of Westford was called. It was found necessary to take 18 stitches to close the wound and the patient is now resting as well as can be expected.

FIERCE FIGHT

POLICEMAN WAS ATTACKED BY PRISONER AT MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 27.—One of the fiercest fights between a prisoner and a policeman ever seen here took place yesterday in McGregorville between Patrolman Elmer E. Somers and a man who is supposed to be Joseph Theriault. The latter had been placed under arrest on suspicion of having stolen a quantity of liquor, when he suddenly turned on his captor, attacking him with such ferocity that he succeeded in partially disabling the policeman and made his escape to the woods, although himself hurt.

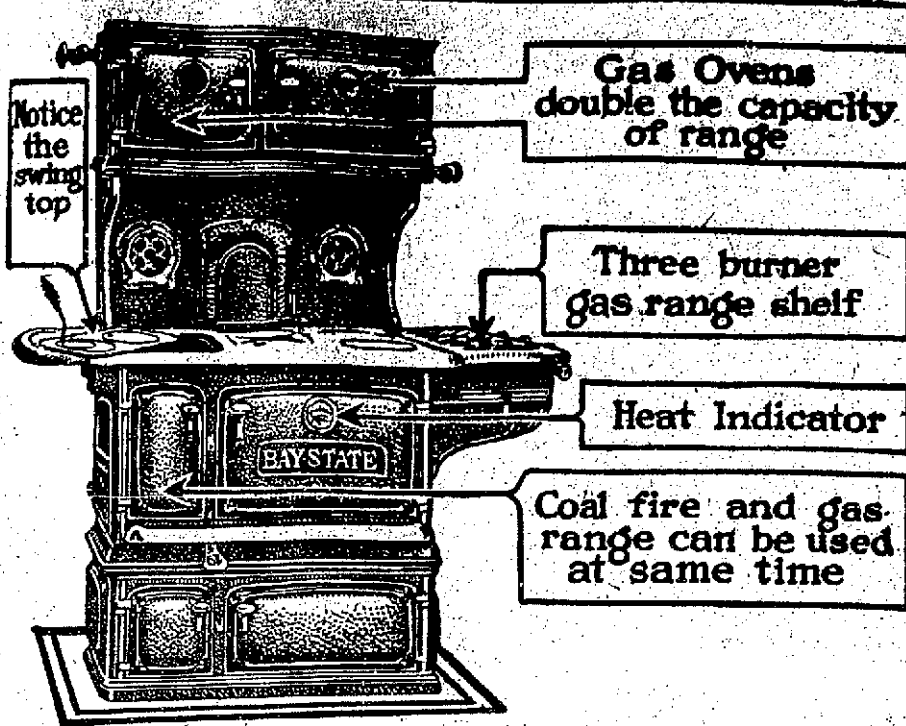

The affray caused great excitement. When the prisoner broke away the policeman, although crippled, followed him up the street and fired a shot from his revolver in a vain effort to stop him. Patrolman Somers had his left wrist crushed and had to fight with a single hand. Theriault is a man of more than ordinary strength.

DOCTOR SUDDENLY STRICKEN

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 27.—Dr. Charles J. Dowling of Eastern avenue, died yesterday afternoon of acute uremia. He complained of feeling ill Sunday afternoon and retired to his office in the evening, where he evidently became unconscious and remained all night and yesterday.

A visitor saw him on his couch yesterday afternoon, and failing to get any response to his knocks, informed Dr. S. E. Ryan. He was removed to the Merry hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Dowling was about 30 years old and was born in Springfield. He was graduated from Ottawa medical college in 1903, and from Baltimore medical college in 1906.

WILL COST $3,000,000

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Papers were signed last night which give a complete right of way to the Lehigh & New England railroad for an extension of 31 miles from its main line at Danielsville near Slaton to Tamaqua. The new road will cost $3,000,000. The securing of this right of way was the work of two years, and the completion of this preliminary work means the construction without delay of the most important railroad link in Pennsylvania in years. The new line will connect more particularly the collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. and the whole anthracite region in general with the shortest route to Boston, via the Poughkeepsie bridge route. The present shortest line is 170 miles long, but this will be 40 miles shorter. By this stroke the Lehigh & New England will become an important tonnage factor in the New England coal trade in competition with the Lehigh Valley, Jersey, Pennsylvania, Reading on the south and the Erie and Lackawanna on the north. Its management expects an addition of 4,000,000 tons of freight from the start.

FITCHBURG MAN

Says That He Was Held Up

FITCHBURG, Sept. 27.—Frank Moyer reported to the police last night that he was held up by an unknown man in a dark place near the Fitchburg gas plant. He said the stranger demanded he give him all his money. Moyer told the police that the stranger then put his hand in his pocket and made the threat he would shoot him if he did not give up his money. Just as Moyer was about to hand over the money a wagon driven by an employee of the gas company came along and the highwayman made his escape. Moyer gave a description of the man which the police say answers that of a man they know.

WOMAN RESCUED

She Was Nearly Drowned at Nantasket

NANTASKET, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Rose Flood of Nantasket avenue was rescued from drowning yesterday afternoon on the ocean side of Nantasket beach, near Atlantic Hill, by James McNamara, mate of the steamer Nantasket, and a young man whose name was not ascertained.

Mrs. Flood is a good swimmer, but one of her arms gave out, rendering her unable to swim, and in the strong current she was in a perilous position. A young man was gathering kelp on the beach and heard her cries for help.

At that moment McNamara, who was on his way from his home at West's Corner to the Nantasket steamboat landing, also heard her cries, and both ran into the surf fully clothed.

They reached the drowning woman, who is quite large, just in time and brought her ashore in an exhausted condition. She was taken to her home nearby, where she is resting comfortably.

It was with considerable effort that Mr. McNamara got ashore, his collar, which was stiffened by the water, nearly strangling him. Besides assisting at the rescue of Mrs. Flood McNamara has saved six other persons from drowning. One of these was a boy whom he rescued at Pemberton some time ago. The boy's parents rewarded him with a gold watch. Although he cannot swim a stroke Mr. McNamara has never hesitated to risk his life in saving others.

SOME OF HARVARD'S FOOTBALL SQUAD IN ACTION ON THE FIELD

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 27.—Judging by the great deal of attention Coach Houghton is giving to the kicking department during practice, it appears that men booting the ball will play an important figure in Harvard's games this season. Nearly half the practice finds some squad at work booting the pigskin. In Felton the Crimson should have a punter of rare ability. His kicks travel regularly from fifty-five to sixty yards and also hang in the air just long enough to allow his ends to flirt with whoever receives them. "Ham" Corbett, the red headed varsity back, is no mean kicker either. Captain Willington, Wigglesworth and Bob Fisher have so far had a monopoly on the drop kicking and place kicking game. The captain has sent over several good "suicides" from the forty yard line. From now on scrimmages will be held every day, and by the middle of next week the squad will go into secret practice. Harvard opens her season Sept. 28 with Bates college at the stadium. Old fashioned football will undoubtedly be tried against the Maine lads and some two dozen players sent into the game. Paul Willington, last fall's varsity center, arrived here the other day to accept a position in the office of the Harvard Athletic association. He will join the football coaches in an effort to develop a reliable center for Harvard's weakest place.

COWARDLY AUTOISTS Men Suspected of Killing Man Held at Portsmouth

BEVERLY, Sept. 27.—Chief of Police Ferguson of this city, who began a search through New England last night for the occupants of the auto that struck and fatally injured Samuel Hollingshead, the Wenham car conductor, sent word here today that he had Edward Dupie of New York and his chauffeur, Fred Halsey, under detention in Portsmouth, N. H., pending identification. Several witnesses have started for Portsmouth to identify the men.

STORY OF THE CRIME

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—After hurrying a conductor from the running board of a car and fatally injuring him while attempting to pass between the car and an ice wagon, a large brown touring car, containing a man and a woman, put on extra speed and disappeared early last evening.

The conductor, Samuel W. Hollingshead of Wenham, was in charge of a Boston & Northern car running from Wenham to Beverly. In front of the residence of Charles A. Manson on Dodge street, he was standing on the running board collecting fares, when the touring car dashed alone in the opposite direction and tried to pass between the car and a wagon of the Salem & Beverly Ice company that was proceeding in the same direction as the car.

The auto struck Hollingshead, tossing him high into the air, and he fell on the macadamized roadbed. The occupants of the automobile did not slacken speed and when the passengers and truck workmen who were in a car behind, yelled to the driver to stop, he put on more speed and dashed away toward Hamilton.

Dr. George J. Hill of Beverly in his runabout reached the scene a few minutes after the accident. There was a deep gash in the head of the unconscious conductor. Hauling the touring car of Dr. John C. Phillips, Dr. Hill had Hollingshead taken to the Beverly hospital. There it was found that his skull had been fractured. He died, without regaining consciousness, in about 50 minutes after the accident.

The number of the machine causing his death could not be determined, as the auto was traveling very fast. One woman was positive it bore a New York number, but could not decipher the numerals. The auto was a dark brown and had a khaki colored top which was up. The car was equipped with a mica windshield, and the only couple were riding on the front seat, the man driving.

As soon as the Beverly police were notified, they telephoned to every other police station along the route the machine was traveling as far away as Portsmouth.

Hollingshead had been employed on the Boston & Northern for about nine years. He lived on 7th avenue, near Main street, Wenham. He leaves a wife and one child. Another child died three weeks ago. He was an Odd Fellow.

WEST POINT MEN Gave Captain Longan "Silence" Treatment

ed States infantry at supper in the Grant Memorial hall recently. Not in years has an officer on duty at West Point suffered the "silence" treatment, and the victimizing of Captain Longan has caused one of the most delicate situations that pay superintendent has ever been called upon to handle. Major General Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A., the new superintendent of the academy, acted promptly. A board of

HOOSAC TUNNEL The Engineers Favor Overhead System

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Vice President McHenry of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is receiving almost daily reports from the corps of engineers he has sent from New Haven to North Adams to formulate plans for the electrification of the Hoosac tunnel, as ordered by President Mellon the first day he was acting president of the Boston & Maine system.

Their preliminary survey has convinced the engineers that the overhead trolley system is better fitted to the tunnel problem than the third rail equipment. This decision has been approved by Mr. McHenry, under whose direction the work is to be done.

Although the overhead system has worked so well in the electrification of the New Haven's line from Stamford, Ct., to the terminus at New York city, a careful examination of the tunnel was necessary before the engineers could safely conclude that they could carry out their first and natural desire to employ the same system there.

A rough estimate of the entire cost of equipping the tunnel with an overhead trolley system places it at $1,000,000. This will electrify the line from as far west as Williamstown to as far east as the eastern portal of the tunnel.

The necessary electric power station will be erected at or near the west portal of the tunnel, in North Adams.

The assured change of the motive power of trains during their passage through the tunnel has aroused much interest among railroad ticket agents in the west and the New Haven-Boston & Maine authorities have received from such agents estimates of increased through passenger business in the west over the Fitchburg branch, ranging from $50,000 to $150,000 annually. The tunnel with its old, disreputable conditions has doubtless kept considerable revenue from the Boston & Maine system because of the determination of many experienced travelers to avoid going through the tunnel if possible.

While the oil-burning locomotives which the former Boston & Maine management planned to establish in the tunnel for passenger service would have helped some, and while this expedient will greatly relieve conditions until the electrification of the bore becomes a fact, it is claimed that nothing but the electrification of the tunnel will render it such that it will not be a handicap to the Boston & Maine in its competition with the New York Central system in the race for through passenger business between Boston and western points.

CORONER'S JURY

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The coroner's jury, after one hour's deliberation, yesterday, brought in the verdict that Mrs. Cora Crippen, known on the stage as Belle Elmore, had been wilfully murdered by her husband, Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, American dentist. After listening to the testimony, which was spread over several days, and hearing the summing up of the case by Coroner Schneider, who summarized the evidence pointing out the murder, the jury was left but little choice.

NIGHT EDITION COL. ROOSEVELT CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

WATER SHUT OFF

Great Distress Felt in Certain Parts of Centralville

Considerable distress is felt in certain quarters because of the fact that tenants in a block in Broughton avenue, Centralville, where the water had been cut off by the water department, resorted to the Merrimack river for water, presumably for domestic purposes.

The water was shut off yesterday and was turned on again this forenoon because the bank that owns or has charge of the property, paid the back water bills. Under the ordinance there is no other alternative for the water department but to shut off the water when consumers refuse or neglect to pay their water bills.

The matter was reported to the board of health and at a special meeting held this forenoon the board of health voted to send the following communication to the water board:

Gentlemen:

The board of health views with considerable concern the action of the water board which precipitated the shutting off of the city water from a tenement property on Front street, and forced the occupants to use polluted river water even for one day.

Particularly at this time, when the board is struggling to stamp out an already existing typhoid epidemic, nothing could have happened which would have so forcibly presented the inadvisability of such an action. While we quite understand that the water board was simply following its usual custom, and enforcing an existing ordinance, in shutting off the water supply from these tenements, we still feel that the custom is a bad one, and should be immediately changed. The Merrimack river is an open sewer for Manchester, Nashua, Lowell and the towns, and the water is unsafe for drinking purposes.

We therefore request that immediate attention be given to this matter, and that such action be taken by the water board as shall change this existing ordinance so that this charge can become a lien upon the property like regular taxes, street watering assessments, etc., and the innocent tenants shall not be made to suffer.

Yours truly,
G. Forrest Martin, M.D., Chairman.
Leonard Huntress, M.D.

Makes Attack on State Committee for Favoring Sherman

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The state convention of the republican party opened in this city today. A bitter fight is expected between the factions headed respectively by Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman.

Colonel Roosevelt early today authorized the following statement:

"The conduct of a majority of the state committee last evening puts in the clearest light what this contest really is. The statements of Messrs. Griscom, Krulwich, Kracke, Wana-maker and Henkel prove conclusively the trickery that was used in the effort to win a majority and keep the management of the party under the control of the men who have discredited it by their actions. There has never been a state convention to which it was better worth going than this; for never in another has the issue been so clearly drawn between cleanliness and honesty in public life and that peculiar baseness in political management which has made the very word 'politician' obnoxious to the president. Our fight is squarely against corruption and the unclean bossism which has bred corruption. The men who by trickery kept control of the state committee and who now come here in the effort to dominate the convention are the very men who are responsible for the corruption which produced Allds and for all that has been discreditable in the party management; and now there deeply discredited bosses resent the effort of the president, the effort of the plain people who make up the great bulk of the republican party to rescue that party from the factions which have used it only to further their own base and selfish purposes."

It was decided by the "progressive" leaders to name U. S. Senator Root as permanent chairman of the convention in the event of their winning today's battle in the convention which was scheduled to begin at noon. Frank Hicks, a delegate from Nassau, was selected to place Colonel Roosevelt's name in nomination as temporary chairman and it was decided that Lloyd Griscom, chairman of the New York county committee would second it.

Large delegations arrived during the forenoon from Troy and Albany to demonstrate for their rival leaders, the Trojans being for Roosevelt, while the Albanians supported Sherman.

The convention fight quite overshadowed the main business, that of making nominations for governor and other state offices. Chief interest centers in the fight over direct nominations. A tentative draft of the final plank drawn by one of the progressive leaders and approved by some of them follows:

"We favor progressive primary reform legislation on the lines of direct nominations by the people which shall provide: An official enrollment of party members. A uniform primary day, protected by all the safeguards provided for election day. Protection of party primaries from participation therein by members of opposing parties. Preservation of the sound principles of majority rule. Direct vote by the people upon all delegates to all conventions except delegates-at-large to the national conventions. County option of direct nominations of county officers. Direct nominations for all officers in the smaller civic units. And generally for easier and more efficient ascertainment and enforcement of the popular will. Application of the relevant provisions of the corrupt practices act."

Though Mr. Barnes concedes the defeat of Vice President Sherman for temporary chairman, he indicated that there would be a warm fight on the floor of the convention. State Chairman Woodruff will make a statement defining the position of the "old guard" with respect to the selection by the state committee of Vice President Sherman and Mr. Barnes may also have something to say.

Former State Senator Ellsberg and Comptroller Prendergast of New York city are slated to speak for Col. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Cheered

The legend that statesmen are punctually late applied with equal force today to the leaders of the "old guard" and the "progressives" who gathered tardily at the opening of the republican state convention. Not so the delegates or the spectators. Col. Roosevelt was the first to come. He came at noon and started rounds of applause. Shortly after Vice-President Sherman took his seat and the demonstration shook the building for several minutes.

William Barnes, Jr., the "old guard" leader, came in for applause.

Chairman Woodruff called the convention to order at 12.05 and asked that the aisles be cleared. After the prayer by the Rev. Joseph Cary of Saratoga the convention began the regular order of business.

"Officer," cried Chairman Woodruff, "put every spectator out of a delegate's seat."

The police force, consisting of one patrolman, asked Colonel Roosevelt if he was a delegate.

"Tell Roosevelt to use the 'big stick,'" cried a delegate amid a general laugh.

Gruber Speaks

General Abraham Gruber of New York was selected to fire the verbal hot shot for the "old guard." He said:

"Twelve years ago, on this platform, I warned a republican convention against turning the executive mansion into a shooting gallery. My advice was not needed. Since that memorable day the man who has ever since been shooting has been his party organization divided in every state, his party's candidates overwhelmingly defeated, business depressed, and the intelligent and honest workmen without employment and hungry. Looking for other fields for shooting practice this man is now shooting at the courts and his judges. Himself posing as a lawyer who never had a case or drew a brief he now finds sport in holding up the courts and judges to the scorn of the mob, while he, standing on the head of the barrel, is shouting that honest judges of the supreme court are fossilized and the judges of our New York court of appeals craftily decided important cases."

"Lincoln and I, Taft and I, both did the same things," cried the shooter. It should have been "Bryan and I, and Hearst and I" and then while the mobs on the streets were besmearing the

Mr. Gray, who is crippled, was thrown out but fortunately escaped injury and was able to pick himself up without assistance.

THE INJUNCTION

Against Boston Banking Co. Made Permanent

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—The injunction closing the Boston Banking Co. was made permanent today by agreement and Charles K. Cobb was appointed receiver by Judge Rugg of the supreme court with a bond of $20,000. The affairs of the company will be closed up as soon as possible.

The company came here from Rhode Island in 1903 and for some months ran what was known as a Day and Night Bank. Subsequently the president and organizer, Thomas B. Taylor, became involved in difficulties in Rhode Island and spent a year and a half in jail for want of a heavy bail bond.

A recent act of the legislature compelled the Boston Banking Co. to either organize under Massachusetts laws or stop business, and the officials decided on the latter course. It is said that the affairs of the institution will be settled in a few months.

Man Was Arraigned in Court on Larceny Charge

Sherlock Holmes never had anything on Special Police Officer Joseph Kennedy, for, according to the testimony offered by him in a case in police court this morning, nothing fazed him.

The case in question looked simple at the start, but developed into a long drawn out affair.

Max Cohen was charged with the larceny of a bushel of oats and a bushel of shorts from the barn of James Stuart. James Stuart resides on the East Dracut road in the town of Dracut, while the defendant lives in Methuen. The shorts were stolen, according to the complaint, from James Stuart while the oats were stolen from the son, James I. Stuart.

The Stuarts testified that during the week past they purchased the goods from people in Lawrence and brought them to their stable in Dracut, and that some time during the early hours of Sunday the goods were stolen.

Officer Kennedy of Dracut was the principal witness. During the course of his testimony he said that after he had been notified by one of the complainants of the alleged larceny, he left his home, visited the stable of the defendant and found the goods.

After being notified that a larceny had been committed at the Stuart place he made an investigation. He said that he discovered that there was a trail on the road which showed that a wagon had left the stable, the imprint of the particular wagon being plainly outlined on the road on which the rain had been falling. Then again there was a trail of oats and shorts, and furthermore there were the marks of the imprint of a horseshoe which showed that there was a mark of a caulk on the shoe and also the peculiar make of the shoe, which he followed from the scene of the alleged larceny to the barn in which Mr. Cohen's horse was stabled.

Mr. Kennedy told the court how he had followed the footprints from the place where he discovered them in front of the barn in which the complainants keep their horses to the barn owned by the defendant.

Officer Kennedy also testified that he saw food in the stable of the defendant that led him to believe that a larceny had been committed.

On the other hand the defendant, together with his wife and several other witnesses, testified that the defendant had been in had when the alleged larceny was committed. The wife and her husband and neighbors said that Cohen could not have left the house without their knowledge.

The court after considering the case found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Jeremiah O'Sullivan appeared for the complainants while Edward McNally of Lawrence represented the defendant.

Asleep at the Switch

Robert A. Breed was ordered to pay a fine of $2 in court this morning for drunkenness.

Writ of Habeas Corpus

James T. Ganley was brought into court this morning charged with attempted larceny from the store of Lull & Hartford in Central street. Last week he was before the court charged with larceny and probable cause having been found he was held for the grand jury. In default of bail he was committed to jail and this morning was brought into court on a writ of habeas corpus. Through his counsel, Joseph E. Loughran, a plea of not guilty was entered and his case was continued until October 4.

Man of Many Names

John Krauswey, who has been arrested for drunkenness on various occasions, has been in the habit of giving different names when placed under custody. Yesterday he appeared in court and after giving one of his names was held over until today in order to ascertain his record. His record was very damaging and this morning he was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Insulted Women

Octave Penel pleaded guilty to being drunk but owing to the fact that he had been arrested before and that the arresting officer said he had been insulting women he was ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Other Offenders

Michael McDermott and Dennis J. Davies, charged with being drunk, were sent to the state farm. James Cunningham was ordered to pay a fine of $5 while several others were fined the usual $2, and a few were released.

DIV. 8, A. O. H. HELD A VERY INTERESTING MEETING LAST NIGHT

Division 8, A. O. H., held a very largely attended meeting last night in Hibernian hall. Ten members were initiated and fifteen propositions for membership were received. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and remarks were made by the officers who explained that a lively campaign has been planned for the winter season. A committee of ten members was named to arrange for a social and dance to be held on a date to be decided upon by the committee. This division has decided, as previously announced, to become affiliated with the military branch of the A. O. H., and already has sixty members enrolled. A meeting of these members will be held next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Hibernian hall.

The street railway company is laying new rails in Merrimack street on the city hall side of the railroad crossing in Dutton street. The laying of new iron is preparatory to the smooth paving of Merrimack street from the railroad crossing to Tilden street. It was stated some time ago that it would be necessary to hold off on this particular piece of smooth paving until the completion of the extension of Dummer street, but that matter has moved so slowly that it will wait for an indefinite delay.

FUNERALS

HICKEY.—The funeral of Miss Mary A. Hickey took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from her home, 58 Jewett street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Francis Mullin. The choir under the direction of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Griffin and Mr. Boulger. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased was held and expressing the profound sorrow felt at her early demise. Among these were a pillow inscribed "Our Mamie," from the family; standing wreath and cross on base inscribed "Mamie," from Henry McLaughlin; wreath on base inscribed "Mamie," from Mrs. Benjamin Johnson; cross on base inscribed "At Peace With God," from the employees of Massachusetts Weave room; cross on base, Miss Catherine Slavin; large basket inscribed "With God," Miss Anna Fay; large wreath, from friends; sprays, from Miss Jennie Wilson, Miss Winnie Welch, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Monahan, Mrs. Sullivan and daughter, Mr. Charles Troupe and a large spray from a friend. The bearers were Henry McLaughlin, Frank Connors, James Gallagher, Teddy Crowley, James Monahan and Thomas Walwood. At the grave Rev. Father Mullin read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

LIGHT KEEPER

Was Found Dead at New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 27.—As Captain Hardy of the steamer Richard Peck, bound from New York, was bringing his vessel up the harbor last night he discovered that the lightkeeper on the end of Long Wharf was dead. When he had made a landing he telephoned to the house of the lightkeeper, Thomas Wilson, giving notice of that fact. His message led to an investigation and the body of the keeper was found by his son and brother lying face down on the platform under the light with a pool of blood about the face. According to the medical examiner, Wilson was stricken with heart failure and suffered a hemorrhage also, apparently just as he was about to light the big red beacon.

Caucuses Opened Without Incident This Morning

Light Vote All Over the City During Early Hours—Ward 4 Alone Showed Activity at Opening of Polls—Candidates Were Busy Last Night

If this were an election day the wiseacres would shake their heads and aver that it meant democratic success.

Unfortunately for democratic hopes it is not caucus day when both parties are nominating their own candidates for the fight yet to come.

The caucuses today opened at 11 o'clock instead of at noon and will close at 8 instead of 9 as formerly. The basement of city hall was the scene of great activity during the early morning hours. The police who guard the 27 polling places are obliged to report to the city clerk several hours before the opening of the polls and take with them in job wagons the ballot boxes, ballots, check lists, etc., which for a few days previous have been secretly guarded night and day by police officers. The last precinct, 1 of ward 2, which is nearly, went out at 10.30 o'clock.

The polls opened promptly at 11 o'clock and outside of ward 4 there was practically nothing doing for the first hour. In ward four there were signs of life but nothing startling.

In all precincts the indications at noon were that the caucuses of both parties would be comparatively light. The rain which started to come down just as the polls were dismissing for dinner undoubtedly kept many working people away from the polls during the noon hour and was responsible for a great activity on the part of the candidates who have contests on their hands to get carriages out earlier than usual.

All candidates were busy last evening although there was comparatively little excitement about town.

Messrs. Casey and Carmichael held several rallies which drew out fair sized audiences, while the republican candidates visited the Middlesex Social, the Centralville and Pawtucketville Societies and other semi-political clubs where informal rallies were held. There was unusual activity in the 17th district last night among the friends of Reps. Barlow and Marchand, the only two candidates in that ward to declare their preference in the Ames-Lodge contest. The report got around that two of the candidates against them were Lodge men under cover, and that the Lodge forces were making a special fight in that district. As a result the friends of the two candidates were out personally soliciting all their friends to vote for Messrs. Barlow and Marchand. If the Ames people gave any assistance to the two candidates it didn't appear on the surface.

Senatorial Candidate Best was a busy man explaining how he was let down on the ballot and he made it so strong that the officials of the republic party council found it expedient to make an explanation over their signatures in a local paper exonerating themselves from any blame in the matter. In the same paper Candidate Best had a lengthy communication which intimated that his inexperience was taken advantage of by the local machine.

Hon. James B. Casey and Col. Carmichael were both around the polling places from the opening of the polls, the former spending considerable time in ward four, his own ward, where it is expected a great vote will be polled. Senator Hibbard was met at several polling places making a general tour and talking with lieutenants whom he had stationed at the different precincts. Mr. Best was around in his auto. Mr. Varnum was not seen during the early part of the voting and rumor had it that he had given up the fight after the discovery of a mistake in not pledging his delegates was not confirmed, and later in the day he appeared at the polling places.

Everything was quiet and Sunday-like in wards eight and nine where there are no small contests.

A BANKER'S SON COL. ROOSEVELT

His Bride

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—When wealthy George K. Lord, aged 22, of Lynn, son of George F. Lord, secretary of the Boston stock exchange, weds Miss Helen Marie Callahan, telephone operator of the Oxford exchange, in the Catholic rectory at Beaumont tomorrow morning, leading society folk of Lynn and Boston will attend.

The Rev. Father James J. Hickey of Beaumont will perform the ceremony, which marks the close of a pretty vacation romance.

It was early in the summer of 1909 in the mountains of New Hampshire when young Lord, whose father is one of the best known bankers in Boston, met the telephone girl at a house party.

Acquaintance fast ripened into love. Miss Callahan met the stock exchange secretary, and the elder Mr. Lord counseled his son to acquiesce in Cupid's plans.

Although their friendship has since continued Mr. Lord's friends were greatly surprised yesterday when the announcement of tomorrow's nuptials was made from the Lord residence at 15 Waverley street, Lynn.

Even young Lord's club mates were surprised at the news, for it was generally supposed that Lord would marry into one of the leading families of Lynn.

The telephone friends of Miss Callahan surprised her last night at her home at 14 Brantford avenue, Beaumont, by according to her a "tin shower" under the leadership of Miss Agnes McLaughlin. Meanwhile Lord was tendered a stag party at Young's by his financial acquaintances.

The groom-to-be is with the Brokerage firm of White & Bowditch, 53 State street. His uncle, David J. Lord, was formerly president of the Commonwealth Trust company and lived on Commonwealth avenue. Since his retirement, a few years ago he has removed to Lynn.

After the wedding ceremony the party will go to Boston for the wedding breakfast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lord will leave for Washington, D. C., via the Hudson river.

After a 20 days' trip they will reside in a handsomely furnished apartment at 12 Garrison avenue, West Somerville.

VICE PRESIDENT

IS THE CHOICE OF THE STATE COMMITTEE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—By a vote of 22 to 15, the republican state committee, at a special meeting last night, reaffirmed its selection of Vice-President Sherman over Theodore Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the state convention, which will convene today.

Chairman Woodruff read a letter from Vice-President Sherman, asking for an investigation by the committee of the charge that his selection for temporary chairman of the state convention was brought about through trickery, and saying that if such charge were substantiated he would not care to serve.

"As you know, I had no ambition to preside over the state convention," he wrote. "As you also know, I was asked to preside, not alone because it was known that in response to the president's request I had spoken of the administration and for him on several occasions in different sections of the country; because it was known I had been a staunch supporter of the President during his entire term of office; because I was known to be an especially ardent supporter and advocate of the basic principles of the party. My name was presented in the state committee in accordance with custom in state and nation. I solicited no man's support. I consented to act as a service to my party, not to gratify a personal ambition. In that respect I had none."

"The charge has since been made in some quarters that my selection was accomplished in the state committee by means of deception and misrepresentation. I do not believe it. So far as I am personally concerned, I know the statement to be absolutely unfounded. Even to do the party service, I am unwilling to serve in the face of such a charge if well founded. I therefore ask that at the committee meeting tonight the charge be publicly made, be with equal directness and publicity investigated; that the majority of the state committee who originally favored my selection may each declare whether or not his preference was based upon any statement which bore any color of misrepresentation or deception for it such be the fact I ask that my name be not presented to the convention for its temporary presiding officer tomorrow."

The day school year of the Lowell Textile school begins today and the evening school year will begin October 17th. Examinations of applicants for the evening school will be held every Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Many old students put in an appearance today and there was quite a list of new students. The total number of students was considerably greater than on opening day last year.

The new building on Colonial avenue which was finished this summer and in which are included the woolen department, chemistry and dyeing department, opened today, and this big addition means increased efficiency. The courses this year are the same as last year.

Herman H. Bachmann, a German American and a man of wide experience in the textile business, will succeed Fenwick Umpleby and will have charge of the department of designing and power weaving.

Ralph Gullion, a graduate of Springfield Training school, is a new comer. He will teach physical culture, will have charge of the gymnasium work and, incidentally, will coach the football team.

The day classes at the Lowell Textile school are especially intended for the instruction of those whose intention it is to enter the business of textile manufacturing in any branch. The courses are sufficiently complete to enable one to start without any previous acquaintance with textiles, but at the same time those who have been engaged in such business and wish to improve their knowledge and experience, can with profit pursue a course of study at the school. Each course covers a period of three years, at the satisfactory completion of which the regular diploma of the school is awarded.

The evening classes are for those who are engaged during the day in mills and work shops, to enable them to perfect their knowledge of the branches in which they work, to acquire knowledge of other processes than those in which they are regularly engaged, and to complete in the course of several winters a thorough technical education without interfering with their daily duties.

ALIENATION SUIT

Damages Amounting to $100,000 Asked

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Alfred P. Ellsworth yesterday filed with the county clerk a summons and complaint in a suit for $100,000 damages for alienation of affections against Harry Shimer, a New York egg commission merchant, Shimer's answer has not yet been filed.

In his complaint Ellsworth accuses Shimer with having persuaded Mrs. Ellsworth, whom he married Feb. 14, 1898, to leave her home twice and go away with him. Ellsworth also charges that the divorce action which Mrs. Ellsworth brought in July, 1908, which he says was later discontinued, was instigated by Shimer, who had induced Mrs. Ellsworth to leave her husband's apartments in Brooklyn.

Later Mrs. Ellsworth returned to him, her husband says, and he spent $1500 fitting up another apartment. After Mrs. Ellsworth was settled in the new apartment, Ellsworth alleges that Shimer called her on the telephone and induced her to run away again with him, by promise of motor car trips and other inducements.

Ellsworth alleges that his wife believed the preparations he had made for her resumption of housekeeping.

SHEPHERD KING CENTRAL CREDIT BUREAU

To Prevent Business Concerns From Deceiving Banks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—In order to prevent corporations, firms and individuals from borrowing to the extent of their credit in their own cities, then going elsewhere and doing the same, Comptroller of the Currency Murrey has decided upon the establishment of a central credit bureau in Washington where will be recorded all such borrowings from national banks.

commanding David to play and sing before him at his encampment. The second act shows the Israelitish camp at Elah, which has been harassed by the Philistines for forty days and nights. Goliath, the mighty giant of Gath, has repeatedly challenged any of Saul's army to meet him in single combat, but no one has been found who is brave enough to go against him. The capture of a notorious Edomite while engaged in an act of treachery brings upon Saul one of his mad spells, and he raises his javelin to strike the traitor to the earth, when David, by his slinging and his playing, carries away the king's anger and restores his reason. Again comes the fierce challenge of Goliath. David offers to meet him with his slings, and the death of the bogging monster at the hands of the shepherd forms the climax of the act.

Act three is the throne room of the palace of Gibeon two years later. Saul has begun to fear and hate David and a great jealousy takes possession of his heart. His eldest daughter Merab, having learned from the prophet Samuel that David is to become king at the death of Saul, now seeks his love, but David is constant to Michal, whose life he saved and whom the king has promised to him for his wife. He is also comforted by the strong friendship of Jonathan, who has learned that of which David has not yet dreamed, that at his father's death it is David and not he who is to become king. In an outburst of anger Saul attempts to slay David but his life is saved by the little bond-maiden, Adora, who rushes between them and receives the javelin's thrust. David turns upon the king and denounces him for his wickedness, and amid the flashing of the lightning and the rolling of the thunder of the gathering storm that proclaims Jehovah's wrath, he denounces his command and rushes out into the night.

The first scene in the fourth act takes place in the cave of the witch of Endor six months later, where Saul has come to learn something of the future. The spirit of Samuel appears to him and foretells his death and that of his son. The last scene is in the courtyard of the palace next day. Saul and his army have been routed, his son slain and himself mortally wounded. The arrival of David turns defeat into victory. He is reunited to Michal and upon Saul's death ascends the throne. The story is of intense interest and enthralls the audience from the very rise of the curtain upon the first act. Interwoven with stirring stories of warfare, jealousy and intrigue are most tender and captivating love scenes exquisitely portrayed, the whole producing an inspiring effect upon those who follow it with rapt attention to the fall of the last curtain.

The beauty of the play itself is greatly enhanced by the elaborate and historically accurate scenery and costumes. The possibilities of the artistic stage manager would appear to have reached the limit in the setting representing the camp of Saul in the vale of Elah, with a distant river casting forth its scintillating rays in the moonlight with the camp in the darkened foreground. The cave of the witch of Endor is also a marvel of the stage craft. Every scene in fact presents a remarkable stage setting.

Mr. Lorimer received certain call after theatre call at the close of each act, the enthusiasm of the audience was general and spontaneous and resolved its height at his rendition of the 23d psalm. He was most ably supported and charmingly withal by Miss Margaret Merriman as Princess Michal, Miss Alma Chester as Princess Merab and Miss Ruth Copley as Adora. "Bernice Belknap" as the witch of Endor was positively awe-inspiring, while Miss Ivah Perrier as the king's dancer was most graceful and captivating and made a charming centre-piece for one of the most bewilderingly beautiful scenes in the play. Charles D. Herman as Saul, J. Irving White as Prince Jonathan, Daniel Giffether as Jesse, the father of David, did excellent work and the minor characters were all in good hands.

"The Shepherd King" is one of the plays of a lifetime and everyone in Lowell should see it. "The Shepherd King" will be presented all week.

FRANK DANIELS.
Frank Daniels, comedian by gift of nature, comes to the Opera House next Tuesday, October 4, in "The Belle of Brittany," a musical comedy which the Messrs. Shubert selected for him as Mr. Daniels' first starring vehicle under their management. First produced at Daly's theatre, New York, the play met with generous approval. On tour Mr. Daniels was told that he had the best play of his career. So successful was the tour that the play is being retained as eminently suited to the talents of the "funny little fellow." The piece was originally played in London. The score is by Howard Talbot, composer of "A Chinese Honeymoon," the lyrics by Percy Greenbank and the book by Leodham Bantock and P. J. Barrow. Marie Horne has contributed additional numbers. The company in support of Mr. Daniels is a large one.

"THE BLUE MOUSE"
A girl who wants to be petted all the time is "The Blue Mouse" in the play of the same name, which Clyde Fitch recently adapted from the German. The piece was presented recently in New York and it met with such instant and overwhelming favor that it remained in Manhattan for over a year. A duplicate of the New York company has been sent on tour with Wanda Ludlow as the Mouse. The farce will be seen here for the first time next week at the Opera House.

THOMAS A. WISE
Few stars have written a successful play, but Thomas A. Wise, co-author and producer of "A Gentleman from Mississippi," which will be the offering at the Opera House soon, is one of the conspicuous examples. It is a tribute to the acumen of Wm. A. Brady that he accepted the manuscript on the first reading. The entire original cast which was seen in the play's memorable six-week run at the Park theatre, Boston, last season, will appear here.

BLANCHE RING.
Blanche Ring, a comedienne, always warmly welcomed in Lowell is among the early attractions announced for the Opera House. The play, "The Morning of Louisiana Elizabeth," "The Wise Fisherman," "Nora Malone," "Rings On My Fingers," is still in her repertoire. The comedienne's supporting company includes Harry Gilfoil, Bertha Shalek, William P. Carleton, Hallday and Curley, Marguerite Wright, Cyril Ring, Juan Williams, Paul Bortor, E. J. Caldwell, Fannie Skidston, Margaret Malcolm and William De Ball.

HATHAWAY THEATRE
Something which never happened and something which will probably never happen—although you cannot sometimes, always tell—was brought to the attention of the theatre-going public of this city yesterday afternoon and last evening when John B. Hymer, that effervescent comedian presented "Tom Walker on Mars."

Undoubtedly you never witnessed the sketch before, therefore take the advice of one who knows a good thing and attend your way to the box office of Hathaway's theatre and purchase a ticket. The piece, itself, is difficult to describe, the only way to learn its real worth or find out what it is by attending one of the performances.

Suffice to say that "Tom Walker," a man who will not work and would do anything to get—excepting work—makes a deal with a circus man to be served to the public as the Simoes Twins. After he has been traveling with the circus for some time the show goes bad and he and his other half are stranded. While wandering through the streets he is met by the devil and sells his soul for something to eat and a visit to Mars. It is true that "Tom Walker" makes a deal with the devil whereby he delivers his soul to his satanic majesty, but what of that, "Tom" is to be given a real good feed as a result. Does he get it? He does—not.

The sketch is a good one and one which will be thoroughly enjoyed despite the fact that the drift of the piece is rather absurd. It opens on a street near Coney Island where "Tom Walker" and his Zulu friend sell themselves to the devil for a feed and a visit to Mars. Next comes the grotto of stars on the planet, Mars, which is a very spectacular scene. The story is an old one, but worked up in a new way. It reminds us of a farce in "Faust," for when the curtain drops on the sketch the audience is given a chance to think of the principal character, the devil, who is nothing more or less than "Mephistopheles" in Faust, although the scene is different.

The sketch is mythical but nevertheless interesting and enjoyable. After "Walker" signs the paper transferring his soul to the devil he is sent to Mars where he meets people who have lived for thousands of years. On that planet there are no people who have ever committed sin—but after "Tom Walker" and his other half and the devil get there the latter spread the teachings of the lower planet which include sin. Everything is going along in a rosy manner, "Tom" is trimming the life out of the ladies of the planet, the different ginks and other officials owing to the fact that he has loaded dice, until the devil starts to dictate to "Tom" and then comes the trouble which leads up to the death of the devil.

Hymer who takes the part of Walker is very good and the same may be said of David Walters, who portrays "Prince Inferno." The "Queen of Mars," as carried out by Miss Leona Leigh is worthy of favorable mention and "Ookus Unk," the other half of "Tom Walker," despite the fact that he does not speak, but grunts, is responsible in no small measure for the success of the piece.

Helen Boyton and her company present "Atlas Irish Tossie." The sketch shows how a clever woman shoplifter gets the better of a detective. Her manner of outwitting the store detectives is very clever and as a result of her work she relieves store after store of valuables and then removes to another city.

She almost meets her Waterloo, however, when "Bill Keegan," a central office detective puts in an appearance and "gets her dead to rights." The situation, however, does not freeze her in the least for she shows that she is clever by leading her captor to think that she has taken nothing more or less than a cologne. She then succeeds in outwitting the detective and disappears in a small, dark trunk.

Mamie Harnish is one real big hit. She is the candy girl all right. She is a good singer, a better story teller, a good dancer—well she is one of the best entertainers that has visited Hathaway's theatre for a long time. She has one of those naughty twinkles

In her eyes which attracts the attention of the audience and by no means is her twinkle the only attraction. If you want to have a good laugh, hear some good songs and have a chance to think over stories which she tells just drop in and listen to Mamie.

The remainder of the bill is exceptionally good, including Maximo, the drunk on the wire; Wolf, Moore and Young, a clever trio; Sanson and Della, sensational athletes; Jimmy Doherty, the singing comedian and the moving pictures.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If you judge by applause and laughter the show at the Academy must be the best yet. Gibson & Ranney have a cowboy sketch that is a corker and he wins his bride in real cowboy fashion. Zelava is certainly the king of the piano, his selections are well chosen and his execution perfect. Green & Parker are a very clever pair and their work was appreciated. The pictures are new and well chosen. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

STAR THEATRE

Crowded houses are the rule at the Star theatre this week where Dolly Clifford and her big company of girls and comedians are showing. Twelve pretty girls and four comedians working in front of special scenery and electrical effects complete a lively two and one-half hours show.

Tomorrow night Jim Prokes and Capurses, of Montreal, will wrestle for the middle-weight championship in addition to the big regular show. The regular prices, ten and fifteen cents, will prevail on the special nights, too.

On Friday night the amateurs and the book will be in order. Next week Tiny Davis and her big company will be at the theatre. They will be an entire change of faces, olio acts and everything.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Bright, breezy, "different," that is what the bill at the new Merrimack Square theatre, in Paige street, is this week. It is even better than on the opening week, and those who witnessed the opening performance will appreciate just how very much that means. An excellent sample of just how good the program this week is, is the act presented by the Heidelberg Quart. They are billed as "vaudeville's sweetest harmony singers," and with reason, for they have one of the most pleasing singing acts seen in Lowell in many months. Each of the four has an excellent voice, full toner and rich and sweet yet with plenty of volume. The songs are all new, too, and sung with a vim and go and the sort of harmony that makes you want to join right in on the choruses.

Everything in the act is in harmony with the singing and costumes. The quartet appears in the brilliant uniform of some gay German student society, and though the act is light and refreshing, there is nothing suggesting anything but the most delightful comedy. The solos are especially good, too.

Something different is the one act play, "Dr. George," presented by the Seaside Stock company and written by the company's leading man, George S. Mackey. The play is a story of modern life involving a husband, Dr. George, played by Mr. Mackey; his wife, played by Miss Bessie Overton, and a very mutual friend, played by Fred L. Sutton. There is an intensely interesting plot, based on the love of the physician's wife for the friend Karl and involving with unexpected and tragic results an invention of the physician's. The whole is dramatic in the extreme and is bound to grip the attention of an audience, while the climax is as forceful as it is original.

The presentation of the play was just what was needed to bring out its best qualities. Mr. Mackey as the Dr. George of the plot made the very most of his opportunities, and Miss Overton carried the role of the wife without overdoing what might easily have been spoiled. Mrs. Overton gave a delightful interpretation. Mr. Sutton as the friend Karl was entirely adequate.

George S. Lauder, the Australian ventriloquist, created no end of amusement with his galaxy of mannikins, their small talk and their intensely funny gyrations—they were all of that. The act is along the usual lines of the sort, but more elaborate than is customary and exceptionally well done.

Mr. Lauder proved himself a ventriloquist of splendid ability, yesterday.

Murphy and Andrews furnish some real comedy in their topical sketch with parodies and some witty local hits which brought down the house yesterday. They have some imitations which catch an audience from the word go and they keep their act at the top pitch of laughter and go from curtain to curtain.

The Kolo Trio of acrobats are better than the run by far. They have a "straight" act without any attempt at comedy or clown stunts, and they do some really wonderful things in the way of tumbling and balancing.

Four films of moving pictures of comedy and tragedy, with a lesson or two and some interesting exhibition scenes, are interspersed on the bill. The whole makes a program very worth the seeing.

You can easily repair or replace your old stove lining by using The Thompson Hardware Co.'s Asbestos Stove Lining. Large package 25c. Try it.

PRaise STATE CHARITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Reports on the conditions of Catholic charities from practically all parts of the country, were read yesterday at the forenoon session of the first national conference of Catholic Charities, which was held at the Catholic University of America, and was presided over by James F. Kennedy of Chicago. Most of the reports dealt with the question of fairness or unfairness of state charities and institutions to Catholic interests.

Practically all the reports declare that the administrations of state boards of charity are fair and just and that there is no effort on the part of state institutions to interfere with the religious and spiritual interest of Catholics. Committees reported from the following states: New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Nebraska, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Arkansas, Oregon, Louisiana, District of Columbia, New Hampshire, Missouri, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Virginia, Georgia and Iowa.

MAYOR GAYNOR ROSS K. IS FAST

Says He is Not a Candidate Won Out From a Very Classy Field at Columbus

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mayor Gaynor issued last night, for the first time, a formal statement that he is not a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Nowhere in the statement does the mayor say, however, what course he will pursue in the event the nomination is thrust upon him.

He indicates that he prefers to serve his full term as mayor, but at the same time he emphasizes that he feels no moral obligation to do so.

The statement, dated St. James, L. I., Sept. 26, in the form of a letter to John A. Dix, chairman of the democratic state committee, follows:

"Dear Sir:—I have further considered the matter as you requested when you called on me here with Mr. Mack last Wednesday, but can only reiterate to you that I am not a candidate for nomination for governor. This must have been well known all along, for I have written it to many people during the last six months.

"I am not influenced in my course by assertions made here and there that I made an agreement or compact during the mayoralty campaign to serve out the four years if elected. These false assertions are made by persons who opposed me and voted against me, and would do so again.

"I made no such agreement. I certainly did not with those who opposed me and voted against me. I could have had no compact with them. It takes two sides to make a compact. Nor did I make it with those who nominated and supported me. They did not ask for it.

"I did say of my own motion and at the request of no one that I purposed to devote the next four years to the service of the city. But this only started a hue and cry against me that I should make a pledge or compact to that effect, which I refused to do. And if I had made a pledge, that could not prevent the voters from electing me to some other office.

"I am well aware, as has been pointed out to me, that there are some large things which a governor could readily do for the city of New York, by oversight and legitimate interference, which the mayor of the city cannot do without much time and difficulty, if at all.

"Among them I may mention the planning and construction of a comprehensive system of subways, with a single fare over the whole system, which, in the discordance or duality of government, or both, now existing in that city, is a difficult and protracted matter.

"But, nevertheless, my wish to remain as mayor is such that I do not care to become a candidate for nomination for governor. May I add that as a matter of fact the office of mayor of the city of New York, considering the power and the constant occasion for the exercise of the highest functions of free government lodged in it, is second to no office in this country, save one.

"Many tell me and write me that in taking this course I give up my future. But I shall not take myself or my future into consideration. None of us has a future, but only the present. And if I thought I had a future, I should be content to entrust it to the people of the city of New York.

"I trust that the convention will nominate some one who is not a mere dealer in the political commonplaces and jingles of the last 25 or 50 years, but who has kept pace and grown with the times, and whose absorbing purpose will be to make the government of the state, in all its branches, general and local, intelligent, honest and decent, and to lift it up and make it an object lesson to the whole nation.

"If to do this he has to be more or less meddlesome, we will all forgive such meddlesomeness, if kept fairly within the law. Sincerely yours,

"W. J. Gaynor.

"John A. Dix, Esq., Chairman, etc."

TO FIGHT MAYOR

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The opponents of Mayor Gaynor devoted yesterday and last night in preparation for the struggle against his selection for the head of the democratic state ticket, which now seems likely to be the distinguishing feature of the two days remaining before the convention.

At present the Havens men head the anti-Gaynor forces, but when the supporters of the other candidates arrive they hope to enlist their aid on the common ground that the elimination of Gaynor is the first requisite toward insuring the success of anybody else.

The Whitcomb house, which has been selected for democratic state headquarters, began to show signs of political life yesterday, when Secretary John A. Mason of the state committee arrived from New York.

The Havens men admit that they have no assurance of the support of William R. Hearst if their candidate receives the nomination; but they call attention to the fact that the New York editor supported Mr. Havens when he ran for congress, and hope that this season Baughman did as well as expected. In the second heat he was timed in 2:03.4, and could have gone as fast in the third had it been necessary.

Ess H. Kay had a strong following but he was far from being the pacer of midsummer and caught the flag in the first heat.

The Canadian delegation, which has been bumped severely a number of times before this season, went to another fall in playing Merry Widow. Romberg very carefully laid her traps for two heats only to find that when he turned her loose she could not beat Branham Baughman for second place.

Bland S never had a chance, as he refused to score with the field. The talent hung to Ross K for the most part, which helped them a whole lot, as the wise ones caught an awful lacing in the other events, going down with three horses from the north and east, Maj. Wellington, Dirl and Creighton.

On his splendid race of last week Major Wellington sold even with a field of 14 in the 213 trot. The grandson of Bling, not only did not have his speed, but he was on his hind legs, running more than an eighth of a mile in the second heat, and for a while it looked as though McDonald would not be able to stop him. With Wellington off form, Bervado was the best and he won in 2:10.4, 2:08.4, 2:10.

Dirl, the Fall River struttin, who took down second money in the pacing event, brought over from Friday, looked a second or two faster than the rest of the 213 wigglers, and so was made favorite. He showed a trifle lame in the single heat of the first round, but this did not stop the regulars from backing him. He reeled off a couple of heats, then became too lame to try and Dirl Grattan carried off the money.

Creighton still has a chance, as darkness stopped the first division of the 219 trotters before Admiral Red could gather in three firsts. Flick allowed the Massachusetts horse to take the opening heat in slow time, then out-trotted him through the stretch in 2:09.4. The summary:

COAL

HORNE COAL CO.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 27.—The closing week of the Grand Circuit started off in capital shape yesterday afternoon with nearly fifty horses out trying for the money.

The feature race of the program, the $5000 purse for 2:05 pacers, was rather disappointing, as Ross K, the good looking grandson of Constantine, so completely outclassed the others in the big field that McMahan was coaxing him back at the finish of every heat.

The time, 2:03.4, 2:08.4, 2:04.4, over a track a bit heavy from the rain of Saturday, tells that the horses Ross K had to beat were above the average state pacers. The record of Ross K, 2:01.4, or two seconds faster than any of his competitors, bar one, gives a good idea of how handily he won, for McMahan had him try to race for his life.

But a terrific one for the second and fourth in the summary were not counted as factors before the start. Maj. Mallow and Branham Baughman were the real surprises of the race. The ancient warrior from the half-mile trucks repeated his performance of last year by landing second money, being next to the winner in the fastest heat.

The Boston horse caught the word on a break in the first round, or he would have nailed third money and very likely fourth. For the first time this season Baughman did as well as expected. In the second heat he was timed in 2:03.4, and could have gone as fast in the third had it been necessary.

Ess H. Kay had a strong following but he was far from being the pacer of midsummer and caught the flag in the first heat.

HIS HAND INJURED
Stephen Howard, employed as a plumber's helper and residing at 88 Elm street, received a laceration on the back of the right hand yesterday afternoon while moving a large box from the cellar of a house at 148 Walnut street. He was taken to the Longevity hospital where several stitches were taken in the laceration.

She Tried to Pass a Bad Check

TAUNTON, Sept. 27.—After attempting to pass a check, which would not have deceived a 10-year-old boy and much less Cashier John H. Daiglish of the Machinists' National bank, to whom she presented it, Anna Smith, a colored girl 18 years old gave Patrolman Grady an exciting run before he captured her, and when landed in a cell at the police station attempted to hang herself with her belt, stab herself with some hair pins and to suffocate herself with her handkerchief. Finally the threat of handcuffing her proved effectual and she promised to be good.

She was employed up to yesterday in the family of Herbert Fisher of Somerset avenue and soon after she severed her connection with the Fisher household appeared at the bank with a check for $57.75, which Mr. Daiglish hardly glanced at before he decided it was no good. Anna walked out and one of the bank clerks hurriedly notified Patrolman Grady. When he came in sight she ran and was giving the policeman a good run before she fell in the rear of Union block and the officer secured her.

At the police station she stated to Deputy Cash that she had relatives in Winter street, Boston, but finally said they lived in Newton, and that she came from Charleston, S. C. She denied writing the check or trying to cash it.

MANSLAUGHTER "PROGRESSIVES"

Charge Against Bennett Was In Control of the New Hampshire Convention

BELFAST, Me., Sept. 27.—The charge of manslaughter against Sidney Bennett of this city for the killing of Mrs. Hattie French Thomas in her home here on February 22 last was not pressed in the supreme court today on motion of County Attorney Buzzell. Bennett and Ira S. Grady, a Unity blacksmith, were indicted on a charge of murder at the April term of the court. Grady was tried last May but not convicted. Then the charge of murder against Bennett was reduced to one of manslaughter and the case continued to this term of court.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 27.—"Progressives" controlled the state republican convention in this city today and the platform, the only business before the delegates, was presented by a committee which was almost unanimously "progressive." All of the state officers, headed by Robert Bass of Peterboro, the "progressive" leader for governor, were chosen at the first direct primaries ever held in this state on Sept. 6.

Dr. John Giles of Hanover was the permanent presiding officer at today's proceedings and his speech with that of Mr. Bass and the adoption of the platform practically opened the fall political campaign in this state for the democratic convention disposed of its business on Sept. 22. Clarence Carr of Andover, the democratic gubernatorial nominee of the primaries, will be the chief opponent of Mr. Bass at the polls.

The republican state convention today was one of the largest in the history of the party, although the new primary law limited its duties to the adoption of a platform and the election of a state committee.

Judge Oscar L. Young of Laconia, chairman of the republican state committee, called the convention to order at 11:20 and Rev. William H. Trickey of Tilton, a delegate, offered prayer.

The organization of the convention recommended by the caucus of Monday night was adopted, with Dr. John M. Giles of Hanover as chairman.

The committee on resolutions presented a platform, which was amended by giving 2 personal endorsements to the work and results of Governor Henry B. Quinn's administration and was then unanimously adopted without debate.

It was voted to increase the number of members of the state committee from 100 to 150, and the election of such committee was the closing business of the convention, which was the most harmonious in the history of the republican party in New Hampshire.

A Godsend to Sickly Children

Mr. N. L. Duffee, of Helena, Ala., the thankful father of a little baby girl who was made healthy and fat after she was not expected to live, writes: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the finest of medicines. I have a girl baby, now five months old, who until she was two months old we hardly saw any chance of raising her. At that time I procured a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and gave her a few drops at a time. Now she is acknowledged to be the finest looking baby in town. Baby is still growing as fast as a pig."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

can be safely given to children, no matter what age, in small doses. It is just the right thing for them when they have coughs, colds or any throat or stomach troubles that are so prevalent with the children. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It is invaluable for overworked men and delicate women.

All druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

MINING CONGRESS

To be Called at Pinchot's Suggestion

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Gifford Pinchot's contention that the conservation idea had taken such a hold on the American people that it was bound to prevail and that it would be wise for the mining and oil men of the country to take up rather than oppose it, is the principal topic of discussion among the delegates to the American Mining congress. Resolutions demanding the enactment of employers' liability laws that will have the effect of rendering mine operators and heads of other industries more cautious and thus protect the lives of their men constituted one of the main subjects for discussion in the resolutions committee today. Other resolutions presented today commend the federal bureau of mines for its activity in the direction of lessening the hazard of mining; recommend the establishment of a national chemical or physical laboratory for the development of new and better processes of ore treatment and urge that the bureau devote special attention to assist legitimate mining interests in the task of eliminating "wild cats."

TO ISOLATE CARS

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The government has issued an order that all railroad cars entering Paris from Austria and Italy be isolated in the Bercy depot for medical inspection. Bercy forms a quarter in the southeast of Paris.

Let democrats grasp their opportunity at the primaries today and nominate candidates who can be elected.

BLEW OPEN SAFE

Burglars Entered the Post Office at Claremont, N. H.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Sept. 27.—Burglars robbed the postoffice here early today while two citizens looked on, blew open the safe and succeeded in escaping with about $460 in cash and stamps. There were seven men in the party of robbers and it is believed they used an automobile, as all those who were seen wore automobile coats.

It was early this morning when W. O. Fuller, who lives in back of the postoffice, observed the men walking around in the building. Mr. Fuller stated that there were six men inside and one on watch in front. They had entered by forcing the bars off a rear window. Another neighbor of Mr. Fuller's, Jeffrey R. Noyes, who lives upstairs, was aroused and both men watched the robbers at work but apparently were too excited to give any alarm. Mr. Noyes had a revolver in his hand but refrained from using it. The burglars blew open the safe and obtained $100 in cash, money orders for $200, and $10,000 stamps mostly 1 and 2 cent ones. They then hurried away, after rifling the cash drawers and disappeared in the darkness.

STANDARDIZATION TEST

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 27.—The standardization test today of the torpedo boat destroyer Perkins, a product of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. of Quincy took on a new interest through a decision of the navy department that builders wishing to establish speed records must do so while accumulating standardization data. It has been found that greater accuracy is obtained in a series of runs over a measured mile course than on high speed endurance runs to sea.

The Perkins began a series of 26 runs, three each at 12, 16, 20, 23, 26, 27 1/2 and 29 1/2 knots and five at the highest possible speed. There is considerable interest in the showing of the Perkins from the fact that she is equipped with Curtiss turbine engines while all the other destroyers thus far completed and tried have the Parsons type of turbines.

The Perkins is the fourth of the oil-burning type of torpedo boat destroyers to be tried. The Paulding, built at Bath, is the fastest to date, having attained a speed of 33.4 knots an hour on one run over the mile course. The Roe made a fraction in excess of 32 knots on her fastest mile. The Terry off Newport News last Friday developed 32.5 knots speed for the mile. All of the Perkins trials this week will be out of this port.

F. O. Wellington, assistant to the president of the company, has charge of the ship and Rear-Admiral Chauncey Thomas is president of the board of inspection and survey.

DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY TODAY

Today the battle at the polls is on. Every citizen, high and low, has the same right to vote on the selection of candidates for the various offices from governor down to the lowest named on the ballot.

There are contests in this city in which the people are generally interested, but these contests cannot be settled properly unless by a majority of the voters. There has been a good deal of talk as to who favors this candidate or that candidate, and who is behind this or that candidate. Let us hope that the merits of each candidate will be intelligently passed upon at the polls without any regard for stories that are circulated mainly to mislead the voters. Let us hope also that every man will assert his right to vote for whom he pleases.

The time for talk is over, and the time for action has arrived. Let the voters decide each contest fairly in the interests of good government and the ascendancy of democratic principles.

It is needless to enter into any discussion of the candidates as they are all well known to the voters and the public generally. If any voter wishes to ascertain the character of any candidate he should find out from disinterested parties.

The democratic party in the coming election will have a chance to win a great victory if the right men are nominated. Otherwise the opportunity will be lost, and the voters who exercise poor judgment at the caucuses will alone be to blame.

The Sun takes no sides between candidates before the caucuses, nor does it publish the personal attacks of one candidate upon another, as to do so would help to promote democratic dissension and pave the way for democratic defeat. We do not believe it is good policy for any candidate before the caucuses to precipitate a bitter personal fight, as by so doing he may make his own election impossible even though he gets the nomination.

We appeal to the democrats of Lowell to turn out in full numbers to the primaries and select the men who are most likely to be successful on election day.

The democrat who remains at home, or who goes to the polls and votes for a weak candidate is not doing his duty to himself or to his party.

Democrats of Lowell, you have a great opportunity to secure a victory that will help to better the prevailing conditions under which you live. Are you going to do it or are you going to allow yourself to be cajoled into acquiescence in your own oppression by politicians who may have selfish reasons for deceiving you?

Let every voter exercise his own judgment as to which candidate will best serve the people if elected. Otherwise the result will be dictated by political schemers working to bring about democratic defeat.

In selecting the candidate for governor vote for the man whom you believe to have the best chance of election at the polls. In the congressional contest do the same even though your closest friend urges you to do something different. In the contests for senator and representatives do the same—vote according to your conviction of right and duty, and if the results be disappointing you will have the satisfaction of having done your part to bring about better conditions and to give the people better government.

RESTRICT THE SALE OF DANGEROUS WEAPONS

The tragic shooting affray that occurred at the post office Friday afternoon is another illustration of the necessity of some greater restriction on the sale of firearms.

As soon as a man gets the idea of committing murder into his head he has nothing to do but step into a gun store and equip himself with an outfit of revolver, cartridges and all the necessary ammunition to carry out his fell design.

This is not the first instance of the kind we have had, and it is to be hoped the next legislature will enact a law that will place some proper restriction upon the sale of firearms and dangerous weapons of all kinds.

The men who carry revolvers and large dirks are dangerous characters, and when detected in the offence should be severely punished. There should be some very binding restrictions upon the sale of firearms, and the fine for carrying dangerous weapons should be increased, so that these people who have murder in their hearts may find it more difficult to arm themselves than it has been in the past. It would be well if those who want to purchase revolvers had to get a permit from the police. Men bent on murder would hesitate to apply to the police for permission to purchase a revolver.

MARKET STREET IN BAD CONDITION

Market street would be greatly improved if it were smooth paved. At the present time the street is in a very bad condition. The block paving is badly worn. In many places it has sunk into dangerous holes while in most places it is very uneven.

It is really a hardship to drive over Market street at the present time. The brick sidewalks are also badly worn, and need renewal. If this street were laid with asphalt, or smooth paving such as that on Central street, it would be a favorite thoroughfare for carriages and automobiles. But in its present condition it is avoided even by pedestrians on account of the rough and uneven surface.

CAUSE OF MAINE VICTORY

Some of the farmers of Maine have an explanation of the victory that seems to be quite original. They say the democratic victory was a direct result of rural free delivery which has been established throughout the state of Maine. Before rural free delivery the farmers found it impossible to get newspapers or mail matter with sufficient regularity to keep themselves informed upon public events. For that reason they were kept in the dark as to the real state of affairs, and were guided merely by what republican leaders told them as to the economic conditions of the country. If rural free delivery promotes democratic success throughout the country it should be pushed into every state in the union.

SEEN AND HEARD

Wandering over a field one day a man came across a large stone, inscribed:
"Turn me over."
After much difficulty he succeeded in turning it over, and found on the other side of the stone the words:
"Now turn me back again so that I can catch some other idiot!"

Something eatable was produced and an absorbing new game invented which she could play by herself. So they breathed freely and began.
The talk at length reached a point involving the latest scandal of the neighborhood, and the retelling of some inside sensation which must not become public property. A hurried look at the child on the floor found her apparently so occupied with her game that it seemed quite safe to go on if one observed a decent discretion.
Voices were accordingly lowered, and direct allusion veiled, but when the matter had been thrashed out to their satisfaction the child raised her eyes and remarked with deliberation and emphasis:
"I hear, I know, I understand—and I'll brab!"

WHAT SHE THINKS OF YOU
Your clothes may be the very best a man may wish to wear.
Your face may always have a smile regardless of a care.
Your tongue may turn to flatter when she asks the reason for it.
But if you ain't sincere to her she'll find it out some day.
Perhaps a while you'll fool her some as long as you can.
But women are the kindest souls on earth to make believe.
Yet let me tell you this, I say, don't take her for granted.
For they can guess and measure men without the scale or rule.

You may impress her by the way in all the things you do.
If you decide to start right in and let her see you're true.
Good words for the truth in all the things we do.
But what she really thinks of you—It's really up to you!

Your clothes may be the very worst, your face the plainest seen.
You may have had some better days when you were a kid.
But if the principle is there and honor in your lies.
She doesn't mind the luck you strike—she'll laugh you to the skies.

She'd rather hand you out her gold if once she found you true.
She'd sacrifice her very soul to make a man of you.
If you convinced her by your acts you really were a man.
She'd say to you, I'll live for you and do the best I can.

It isn't money woman craves—no, that's a grave mistake.
It's what she really thinks of you, she'll stand by or forsake.
The world is wrong about her heart, it's just the same as old.
True love and honor, they come first before her wish for gold.
—Prof. Alexander Geddes.

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Proper Treatment of the Scalp in Childhood.

Much harm results from washing a child's head with the usual soaps and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to a diseased condition which causes the hair to fall out as the child becomes older. Mothers are strongly advised to use Dr. Williams' Head Wash, the nearest to a neutral soap that is made of refined olive oil, white of eggs, coconut oil, glycerine and salicylic acid. It removes every particle of dirt, all disease germs and leaves the scalp soft and pink, and the hair glossy. A child whose hair is kept clean with Dr. Williams' Head Wash will never have dandruff, and the hair roots will be kept in such a healthy condition that the hair will not fall out as the years pass. 25c, 50c.

ERICKSON HURT

His Biplane Almost Completely Wrecked

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 27.—Louis G. Erickson, an amateur aviator, who has met many reverses in experimenting with his biplane, is lying at his home in Liberty street, suffering from severe bruises and his machine is almost completely wrecked, as a result of a mishap yesterday afternoon, while attempting to make a flight on the Carey-street grounds.
Since completing his first machine a few months ago, Mr. Erickson, who is about 25 years old, has damaged his machine during every experiment, but always escaped injury. His most successful flight was at the Sturbridge fair several weeks ago. After each experiment he has made alterations in his machine, and when he reached the Carey-street grounds yesterday he felt confident that his biplane and engine were in perfect condition.
He was attempting to make a sharp turn at a height of about 20 feet when the machine slipped against some trees and fell. Friends rushed to the aid of the aviator and he was assisted to his home.

LOWELL'S VOTERS

FATALLY HURT

Boy Rode His Bicycle Against Horse

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 27.—Eugene Valliquette of 521 Worthington street, a 15-year-old newspaper boy, struck L. Litch's express wagon while riding his bicycle in Main street yesterday afternoon and was probably fatally injured.

The wagon was emerging from an alleyway in the business part of the city when the lad and the horse came together. The horse was thrown, and the wagon wheels passed over his body. He was removed to the Mercy hospital. He had not recovered consciousness up to a late hour and there is little hope held out for his recovery.

It was the lad's first day as a messenger boy.

BROCKTON WOMAN

BARRED FROM FORTUNE BE-CAUSE OF RELIGION

BROCKTON, Sept. 27.—Property valued at about $20,000 will be held in trust for Mrs. Abbie K. Higgins of this city, because of her so-called religious beliefs. In the will of Mrs. Ellen S. Reynolds, wife of Jonas Reynolds, offered for probate yesterday, provision was made for holding one-third of the estate of $60,000 over to Mrs. Higgins, daughter of the testator, on the ground that the religious society to which she belongs compels her to turn over that which she acquires. Mrs. Higgins is said to belong to the Holy Ghost and Us society and is now at the Shiloh colony in Maine.
Mrs. Reynolds bequeathed provision that should Mrs. Higgins give up her beliefs the money shall be turned over to her. Two other children, Mary L. Reynolds and Martin E. Reynolds, each receive one-third of the estate. Mrs. Reynolds left $2000 to the Christian and Missionary alliance at Nyack, N. Y.

CHILD LABOR

IT IS ALLEGED THAT HAVERHILL MAN VIOLATED IT

HAVERHILL, Sept. 27.—Charged with violating the laws relating to child labor in that he is alleged to have falsely sworn to the age of his child and presented a forged birth certificate to the school authorities, Oscar Reed was arraigned in the district court yesterday.

Tenant Officer George A. Picard alleged that Reed swore that his son, Karl S. Reed, was 14 years old, when he was 12, and that he forged a birth certificate from Acton, Me., when the child was really born in Wakefield, N. H.

Mrs. Abbie J. Meadowcroft, principal of the Burnham school, told the court that the boy had signed himself in school as 13 years old.
Reed said he had made a mistake but that he wasn't aware of it until a few days ago. He pleaded guilty.
The case was continued until Saturday morning.

FIREMEN BUSY

DEPARTMENT RESPONDED TO TWO ALARMS LAST NIGHT

An alarm from box 67 shortly after 6 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a blaze in a house in Ludlum street, belonging to Mrs. Jennie Leslie. A short time ago a wedding was held at the house and the interior was decorated with crepe paper. Unfortunately the paper was not removed and when one of the occupants went to light a gas jet last night the match which was used was carelessly thrown aside with the result that a fire was started and before it was extinguished the furnishings of two rooms were destroyed.

Kettle of Lard Afire

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night the department was called to the Moreland potato chip factory in the East Meadow road where there was a lively blaze in progress. The fire was caused by a kettle of lard getting afire and before the department arrived on the scene the interior of the building was badly damaged.

THE INFLUENZA

How to Treat Horses Affected With It

This dangerous and infectious disease is known by various names such as Pink Eye, Typhoid, Epizootic, Grippe, etc. It attacks the horse and mule, destroying vitality of the entire system and creating stupefaction of the brain and extends, in its ravages to the lungs, intestines and feet. It is more prevalent in large cities. In ventilated stables, freight cars, Younger horses seem more liable to the disease. It has many symptoms of distress and is often confounded with influenza, drinking troughs, attendants, etc., are convenient means of spreading the disease and five to seven days after exposure we may find the horse previously in perfect health with a high fever, temperature running to 105 degrees, even to 107 degrees, inattentive to surroundings, head down, chills, lasting fifteen minutes at a time, perhaps grinding the teeth, the stupor grows more intense, eyes swell, expelling tears, respiration increases like pulse, limp and fatigued in appearance, lining of the eye is pink, thus Pink Eye; the mouth foams, especially the gums and this particular feature marks plainly this disease; great thirst, with loss of appetite, the fever seems to cause oedema of the tissues of the fetlock, and the under surface of the belly, at first there is serious constipation, but is followed by diarrhoea. Unless overcome promptly by treatment, the congestion of the lungs, intestines, brain, or laminae of the feet. When the intestines are involved we have colic symptoms and frequently the horse dies, the attendants deciding to kill to be the cause of death or possibly a euthanasia cause. Should the animal take additional cold the lungs may be affected and congestion follows, extending to pneumonia; the animal breathes heavily, flanks heave, unsteady movements of the body and all the ordinary symptoms of this disease, or suddenly the heretofore stupid and dull animal walks forward, follows the lead to a corner, pushing his nose into it, stamps and kicks with much excitement. You may rest assured the brain is involved or perhaps the animal assumes the position of a foundered horse. If the fore feet alone are affected they are carried forward and rest on the heels. If all feet are involved then all four feet are forward, the hind ones as near the center of gravity as can be gained, the feet are hot and tender, full of inflammation and many other complications may exist. While the animal has appetite, feed sound oats, good hay and bran mash, allow the fever; begin on this at first symptom. Hot applications, liniment and blanket well. Keep dried off. Quinine or Fever Drops should be given freely. Glycerin Salts may be given. Steam the head, keep nostrils clean, disinfect everything about the premises, fresh water in plenty, bran mash and a good tonic. Keep up the strength, even to use stimulants. Of course in the complications following one must treat them in their regular course.

NO MEETING

SPECIAL COMMITTEE FAILED TO HOLD SESSION

Long, long ago a special committee was appointed by the board of aldermen for the purpose of interviewing the chairman and superintendent of the board of charities for 1909 relative to their failure to sign the annual report for that year. Several dates have been set for a meeting of this committee but it seems that a meeting cannot be effected. The committee was scheduled for meeting at 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon but there was nothing doing. The committee consists of Aldermen Adams, Byam and Brennan. The reason given for not holding the meeting yesterday was that Mr. Byam couldn't leave his office.

GIRL BROKE DOWN

When She Was Sentenced to State Prison

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 27.—Numerous sentences were given in the superior court yesterday by Chief Justice Robert M. Wallace.

Bertha Holman, in company with Nellie Farrell, was charged with the larceny of a horse in Amherst and was sentenced to not less than three nor more than five years in state prison. The decision of the court staggered the girl and she gave way to tears. Nellie Farrell, who was also concerned in the horse stealing, received 18 months at hard labor in the county jail.

Iver Coulter of Greenville, who is said to have obstructed an officer in that town, got 30 days in jail and a fine of $25 and costs, the sentence to stand suspended on payment of the fine and costs.

Charles Dickmanvitch of Nashua pleaded guilty to the larceny of $12.37 from Michael Stack of that city, but on a second count stated that he was not guilty of the larceny of $42. He received a year in jail and was fined $5 and costs.

Sentences to Jail for Year
John B. Pichette of Nashua, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, had a sentence continued on payment of the costs, which amounted to $20.

John Broeje pleaded guilty to a charge of the larceny of $23.50 and was given one year in jail and ordered to pay costs.

Archibald C. McInnis, charged with the larceny of a horse and carriage belonging to John J. McAllister, entered a plea of not guilty and was given a year in jail and costs.

Ethel M. Levasseur, charged with larceny, entered a plea of not guilty, but later changed it to nolo and was given into the care of the state industrial school.

Frank H. Demeritt, charged with larceny, entered a plea of not guilty on the charge of insanity and entered a petition with the court that he be sent to the state hospital for the insane for observation.

Wilfred Fournier entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of larceny, later changing this to nolo. He was sentenced to the county jail for twelve months and was ordered to pay the costs.

Eugene Hartshorn of Merrimack indicted on two counts for publishing illegal literature, entered a plea of not guilty. He was not represented.

Joseph Barry, alias Constance Lazoo, entered a plea of not guilty to larceny, later changing it to nolo, and was sentenced to the jail for six months and was assessed a fine of $10 and costs of $15. The sentence to stand suspended on payment of the fine.

Boisvert Gets Three Years
Antoine Boisvert was given not more than five nor less than three years in state prison at hard labor for breaking and entering and larceny, and Arthur Ladrose was sentenced to six months in jail and costs for the larceny of $20.

Emma Berard and Theodore Woods, charged with a statutory offence, were each sentenced to one year in jail and fined $50 each, with costs of $25, the sentences to stand suspended upon payment of the costs and fines.

Treffle Laberteau and James Couturier were sentenced to one year in jail, with costs, or to spend their minority in the state industrial school.

Walter L. Shorey was given from three to five years at state prison for the larceny of $65.50 and on a second indictment charging the larceny of $35 he was given not more than three nor less than two years in the same prison, both sentences to be served out at hard labor.

Frank Millette received not more than five nor less than three years in state prison for the larceny of $25.

The democrat who fails to attend the primaries today should not complain if he finds weak men nominated.

MANY PETITIONS

Passed Upon by Committee on Sewers

The committee on sewers met last night and gave hearings on various petitions. The committee went to viewing during the afternoon and acquainted itself with the places mentioned in the petitions.

The matter of relaying the Gorham street sewer between Union and Appleton streets was taken up. City Engineer Bowers said that the present sewer was laid about two years ago and though it is a comparatively new sewer there have been many complaints concerning it. Mr. Bowers allowed that it would cost about $2000 to fix the sewer and Supt. Putnam was instructed to investigate the matter and report to the committee at its next meeting.

A communication to the mayor and board of aldermen, relative to laying a sewer over the Lawrence street bridge, was read. It was stated that the sewer would be used later on in connection with the draining of Wiganville. It was voted to recommend the sewer.

A Mr. Joyce appeared to remonstrate against the petition of Joseph R. Barrelet for a sewer in Harland avenue. The committee voted to recommend the sewer. Other petitions recommended were: J. Edwin Lyle and others for a sewer in Summit street; George H. Waterhouse and William B. Watson for a sewer in Sanborn street; Nathan N. McEwan for a sewer in Holden street; Caleb L. and Sarah A. Smith for a sewer in Albert street. The petition of Charles L. Warren for a catch basin in Burlington avenue was laid on the table.

FRANK McDEVITT WATCHMAN AT BROOKLINE COUNTRY CLUB KILLED

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Frank McDevitt, employed as a watchman at the Brookline country club, died at the Massachusetts general hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries received while riding a bicycle on Walnut street near Chestnut street, in Brookline about 8 in the morning.

McDevitt was on his way home, and when about to descend the Walnut street hill he lost control of the bicycle. It dashed into a tree and McDevitt was thrown forcibly against the tree.

Word was sent to the Brookline police station and Dr. Francis was notified. The injured man was removed to the hospital in the police auto ambulance.

McDevitt did not leave his address at the Country club and it was not until late in the afternoon that his relatives were located. He has a sister, Miss Fannie McDevitt, who lives on Jamaica street, Jamaica Plain. She has been notified of her brother's death.

NARROW ESCAPE

MAN FELL IN FRONT OF AN ELEVATED CAR

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—F. J. Cunningham who lives in Almont street, Winthrop, narrowly escaped death at the Forest Hills station of the elevated last night. Cunningham, who was standing on the outboard platform about 11.20 was stricken with faintness and fell from the platform into the pit. At that moment an incoming train, carrying a large number of passengers, came into the shed and bore directly upon Cunningham, who lay in its path unable to move.

The motorman, Peter Pallo, saw his body lying on the track and put on the emergency brakes. Pallo brought the car to a stop within half a car length of Cunningham, who escaped without injury.

Cunningham, who fell beyond the third rail, was taken out of the pit by guards and soon revived.

SULTAN OF SULU

Plans to Build a "White House"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—His sublime highness, Hiedji Mohammed Jamulu Kiram, the sultan of Sulu, who won fame some years ago by proposing to Alice Roosevelt and having a Geo. Ade comic opera named after him, paid his respects to Acting Secretary of War Oliver and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army yesterday.

To Gen. Wood and Col. Scott the sultan talked over old times, with Charles Werble interpreting. His highness recalled how Gen. Wood, soon after he went to the island as military governor, gave him a life annuity in the nature of 6000 pesos, or $3000 in Uncle Sam's money, a year.

Gen. Oliver greeted the only titled American subject cordially. The general said he hoped his highness was

JOHN R. THAYER

To be Chairman of the State Convention

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Ex-Congressman John R. Thayer of Worcester will be named as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention, at the meeting of the executive committee of the state committee, to be held at headquarters tomorrow.

This was announced by Mayor Fitzgerald, following a call upon him by the ex-congressman, yesterday. The mayor said Chairman Macleod of the state committee had asked him to urge upon Mr. Thayer the acceptance of the chairmanship, and the Worcester man had given his consent to the program of the party leaders.

Beside selecting a permanent chairman, the executive committee will choose a temporary chairman, and a chairman of the committee on resolutions, who will draft the party platform. Representative William H. O'Brien of Boston has been mentioned for temporary chairman of the convention, and Harvey H. Pratt and Louis D. Brandeis for the chairman of resolutions.

A majority of the members of the executive committee are working in harmony with Fitzgerald, and it is expected that whatever program he lays down will be carried out. The membership of the committee is: John F. McDonald, chairman, Boston; Frederick J. Macleod, Cambridge; Thomas J. Collins, Boston; Walter H. Creamer, Lynn; Daniel F. Doherty, Westfield; Henry A. Frothingham, Boston; Roger Sherman Hoar, Concord; Thomas A. Lawler, Greenfield; Joseph A. Maynard, Boston; John F. Mcaney, Blackstone; David P. O'Connell, Worcester; Humphrey O'Sullivan, Lowell; Charles F. Sullivan, Fall River; James W. Syman, Pittsfield.

After his conference with the mayor, Mr. Thayer said the democratic party never had a better chance to win than it has this year.

"We ought to sweep the state, from the head of the ticket down," he said, "and by working together I am con-

ident we will do it. I look for a harmonious convention, because I believe the candidates for the gubernatorial nomination will see the necessity of sinking personal ambitions and working together for the good of the party."

"Let us act with judgment. It is a worthy thing to have political ambitions, but there should be no bad blood when it comes to facing the enemy. Then we should close up and present a united front. I believe any one of the four candidates mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination could win this year if his campaign was properly handled and the democrats were united."

Asked what he thought of the fight being made by Congressman Ames for Senator Lodge's seat, Mr. Thayer said: "I believe there is a splendid opportunity to defeat Senator Lodge. Bulger Ames has campaign material of a most convincing kind. I listened to him on his recent visit to Worcester, and was deeply impressed with the argument he made against the senior senator."

LOWELL SINGERS

The following call for a public meeting will be of interest to all singers:

We are a city of 106,000 people. Among our varied activities we should have a live singing society; and with our population to draw from, and a competent and energetic conductor, it would seem easy to have it. Sometimes an old idea under a new name will win success. Suppose we have a choir guild or a singers' union, would it go any better than a choral society?"

On Monday evening, Oct. 3, at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the First Unitarian Congregational church, Dutton street, a meeting of singers is called to meet Professor William R. Lane, baritone and conductor. With twenty years' experience along musical lines, he believes he has the qualities for carrying to success a musical organization. He has a pleasing personality which, combined with zest and vim, makes a good leader.

This meeting is called to take action for the coming fall and winter, and it is hoped there will be a rousing attendance, full of enthusiasm and anticipation. If feasible, an organization will be perfected and rehearsals appointed.

Professor Lane will have on hand

music for the evening and will give an hour's preliminary rehearsal.

Be sure to come, and interest some one else to come, and let us talk it up with success as the end in view. Remember the date and save the evening. Yours sincerely,

George F. Kennigott,
Pres. Lowell Choral Society,
Thomas P. Boulger, Vice Pres.,
John A. McKenna, Secretary,

SHE IS CHARGED WITH BEING AN ELOPER

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Manuel Da Braga, a woman and eight small children, are detained at the Immigration station on request of the United States consul at St. Michael's Azores. The group arrived Sunday on the Romanic, but the consul's cablegram reached Boston almost a week before the liner put in an appearance.

Da Braga is a Portuguese, 40 years old, and the woman he claims as wife is about 35. The question has arisen whether Da Braga is eloping with the mother and family and an investigation is on foot.

Da Braga stoutly maintains the children are his. He smiles broadly at the suggestion that he has assumed the job of feeding and clothing some other man's offspring.

having a good time and was learning something of the life of the accident.

"I like the country very much, especially this city. It is grand and I would like to stay here a long time," said the sultan.

From Gen. Oliver's office the party went to Maj. McIntyre's office in the bureau of insular affairs. Maj. McIntyre spent several years in the Philippines and visited the island of Jolo and the sultan.

Today the party is going to the Washington monument. How his highness will ever reach the top is beyond the conception of his hosts. If he refuses to ride in the slow-moving elevator there is not for him to do but walk the 500 and some odd feet up.

Gen. Wood tried to persuade the sultan to ride down in one of the small elevators in the war department, but the nearest he could get him to it was in the shadow of the sliding door.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the sultan will pay his respects to President Taft.

A trip about the city in an automobile yesterday afternoon and last night seemed to delight the entire party. They wore broad smiles from the time they left the hotel until they returned.

His highness will look over some agricultural implements while here. He said yesterday that he wanted to introduce some modern ideas into his country when he returned.

The sultan is captivated by "American palaces," as he calls the White House and departmental buildings. He told his interpreter that when he returned to his native country he would build himself an American house if it cost him all the money he had.

When he passed the White House yesterday morning he stopped to admire it, and said, in his native tongue, "I would like to live in that house or one like that."

WAKEFIELD, Sept. 27.—The police today are looking for the perpetrators of the largest burglary that has taken place in Wakefield for some time. The residence of John E. CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—John Clinton, 22 years old, who has turned state's evidence against Isaac Marks, a South Side jeweler, on trial for operating a "fence," testified in Judge Kavanaugh's court yesterday that he and his "pal" robbed from one to five flats or houses a night from January 1st to April 23rd, the day of his arrest. The goods recovered are valued at $68,000 and Clinton testified that Marks paid them only $400 for the lot. Clinton, telling of his methods of working, said:

"If we were detained over seven minutes in a flat we figured we were losing money. First we would ring a doorbell, and if we got a response we would inquire for somebody. If not, we got busy. That big 'jiminy' was all we ever used. We never took anything but money or jewelry."

$125,000 LOSS

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Fancy lumber to the value of $125,000 was destroyed by fire early today in the yard of the Parker & Palmer Lumber Co. in Charlestown. It was covered by insurance. The flames started in the drying room from whence they spread to the piles in the yard, where they were checked after two alarms had been turned in.

BAGGAGE HELD

CUSTOMS DECLARATION OF WOMAN WAS NOT SATISFACTORY

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mrs. H. N. Slater of Readville, Mass., said to be related to the prominent Slater family of New England and financially interested in a New York firm of the same name, was not permitted to take away her baggage when she arrived yesterday at the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, accompanied by her daughter and a maid.

She declared 10 gowns valued at $100 and additional personal effects worth $300, but the customs inspectors were not satisfied and insisted on a complete appraisal of the contents of her nine pieces of baggage.

After the seizure Mrs. Slater said that she could not remember exactly how many gowns she brought over. No charge was filed against her, but her declaration will be compared with the contents of her trunks.

GRANITEVILLE QUARRYMAN INJURED BY BLAST

While blasting with his son at his quarry on Saturday, Thomas Rafferty, a well known stone contractor of Graniteville, was struck by a jagged piece of rock, which ripped an ugly hole in his left side and splintered the hip bone. He was hurried to his home in the village and Dr. W. H. Sherman summoned and later Dr. C. V. Wells of Westford was called. It was found necessary to take 18 stitches to close the wound and the patient is now resting as well as can be expected.

FIERCE FIGHT

POLICEMAN WAS ATTACKED BY PRISONER AT MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 27.—One of the fiercest fights between a prisoner and a policeman ever seen here took place yesterday in McGregorville between Patrolman Elmer E. Somers and a man who is supposed to be Joseph Theriault. The latter had been placed under arrest on suspicion of having stolen a quantity of liquor, when he suddenly turned on his captor, attacking him with such ferocity that he succeeded in partially disabling the policeman and made his escape to the woods, although himself hurt.

The affray caused great excitement. When the prisoner broke away the policeman, although crippled, followed him up the street and fired a shot from his revolver in a vain effort to stop him. Patrolman Somers had his left wrist crushed and had to fight with a single hand. Theriault is a man of more than ordinary strength.

DOCTOR SUDDENLY STRICKEN

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 27.—Dr. Charles J. Dowling of Eastern avenue, died yesterday afternoon of acute uremia. He complained of feeling ill Sunday afternoon and retired to his office in the evening, where he evidently became unconscious and remained all night and yesterday.

A visitor saw him on his couch yesterday afternoon, and failing to get any response to his knocks, informed Dr. S. E. Ryan. He was removed to the Mercy hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Dowling was about 30 years old and was born in Springfield. He was graduated from Ottawa medical college in 1903, and from Baltimore medical college in 1906.

WILL COST $3,000,000

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Papers were signed last night which give a complete right of way to the Lehigh & New England railroad for an extension of 31 miles from its main line at Danielsville near Slatington to Tamaqua. The new road will cost $3,000,000. The securing of this right of way was the work of two years, and the completion of this preliminary work means the construction without delay of the most important railroad link in Pennsylvania in years. The new line will connect more particularly the collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. and the whole anthracite region in general with the shortest route to Boston, via the Poughkeepsie bridge route. The present shortest line is 170 miles long, but this will be 40 miles shorter. By this stroke the Lehigh & New England will become an important tonnage factor in the New England coal trade in competition with the Lehigh Valley, Jersey, Pennsylvania, Reading on the south and the Erie and Lackawanna on the north. Its management expects an addition of 4,000,000 tons of freight from the start.

FITCHBURG, Sept. 27.—Frank Moyer reported to the police last night that he was held up by an unknown man in a dark place near the Fitchburg gas plant. He said the stranger demanded he give him all his money. Moyer told the police that the stranger these was a boy whom he rescued at Pemberton some time ago. The boy's parents rewarded him with a gold watch. Although he cannot swim a stroke Mr. McNamara has never hesitated to risk his life in saving others.

SOME OF HARVARD'S FOOTBALL SQUAD IN ACTION ON THE FIELD

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 27.—Judging by the great deal of attention Coach Haughton is giving to the kicking department during practice, it appears that men booting the ball will play an important figure in Harvard's games this season. Nearly half the practice finds some squad at work booting the pigskin. In Feltou the Crinson should have a punter of rare ability. His kicks travel regularly from fifty-five to sixty yards and also hang in the air just

COWARDLY AUTOISTS Men Suspected of Killing Man Held at Portsmouth

BEVERLY, Sept. 27.—Chief of Police Ferguson of this city, who began a search through New England last night for the occupants of the auto that struck and fatally injured Samuel Hollingshead, the Wenham car conductor, sent word here today that he had Edward Dapic of New York and his chauffeur, Fred Halsey, under detention in Portsmouth, N. H., pending identification. Several witnesses have started for Portsmouth to identify the men.

STORY OF THE CRIME

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—After hurrying a conductor from the running board of a car and fatally injuring him while attempting to pass between the car and an ice wagon, a large brown touring car on the state highway in North Beverly, containing a man and a woman, put on extra speed and disappeared early last evening.

The conductor, Samuel W. Hollingshead of Wenham, was in charge of a Boston & Northern car running from Wenham to Beverly. In front of the residence of Charles A. Nelson on Dodge street, he was standing on the running board collecting fares, when the touring car dashed along in the opposite direction and tried to pass between the car and a wagon of the Salem & Beverly Ice company that was proceeding in the same direction as the car.

The auto struck Hollingshead, tossing him high into the air, and he fell on the macadamized road. The occupants of the automobile did not slacken speed and when the passengers and track workmen who were in a car behind, yelled to the driver to stop, he put on more speed and dashed away toward Hamilton.

Dr. George J. Hill of Beverly in his runabout reached the scene a few minutes after the accident. There was a deep gash in the head of the unconscious conductor. Hailing the touring car of Dr. John C. Phillips, Dr. Hill had Hollingshead taken to the Beverly hospital. There it was found that his skull had been fractured. He died, without regaining consciousness, in about 60 minutes after the accident.

The number of the machine causing his death could not be determined, as the auto was travelling very fast. One woman was positive it bore a New York number, but could not decipher the numerals. The auto was a dark brown and had a khaki colored top which was up. The car was equipped with a machine windshield, and the only couple were riding on the front seat, the man driving.

As soon as the Beverly police were notified, they telephoned to every other police station along the route the machine was travelling as far away as Portsmouth.

Hollingshead had been employed on the Boston & Northern for about nine years. He lived on Dutch avenue, near Main street, Wenham. He leaves a wife and one child. Another child died three weeks ago. He was an Odd Fellow.

long enough to allow his ends to flirt with whoever receives them. "Ham" Corbett, the red-headed varsity back, is no mean kicker either. Captain Withington, Wigglesworth and Bob Fisher have so far had a monopoly on the drop kicking and place kicking game. The captain has sent over several good "saunders" from the forty yard line. From now on scrimmages will be held every day, and by the middle of next week the squad will go into secret practice. Harvard opens her season Sept. 23 with Bates college at the stadium. Old fashioned football will undoubtedly be tried against the Maine lads and some two dozen players sent into the game. Paul Withington, last fall's varsity center, arrived here the other day to accept a position in the office of the Harvard Athletic association. He will join the football coaches in an effort to develop a reliable center for Harvard's weakest place.

WEST POINT MEN Gave Captain Longan "Silence" Treatment

WEST POINT, Sept. 27.—More than 400 cadets, the whole cadet corps of the United States Military academy, are practically under arrest as a result of the corps having administered the "silence" treatment to Captain Rufus E. Longan of the Eleventh United States infantry at supper in the Grant Memorial hall recently. Not in years has an officer on duty at West Point suffered the "silence" treatment, and the victimizing of Captain Longan has caused one of the most delicate situations that any superintendent has ever been called upon to handle. Major General Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A., the new superintendent of the academy, acted promptly. A board of officers elected by him from the West Point detail is investigating the case. The "silence" treatment, as it is known, has been used by cadets in national academies before. When the cadets marched into the dining room where Captain Longan was in charge not a word was spoken nor a mouthful of food eaten during the forty-five minutes the cadets were in the mess hall. When they filed out of the room they marched to the parade grounds and were dismissed and the affair reported to the superintendent.

HOOSAC TUNNEL The Engineers Favor Overhead System

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Vice President McHenry of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is receiving almost daily reports from the corps of engineers he has sent from New Haven to North Adams to formulate plans for the electrification of the Hoosac tunnel, as ordered by President Mellen the first day he was acting president of the Boston & Maine system.

Their preliminary survey has convinced the engineers that the overhead trolley system is better fitted to the tunnel problem than the third rail equipment. This decision has been approved by Mr. McHenry, under whose direction the work is to be done.

Although the overhead system has worked so well in the electrification of the New Haven's line from Stamford, Ct., to the terminus at New York city, a careful examination of the tunnel was necessary before the engineers could safely conclude that they could carry out their first and natural desire to employ the same system there.

A rough estimate of the entire cost of equipping the tunnel with an overhead trolley system places it at $1,000,000. This will electrify the line from as far west as Williamstown to as far east as the eastern portal of the tunnel.

The necessary electric power station will be erected at or near the west portal of the tunnel, in North Adams.

The assured change of the motive power of trains during their passage through the tunnel has aroused much interest among railroad ticket agents in the west and the New Haven-Boston & Maine authorities have received from such agents estimates of increased through passenger business from the west over the Fitchburg branch, ranging from $30,000 to $150,000 annually. The tunnel with its old, disreputable conditions has doubtless kept considerable revenue from the Boston & Maine system because of the determination of many experienced travelers to avoid going through the tunnel if possible.

CORONER'S JURY

Finds That Dr. Crippen is Guilty

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The coroner's jury, after one hour's deliberation, yesterday, brought in the verdict that Mrs. Cora Crippen, known on the stage as Belle Elmore, had been wilfully murdered by her husband, Dr. Hawley L. Crippen, American dentist. After listening to the testimony, which was spread over several days, and hearing the summing up of the case by Coroner Schroeder, who summarized the evidence pointing out the murder, the jury was left but little choice.

The one act farce "Looking for More" was presented before a fair sized audience by the Christian Endeavor society of the Central Congregational church last evening. Before and after the play there were graphophone selections, songs by Miss A. A. Stewart and readings by Mrs. Ruth Emerson that were very favorably received.

Those taking part in the farce were: Squire Brown.....Harold B. Stewart
Jack Dawson.....Sidney L. Dupre
Henry Moore.....Leo L. Jones
James, a servant.....Walter B. Heileville
Susan, a maid.....Mrs. Frank Hannford
Mary Brown, a niece of Squire Brown.....Miss Jessie Atwood

TYPHOID FEVER

Two New Cases Were Reported Today

Two new cases of typhoid fever were reported at the office of the board of health today, making a total of 89 cases. The present epidemic has been responsible for four deaths.

The statement that the typhoid is not of a severe type and that most of the cases have been light cases, does not hold good in all quarters. Most of the cases treated at the hospitals have been quite severe. There are eighteen cases at St. John's hospital and Dr. James B. O'Connor, one of the doctors in attendance, says that a majority of the cases are severe. "We have not had what you would call a mild case as yet," said Dr. O'Connor.

AMOS P. BEST'S EXPLANATION

On my part there was no omission made in regard to the filing of my nomination papers. I trusted that every candidate would get fair and impartial information at Republican headquarters in regard to the filing of his nomination papers, but have had good reason to change my mind. On the day that they were to be filed I was called away to Boston and left them with another party to file. Fearing that some mistake should be made, I returned purposely in time to see that they were all right. I went up to headquarters with the man I left them with and filed the last one. Mr. Goward, secretary at headquarters, who is supposed to see that the papers are all right, was present. I asked him if my papers were filed all right, and he replied that they were and were ready for the city clerk. I told him I did not want any mistakes in them and he again said that they were all right. The first I knew about my name not appearing on the ballot was when I saw it in The Sun Saturday evening.

Now, as I consider it a deal, I leave it to the honest voters of this district to decide whether it was done intentionally or not. Give this your serious thought and consideration. Any of the voters wishing to cast their ballot for me will find under the heading "Candidates for the Eighth Senatorial District," three little circles, and by putting a cross in the last circle, you will be casting a vote for Amos P. Best, who has been doing business with you for the last twenty-five years.

Yours respectfully,
AMOS P. BEST.

officers whose only aim was the preservation to the people of such resources." A tariff plank substantially as follows was regarded as certain of adoption. "We denounce the Payne-Aldrich tariff act as an indefensible masterpiece of injustice, legally authorizing remorseless extortion of the many to enrich the few through the operation of trusts and monopolies, which it fosters." An income tax law, election of senators by direct vote of the people, state as well as national control of trusts, publicity of campaign contributions and expenditure, conservation of natural resources with particularly stringent state safeguarding of water power sites and "home rule" for the liquor traffic will be advocated. Delegates to three other conventions —the republican, prohibition and social democratic—were ready when their respective chairmen rapped for order and introduced the various temporary chairmen to make the keynote speeches reflecting respective political beliefs.

LIVELY CONTESTS

For Congress in Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Districts

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—It was not expected that the democratic primaries held throughout the state today for the election of delegates to the national county and legislative conventions would determine the name definitely of the party candidate for governor for only a few of the delegates to the Faneuil hall convention a week from Thursday were pledged. It was expected, however, that the primaries would settle the congressional contests in the ninth, tenth and eleventh districts where direct nominations prevailed. Interest, therefore, centered in these three districts where the present congressmen, John A. Keleher, Joseph F. O'Connell and Andrew J. Peters, were opposed for re-election. The democrats beat out the republicans this year in naming an early date for their primaries so that the majority of the republican meetings will not come until tomorrow. Eleven cities and two towns, however, have adopted the joint primary acts so that both parties held caucuses together in the cities of Cambridge, Chelsea, Gloucester, Lawrence, Lowell, Medford, Newton, Quincy, Salem, Somerville, Waltham and the towns of Middleboro and Revere today. The republican primaries in these places, except where there were local contests, were not well attended, owing to an absence of any struggle whatever for nominations on the state ticket. In Waltham, however, one of the cities of the fourth congressional district, a fight for the republican nomination between H. L. Pierce of that place and William H. Wilder of Gardner brought out a fairly heavy vote.

On Thursday the delegates will be taken to Niagara Falls and other places of interest and royally entertained, all at the expense of the city of Buffalo. The convention, it is expected, will be one of the greatest yet held in this country in the interests of the Irish cause.

COL. ROOSEVELT

Makes Attack on State Committee for Favoring Sherman

SARATOGA, Sept. 27.—Col. Roosevelt was elected temporary chairman of the republican state convention after a lively discussion this afternoon. His opponent was Vice President Sherman.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS
SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The state convention of the republican party opened in this city today. A bitter fight is expected between the factions headed respectively by Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman.

Colonel Roosevelt early today authorized the following statement: "The conduct of a majority of the state committee last evening puts in the clearest light what this contest really is. The statements of Messrs. Griscom, Krulwittch, Kracke, Wamanager and Henkel prove conclusively the trickery that was used in the effort to win a majority and keep the management of the party under the control of the men who have discredited it by their actions. There has never been a state convention to which it was better worth going than this; for never in another has the issue been so clearly drawn between cleanliness and honesty in public life and that peculiar baseness in political management which has made the very word 'politician' obnoxious to the president. Our fight is squarely against corruption and the unclean bossism which has bred corruption. The men who by trickery kept control of the state committee and who now come here in the effort to dominate the convention are the very men who are responsible for the corruption which produced Allds and for all that has been discreditable in the party management; and now there deeply discredited bosses resent the effort of the president, the effort of the plain people who make up the great bulk of the republican party to rescue that party from the factions which have used it only to further their own base and selfish purposes."

PRESIDENT TAFT TO PUT ASSISTANT POSTMASTERS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—It was announced today that President Taft will issue an order extending the civil service to include all assistant and second and third class postmasters. Eight thousand are affected.

IRISH LEAGUE CONVENTION
BUFFALO, Sept. 27.—With four members of parliament, John Redmond, Joseph Devlin, Daniel Boyle and T. P. O'Connor present as special delegates attending the fifth biennial convention of the United Irish League of America began its sessions in this city today.

"As soon as the power of the house of lords to reject or obstruct any bill they want to be destroyed," said Mr. Redmond, "we shall have home rule."

MUST PAY TAILOR
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Robert E. Chanler must pay his tailor, W. Barnes, $1062 in satisfaction of a judgment obtained by Barnes in the city court and filed in the county court's office today or find his property subject to levy.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 27.—Twenty-two cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the state board of health today. Ten of the cases are from Newport and are not all of very recent origin, as this is the first time that city has been heard from. The cases reported today make the total number 153 since June 1.

BASEBALL

CENSUS RETURNS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Census returns: Somerville, Mass., 77,236, an increase of 15,593 or 25.3 per cent over 61,643 in 1900.

Newton, Mass., 39,586, an increase of 6219 or 15.6 per cent over 33,367 in 1900.

ascertainment and enforcement of the popular will. Application of the relevant provisions of the corrupt practices act."

Though Mr. Barnes concedes the defeat of Vice President Sherman for temporary chairman, he indicated that there would be a warm fight on the floor of the convention. State Chairman Woodruff will make a statement defining the position of the "old guard" with respect to the selection by the state committee of Vice President Sherman and Mr. Barnes may also have something to say.

Former State Senator Ellsberg and

COL. ROOSEVELT.

Roosevelt Cheered
The legend that statesmen are punctually late applied with equal force today to the leaders of the "old guard" and the "progressives" who gathered tardily at the opening of the republican state convention. Not so the delegates or the spectators. Col. Roosevelt was the first to come. He came at noon and started round of applause.

Shortly after Vice-President Sherman took his seat and the demonstration shook the building for several minutes.

vention to order at 12.05 and asked that the aisles be cleared. After the prayer by the Rev. Joseph Cary of Saratoga the convention began the regular order of business.

"Officer," cried Chairman Woodruff, "put every spectator out of a delegate's seat."

The police force, consisting of one patrolman, asked Colonel Roosevelt if he was a delegate.

"Tell Roosevelt to use the 'big stick,'" cried a delegate amid a general laugh.

Secretary Gleason read the call for the convention and the roll call followed.

"The next order of business is the election of a temporary chairman," said Chairman Woodruff.

"There was a hush, then a ripple of applause after which Chairman Woodruff, addressing the convention, said:

Woodruff's Statement
"Fellow delegates of this, the most important and far-reaching convention of the republican party, which any one of us has ever attended:

"I have been instructed by the republican state committee to recommend to this convention a temporary chairman and in doing so I ask your indulgence for a moment."

"The election of a temporary chairman of this convention is a crucial and-ends for the most careful consideration by every man who is about to vote on it."

"President Taft deeply desired that his party here in convention assembled, representing the largest and most potent of the republican constituency of the United States, should, unequivocally, endorse his administration. This is known from personal knowledge as the result of a visit two weeks before the meeting of the state committee to the summer capital at Beverly. There he made known not only his desires but also his apprehensions."

"To allay these apprehensions what more natural than the selection to make the keynote speech as temporary chairman of him who has been sent to speak for the administration to all parts of the country, even into the president's own state of Ohio, the vice-president of the United States, James S. Sherman. Whom else, indeed, could the state committee unless actuated by ulterior motives even think of to speak for the national administration in this, his own state, which with unanimity and enthusiasm presented him two years ago at Chicago as the choice for the second highest office in the gift of the people, a selection sanctioned and supported by the very men who are now, it is alleged, opposing him for the position of temporary chairman of this convention."

"I want to make clear once for all why the vice president was elected and also to indicate the propriety and, indeed, the necessity of the selection by the state committee of the temporary chairman at the meeting for fixing the time and place of the convention. This precedent was wisely established two years ago when Senator Root, then premier of the then national administration, was selected at the meeting of the state committee, held a month before the convention. Such a course was and is necessary for the proper and dignified conduct of our conventions. As chairman of the state committee, no one had suggested to me or to any other member of the committee the name of any other person than the vice president as temporary chairman until Mr. Griscom, sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name for that of Vice President Sherman after the latter's name had been properly presented."

"What was the object of this action? The correspondence between Colonel Roosevelt and myself just after the meeting of the state committee shows more clearly than can otherwise be presented that his opposition to the selection of Vice President Sherman was not based on any personal grounds but because he desired an opportunity to present his views as the policies which should hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party."

WATER SHUT OFF

Because Water Bills Had Not Been Paid

Considerable distress is felt in certain quarters because of the fact that tenants in a block in Broughton avenue, Centralville, where the water had been cut off by the water department, resorted to the Merrimack river for water, presumably for domestic purposes.

The water was shut off yesterday and was turned on again this forenoon because the bank that owns or has charge of the property, paid the back water bills. Under the ordinance there is no other alternative for the water department but to shut off the water when consumers refuse or neglect to pay their water bills.

The matter was reported to the board of health and at a special meeting held this forenoon the board of health voted to send the following communication to the water board:

Gentlemen:
The board of health views with considerable concern the action of the water board which precipitated the shutting off of the city water from a tenement property on Front street, and forced the occupants to use polluted river water even for one day.

Particularly at this time, when the board is struggling to stamp out an already existing typhoid epidemic, nothing could have happened which would have so forcibly presented the inadvisability of such an action. While we quite understand that the water board was simply following its usual custom, and enforcing an existing ordinance, in shutting off the water supply from these tenements, we still feel that the custom is a bad one, and should be immediately changed. The Merrimack river is an open sewer for Manchester, Nashua, Lowell and the towns, and the water is unsafe for drinking purposes.

We therefore request that immediate attention be given to this matter, and that such action be taken by the water board as shall change this existing ordinance so that this charge can become a lien upon the property like regular taxes, street watering assessments, etc., and the innocent tenants shall not be made to suffer.

Yours truly,
G. Forrest Martin, M.D.,
Chairman.
Leonard Huntress, M.D.

Not one of us supposed that your name would be presented without your notifying Ward, the national committeeman, or me, the chairman of the state committee, that you wished it done, and I never was so much surprised in my life as when Griscom made the motion which he did. Not a word had been said to me before the meeting by anybody that

6 O'CLOCK WAS FOUND NOT GUILTY Man Was Arraigned in Court on Larceny Charge

Sherlock Holmes never had anything on Special Police Officer Joseph Kennedy, for according to the testimony offered by him in a case in police court this morning, nothing fences him.

The case in question looked simple at the start, but developed into a long drawn out affair.

Max Cohen was charged with the larceny of a bushel of oats and a bushel of shorts from the barn of James Stuart. James Stuart resides on the East-Draught road in the town of Draught, while the defendant lives in Methuen. The shorts were stolen, according to the complaint, from James Stuart while the oats were stolen from the son, James I. Stuart.

The Stuarts testified that during the week past they purchased the goods from people in Lawrence and brought them to their stable in Draught, and that some time during the early hours of Sunday the goods were stolen.

Officer Kennedy of Draught was the principal witness. During the course of his testimony he said that after he had been notified by one of the complainants of the alleged larceny, he left his home, visited the stable of the defendant and found the goods.

After being notified that a larceny had been committed at the Stuart place he made an investigation. He said that he discovered that there was a trail on the road which showed that a wagon had left the stable, the imprints of the particular wagon being plainly outlined on the road on which the rain had been falling. Then again there was a trail of oats and shorts, and furthermore there were the marks of the imprint of a horseshoe which showed that there was a mark of a caulk on the shoe and also the peculiar make of the shoe, which he followed from the scene of the alleged larceny to the barn in which Mr. Cohen's horse was stabled.

Mr. Kennedy told the court how he had followed the footprints from the place where he discovered them in front of the barn in which the complainants keep their horses to the barn owned by the defendant.

Officer Kennedy also testified that he saw food in the stable of the defendant that led him to believe that a larceny had been committed.

On the other hand the defendant, together with his wife and several other witnesses, testified that the defendant had been in bed when the alleged larceny was committed. The wife and her husband and neighbors said that Cohen could not have left the house without their knowledge.

The court after considering the case found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Jacob O'Sullivan appeared for the complainants while Edward McNally of Lawrence represented the defendant.

Asleep at the Switch

Robert A. Breed was ordered to pay a fine of $2 in court this morning for drunkenness.

Writ of Habeas Corpus

James T. Ganley was brought into court this morning charged with attempted larceny from the store of Lull & Hartford in Central street. Last week he was before the court charged with larceny and probable cause having been found he was held for the grand jury. In default of bail he was committed to jail and this morning was brought into court on a writ of habeas corpus. Through his counsel, Joseph E. Loughran, a plea of not guilty was entered and his case was continued until October 4.

Man of Many Names

John Krawczyk, who has been arrested for drunkenness on various occasions, has been in the habit of giving different names when placed under custody. Yesterday he appeared in court and after giving one of his names was held over until today in order to ascertain his record. His record was very damaging and this morning he was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Insulted Women

Octave Penel pleaded guilty to being drunk but owing to the fact that he had been arrested before and that the arresting officer said he had been insulting women he was ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Other Offenders

Michael McDermott and Dennis J. Bayes, charged with being drunk, were sent to the state farm. James Cunningham was ordered to pay a fine of $6, while several others were fined the usual $2, and a few were released.

DIV. 8, A. O. H. HELD A VERY INTERESTING MEETING LAST NIGHT

Division 8, A. O. H., held a very largely attended meeting last night in Hibernian hall. Ten members were initiated and fifteen propositions for membership were received. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and remarks were made by the officers who explained that a lively campaign has been planned for the winter season. A committee of ten members was named to arrange for a social and dance to be held on a date to be decided upon by the committee. This division has decided, as previously announced, to become affiliated with the military branch of the A. O. H., and already has sixty members enrolled. A meeting of these members will be held next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Hibernian hall.

STREET RAILWAY IS LAYING MORE NEW RAILS IN MERRIMACK STREET

The street railway company is laying new rails in Merrimack street on the city hall side of the railroad crossing in Dutton street. The laying of new iron is preparatory to the smooth paving of Merrimack street from the railroad crossing to Tilden street. It was stated some time ago that it would be necessary to hold off on this particular piece of smooth paving until something definite was decided upon relative to the extension of Dummer street, but that matter has moved so slowly that it will for it would mean an indefinite delay.

HICKEY—The funeral of Miss Mary A. Hickey took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from her home, 58 Jewett street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Francis Mullin. The choir under the direction of Mr. Thomas P. Doulier sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Griffin and Mr. Boulger. Miss Carolyn White presiding at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased was held and expressing the profound sorrow felt at her early demise. Among these were a pillow inscribed "Our Mamie" from the family; standing wreath and cross on base inscribed "Mamie" from Henry McLaughlin; wreath on base inscribed "Mamie," Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Johnson; cross on base inscribed "At Peace With God," from the employees of Massachusetts Weave room; cross on base, Miss Catherine Slavin; large basket inscribed "With God," Miss Anna Fay; large wreath from friends; sprays from Miss Jennie Wilson, Miss Winnie Welch, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Monahan, Mrs. Sullivan and daughter, Mr. Charles Troupe and a large spray from a friend. Father Mullin read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LIGHT KEEPER Was Found Dead at New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 27.—As Captain Hardy of the steamer Richard Peck, bound from New York, was bringing his vessel up the harbor last night he discovered that the lightkeeper on the end of Long Wharf was dead. When he had made a landing he telephoned to the home of the lightkeeper, Thomas Wilson, giving notice of that fact. His message led to an investigation and the body of the keeper was found by his son and brother lying face down on the platform under the light with a pool of blood about the face. A coroner to the medical examiner, Wilson was stricken with heart failure and suffered a hemorrhage also, apparently just as he was about to light the big red beacon.

QUIET PRIMARIES TEXTILE SCHOOL

Caucuses Opened Without Incident Opened Today for the Fall Term--- This Morning Increased Registration

The day school year of the Lowell Textile school begins today and the evening school year will begin October 17th. Examinations of applicants for the evening school will be held every Thursday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. Many old students put in an appearance today and there was quite a list of new students. The total number of students was considerably greater than on opening day last year.

The new building on Colonial avenue which was finished this summer and in which are included the woolen department, chemistry and dyeing department, opened today, and this big addition means increased efficiency. The courses this year are the same as last year.

Herman H. Bachmann, a German American and a man of wide experience in the textile business, will succeed Fenwick Umpleby and will have charge of the department of designing and power weaving.

Ralph Gullion, a graduate of Springfield Training school, is a new comer. He will teach physical culture, will have charge of the gymnasium work and, incidentally, will coach the football team.

The day classes at the Lowell Textile school are especially intended for the instruction of those whose intention it is to enter the business of textile manufacturing in any branch. The courses are sufficiently complete to enable one to start without any previous acquaintance with textiles, but at the same time those who have been engaged in such business and wish to improve their knowledge and experience, can with profit pursue a course of study at the school. Each course covers a period of three years, at the satisfactory completion of which the regular diploma of the school is awarded.

The evening classes are for those who are engaged during the day in mills and work shops, to enable them to perfect their knowledge of the branches in which they work, to acquire knowledge of other processes than those in which they are regularly engaged, and to complete in the course of several winters, a thorough technical education without interfering with their daily duties.

Light Vote All Over the City During Early Hours—Ward 4 Alone Showed Activity at Opening of Polls—Candidates Were Busy Last Night

If this were an election day the wisecracks would shake their heads and aver that it meant democratic success.

Unfortunately for democratic hopes it is only caucus day when both parties are nominating their own candidates for the fight yet to come.

The caucuses today opened at 11 o'clock instead of at noon and will close at 8 instead of 9 as formerly. The basement of city hall was the scene of great activity during the early morning hours. The police who guard the 27 polling places are obliged to report to the city clerk several hours before the opening of the polls and take with them in job wagons the ballot boxes, ballot check lists, etc., which for a few days previous have been secretly guarded night and day by police officers. The last precinct, 1 of ward 2, which is nearly, went out at 10:30 o'clock.

The polls opened promptly at 11 o'clock and outside of ward 4 there was practically nothing doing for the first hour. In ward four there were signs of life but nothing startling.

In all precincts the indications at noon were that the caucuses of both parties would be comparatively light. The rain which started to come down just as the mills were dismissing for dinner undoubtedly kept many working people away from the polls during the noon hour and was responsible for a great activity on the part of the candidates who have contests on their hands to get carriages out earlier than usual.

All candidates were busy last evening although there was comparatively little excitement about town.

Messrs. Casey and Carmichael held several rallies which drew out fair sized audiences, while the republican candidates visited the Middlesex School, the Centralville and Pawtucketville Social clubs and other semi-political clubs where informal rallies were held.

There was unusual activity in the 17th district last night among the friends of Reps. Barlow and Marchand. The only two candidates in the ward to declare their preference in the Ames-Lodge contest. The report got around that two of the candidates against them were Lodge men under cover, and that the Lodge forces were making a special fight in that district. As a result the friends of the two candidates were out personally soliciting all their friends to vote for Messrs. Barlow and Marchand. If the Ames people gave any assistance to the two candidates it didn't appear on the surface.

Senatorial Candidate Best was a busy man explaining how he was let down on the ballot and he made it strong that the officials of the republican city council found it expedient to make an explanation over their signatures in a local paper exonerating themselves from any blame in the matter. In the same paper Candidate Best had a lengthy communication which intimated that his inexperience was taken advantage of by the local machine.

Hon. James B. Casey and Col. Carmichael were both around the polling places from the opening of the polls. The former spending considerable time in ward four, his own ward, where he expected a good vote will be polled.

Senator Hibbard was met at several polling places making a general tour and talking with lieutenants whom he had stationed at the different precincts. Mr. Best was around in his auto. Mr. Varnum was not seen during the early part of the voting but was heard to say that he had given up the fight after the discovery of his mistake in not pledging his delegates was made, though the rumor was not confirmed, and later in the day he appeared at the polling places.

Everything was quiet and Sunday-like in wards eight and nine where there are no small contests.

ALIENATION SUIT

Damages Amounting to $100,000 Asked

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Alfred P. Ellsworth yesterday filed with the county clerk a summons and complaint in a suit for $100,000 damages for alienation of affections against Harry Shimer, a New York egg commission merchant. Shimer's answer has not yet been filed.

In his complaint Ellsworth accuses Shimer with having persuaded Mrs. Ellsworth, whom he married Feb. 14, 1898, to leave her home twice and go away with him. Ellsworth also charges that the divorce action which Mrs. Ellsworth brought in July, 1908, which he says was later discontinued, was instigated by Shimer, who had induced Mrs. Ellsworth to leave her husband's apartments in Brooklyn.

Later Mrs. Ellsworth returned to him, her husband says, and he spent $1500 fitting up another apartment. After Mrs. Ellsworth was settled in the new apartment, Ellsworth alleges that Shimer called her on the telephone and induced her to run away again with him by promise of motor car trips and other inducements.

Ellsworth alleges that his wife belittled the preparations he had made for their resumption of housekeeping,

VICE PRESIDENT
IS THE CHOICE OF THE STATE COMMITTEE

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—By a vote of 23 to 15, the republican state committee, at a special meeting last night, reaffirmed its selection of Vice-President Sherman over Theodore Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the state convention, which will convene today.

Chairman Woodruff read a letter from Vice-President Sherman, asking for an investigation by the committee of the charge that his selection for temporary chairman of the state convention was brought about through trickery, and saying that if such charge were substantiated he would not care to serve.

"As you know, I had no ambition to preside over the state convention to convene tomorrow. As you also know, I was asked to preside, not alone because it was known that in response to the president's request I had spoken of the administration and for him on several occasions in different sections of the country; because it was known I had been a staunch supporter of the President during his entire term of office; because I was known to be an especially ardent supporter and advocate of the basic principles of the party. My name was presented in the state committee in accordance with custom in state and nation. I solicited no man's support. I consented to act as a service to my party, not to gratify a personal ambition. In that respect I had none.

"The charge has since been made in some quarters that my selection was accomplished in the state committee by means of deception and misrepresentation. I do not believe it. So far as I am personally concerned, I know the statement to be absolutely unfounded. Even to do the party service, I am unwilling to serve in the face of such a charge if well founded. I therefore ask that the committee meet tonight and the charge so publicly made be with equal directness and publicity investigated; that the majority of the state committee who originally favored my selection may each declare whether or not his preference was based upon any statement which bore any color of misrepresentation or deception for it such be the fact I ask that my name be not presented to the convention for its temporary presiding officer tomorrow.

To Prevent Business Concerns From Deceiving Banks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—In order to prevent corporations, firms and individuals from borrowing to the extent of their credit in their own cities, then going elsewhere and doing the same, Comptroller of the Currency Murray has decided upon the establishment of a central credit bureau in Washington where will be recorded all such borrowings from national banks.

commanding David to play and sing before him at his encampment. The second act shows the Israelitish camp at Elah, which has been harassed by the Philistines for forty days and nights. Goliath, the mighty giant of Gath, has repeatedly challenged any of Saul's army to meet him in single combat, but no one has been found who is brave enough to go against him. The capture of a "notorious Edomite" while engaged in an act of treachery brings upon Saul one of his mad spells, and he raises his javelin to strike the traitor to the earth, when David, by his singing and his playing, charms away the king's anger and restores his reason. Again comes the fierce challenge of Goliath. David offers to meet him with his sling, and the death of the boasting monster at the hands of the shepherd forms the climax of the act.

Act three is the throne room of the palace of Gibeah two years later. Saul has begun to fear and hate David and a great jealousy takes possession of his heart. His eldest daughter Merab, having learned from the prophet Samuel that David is to become king at the death of Saul, now seeks his love, but David is constant to Michal, whose life he saved and whom the king has promised to him for his wife. He is also comforted by the strong friendship of Jonathan, who has learned that of which David has not yet dreamed, that at his father's death it is David and not he who is to become king. In an outburst of anger Saul attempts to slay David but his life is saved by the little bond-maid, Adora, who rushes between them and receives the javelin's thrust. David turns upon the king and denounces him for his wickedness, and amid the flashing of the lightning and the rolling of the thunder of the gathering storm that proclaims Jehovah's wrath, he denounces his command and rushes out into the night.

The first scene in the fourth act takes place in the cave of the witch of Endor six months later, where Saul has come to learn something of the future. The spirit of Samuel appears to him and foretells his death and that of his son. The last scene is in the courtyard of the palace next day. Saul and his army have been routed, his son slain and himself mortally wounded. The arrival of David turns defeat into victory. He is reunited to Michal and upon Saul's death ascends the throne.

The story is of intense interest and enthralls the audience from the very rise of the curtain upon the first act. Interwoven with stirring stories of warfare, jealousy and intrigue are most tender and captivating love scenes exquisitely portrayed, the whole producing an inspiring effect upon those who follow it with rapt attention to the fall of the last curtain.

The beauty of the play itself is greatly enhanced by the elaborate and historically accurate scenery and costumes. The possibilities of the artistic stage manager would appear to have reached the limit in the setting representing the camp of Saul in the vale of Elah, with a distant river casting forth its scintillating rays in the moonlight with the camp in the darkened foreground. The cave of the witch of Endor is also a marvel of the stagecraft. Every scene in fact presents a remarkable stage setting.

Mr. Lorimer received curtain call after curtain call at the close of each act, the enthusiasm of the audience was general and spontaneous and reached its height after his rendition of the 23d psalm. He was most ably supported and armingly vithal by Miss Margot Merriman as Princess Michal, Miss Adora as Princess Merab and Miss Ruth Copley as Adora. Bernice Belknap as the witch of Endor was most gracefully and captivately and made a charming centerpiece for one of the most bewilderingly beautiful scenes in the play. Charles D. Hermon as Saul, J. Irving White as Prince Jonathan, Daniel Giffether as Jesse, the father of David, did excellent work and the minor characters were all in good hands.

"The Shepherd King" is one of the plays of a lifetime and everyone in Lowell should see it. "The Shepherd King" will be presented all week.

FRANK DANIELS.

Frank Daniels, comedian by gift of nature, comes to the Opera House next Tuesday, October 4, in "The Belle of Brittany," a musical comedy which the Messrs. Shubert selected for him as Mr. Daniels' first starring vehicle under their management. First produced at Daly's theatre, New York, the play met with generous approval. On four Mr. Daniels was told that he had the best play of his career. So successful was the tour that the play is being retained as eminently suited to the talents of the "funny little fellow." The piece was originally played in London. The score is by Howard Talbot, composer of "A Chinese Honeymoon," the lyrics by Percy Greenbank and the book by Leedham Bantock and P. J. Barrow. Marie Horne has contributed additional numbers. The company in support of Mr. Daniels is a large one.

"THE BLUE MOUSE"

A girl who wants to be petted all of the time is "The Blue Mouse" in the play of the same name, which Clyde Fitch recently adapted from the German. The piece was presented recently in New York and it met with such instant and overwhelming favor that it remained in Manhattan for over a year. A duplicate of the New York company has been sent on tour with Wanda Ludlow as the Mouse. The farce will be seen here for the first time next week at the Opera House.

THOMAS A. WISE

Few stars have written a successful play, but Thos. A. Wise, co-author and star of "A Gentleman From Mississippi," which will be the offering at the Opera House soon, is one of the conspicuous examples. It is a tribute to the genius of Wm. A. Brady that he accepted the manuscript on the first reading. The entire original cast which was seen in the play's memorable sixteen weeks' run at the Park theatre, Boston, last season, will appear here.

BLANCHE RING.

Blanche Ring, a comedienne, always warmly welcomed in Lowell is among the early attractions announced for the Opera House. Miss Ring continues under the management of Lew Fields and Frederick McKay in a musical play by George V. Hobart and Sylvio Helm, called "The Yankee Girl," which was first staged at the Herald Square theatre, N. Y. Needless to say Miss Ring returns with a new group of popular Ring songs, her new songs including "The Top O' the Morning," "Lisuliana Elizabeth," "The Wise Fisherman," "Nora Malone," "Rings On My Fingers," is still in her repertoire. The comedienne's supporting company includes Harry Gilford, Bertha Shalek, William E. Carleton, Halliday and Curley Marguerite Wright, Cyril King, Juan Williams, Paul Porter, E. J. Caldwell, Fannie Skidston, Margaret Malcolm and William De Bail.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Something which never happened and something which will probably never happen, although you cannot sometimes, always tell—was brought to the attention of the theatre going public of this city yesterday afternoon and last evening when John B. Hymer, that offervent comedian presented "Tom Walker on Mars."

Undoubtedly you never witnessed the sketch before, therefore take the advice of one who knows a good thing and wend your way to the box office of Hathaway's theatre and purchase a ticket. The piece, itself, is difficult to describe, the only way to learn its real worth or find out what it is by attending one of the performances.

It is true that "Tom Walker" makes a deal with the devil whereby he delivers his soul to his satanic majesty, but what of that, "Tom" is to be given a real good feed as a result. Does he get it? He does—not.

up in a new way. It reminds us of a farce in "Faust," for when the curtain drops on the sketch the audience is given a chance to think of the principal character, the devil, who is nothing more or less than "Mephistopheles" in Faust, although the scene is different.

The sketch is mythical but nevertheless interesting and enjoyable. After "Walker" signs the paper transferring his soul to the devil he is sent to Mars where he meets people who have lived for thousands of years. On that planet there are no people who have ever committed sin—but after "Tom Walker" and his other half and the devil get there the latter spread the teachings of the lower planet which include sin. Everything is going along in a rosy manner, "Tom" is trimming the life out of the ladies of the planet, the different ginks and other officials owing to the fact that he has loaded dice, until the devil starts to dictate to "Tom" and then comes the trouble which leads up to the death of the devil.

Hymer who takes the part of Walker is very good and the same may be said of David Walters, who portrays "Prince Inferno." The "Queen of Mars," as carried out by Miss Leona Leigh is worthy of favorable mention and "Cooking Link," the other half of "Tom Walker," despite the fact that he does not speak, but grants is responsible in no small measure for the success of the piece.

Helen Royton and her company present "Alas Irish Tossie." The sketch shows how a clever woman shoplifter gets the better of a detective. Her manner of outwitting the store detective is very clever and as a result of her work she relieves store after store of valuables and then removes to another city.

She almost meets her Waterloo, however, when "Bill Keegan," a central office detective puts in an appearance and "gets her dead to rights." The situation, however, does not freeze her in the least for she shows that she is clever by leading her captor to think that she has taken nothing more or less than cologne. She then succeeds in outwitting the detective and shipping him away in a trunk.

Mamie Harnish is one real big hit. She is the candy girl all right. She is a good singer, a better story teller, a good dancer—well she is one of the best entertainers that has visited Hathaway's theatre for a long time. She has one of those naughty twinkles in her eyes which attracts the attention of the audience and by no means is her twinkle "the only attraction." If you want to have a good laugh, hear some good songs and have a chance to think over stories which she tells just drop in and listen to Mamie.

The remainder of the bill is exceptionally good, including Marino, the drunk on the wire; Wolf, Moore and Young, a clever trio; Sanson and Della, sensational athletes; Jimmy Doherty, the singing comedian and the moving pictures.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

If you judge by applause and laughter the show at the Academy must be the best yet. Gibson and Ramney have a cowboy sketch that is a corker and he wins his bride in real cowboy fashion. Zelaya is certainly the king of the piano, his selections are well chosen and his execution perfect. Green & Parker are a very clever pair and their work was appreciated. The pictures are new and well chosen. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

That this continent is as rich in natural scenery as Europe was never better shown than at the Theatre Voyons today. One of the subjects entitled "The Sergeant" was photographed in Yellowstone park and while the beautiful backgrounds do not interfere with the interest of the picture they show how magnificent this portion of our country is. Another picture of a like nature is "An Unselfish Love," the outdoor portions of which were taken in the Canadian northwest and give several most interesting glimpses of the farming industry there. The comedy subjects are sure to raise a laugh and the songs are just right. The ladies should remember the Big 10 matinee are continued all this week and each lady will receive a full sized package free.

STAR THEATRE

Crowded houses are the rule at the Star theatre this week where Dolly Clifford and her big company of girls and comedians are showing. Twelve pretty girls and four comedians working in front of special scenery and electrical effects complete a lively two and one-half hours' show.

Tomorrow night Jim Prokos and Capurmes of Montreal, will wrestle for the middle-weight championship in addition to the big regular show. The regular prices, ten and fifteen cents, will prevail on the special nights, too.

On Friday night the amateurs and the hook will be in order.

Next week Tiny Davis and her big company will be at the theatre. There will be an entire change of faces, olio acts and everything.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Bright, breezy, "different," that is what the bill at the new Merrimack Square theatre, in Paige street, is this week. It is even better than on the opening week and there will be witnessed the opening performances will appreciate just how very much that means.

An excellent sample of just how good the program this week is, is the act presented by the Heidelberg Four. They are billed as "vaudeville's sweetest harmony singers," and with reason, for they have one of the most pleasing singing acts seen in Lowell in many months. Each of the four has an excellent voice, full toned and rich and sweet, yet with plenty of volume. The songs are all new, too, and sung with a vim and go and the sort of harmony that makes you want to join right in on the choruses.

Everything in the act is in harmony from the singing to the costume. The quartet appears in the brilliant uniform of some gay German student society, and though the act is light and refreshing, there is nothing suggesting anything but the most delightful comedy. The solos are especially good, too.

Something different is the one act play, "Dr. George," presented by the Scenic Stock company and written by the company's leading man, George S. Mackey. The play is a story of modern life involving a husband, Dr. George, played by Mr. Mackey; his wife, played by Miss Bessie Overton, and a very mutual friend, played by Fred L. Sutton. There is an intensely interesting plot based on the love of the physician's wife for the friend Karl and involving with unexpected and tragic results an invention of the physician. The whole is dramatic in the extreme and is bound to grip the attention of an audience, while the climax is as forceful as the original.

The presentation of the play was just what was needed to bring out its best qualities. Mr. Mackey as Dr. George of the plot made the very most of his opportunities, and Miss Overton carried the role of the wife without overdoing what might easily have been spoiled. Here was a delicate role to act, but Miss Overton gave a delightful interpretation. Mr. Sutton as the friend Karl was entirely adequate.

George S. Lauder, the Australian ventriloquist, created no end of amusement with his galaxy of mannikins, their small talk and their intensely funny gyrations—they were all of that. The act is along the usual lines of the sort, but more elaborate than is customary and exceptionally well done.

Mr. Lauder, proved himself a most quiet of splendid ability ventriloquist. Murphy and Andrews furnish some real comedy in their topical sketches, parodies and some witty local lines which brought down the house yesterday. They have some imitations which catch an audience from the word go and they keep their act at the top pitch of laughter and go from curtain to curtain.

The Kolo Trio of acrobats are better than the run by far. They have a "straight" act without any attempt at comedy or clown stunts, and they do some really wonderful things in the way of tumbling and balancing.

Four films of moving pictures of comedy and tragedy, with a lesson or two and some interesting exhibition scenes, are interspersed on the bill. The whole makes a program very worth the seeing.

PRAISE LARGE CHARITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Reports on the conditions of Catholic charities from practically all parts of the country, were read yesterday at the forenoon session of the first national conference of Catholic Charities, which was held at the Catholic University of America, and was presided over by James F. Kennedy of Chicago. Most of the reports dealt with the question of fairness or unfairness of state charities and institutions to Catholic interests.

Practically all the reports declare that the administrations of state boards of charity are fair and just and that there is no effort on the part of state institutions to interfere with the religious and spiritual interests of Catholics. Committees reported from the following states: New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, Nebraska, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Arkansas, Oregon, Louisiana, District of Columbia, New Hampshire, Missouri, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Virginia, Georgia and Iowa.

"Yes," said the shoe dealer, "more than half the people wear larger shoes than is necessary, especially in the hot weather, when the feet sweat and puff." Give the feet a pleasant, cooling Eaz-all-bath every night for a few days and you can wear smaller shoes, as well as keep the feet comfortable and free from stinging and burning. Eaz-all is the only mentholated foot preparation, and hence it is as cooling and soothing to the feet as water from a sparkling fountain. ## MAYOR GAYNOR

Says He is Not a Candidate for Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mayor Gaynor issued last night, for the first time, a formal statement that he is not a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Nowhere in the statement does the mayor say, however, what course he will pursue in the event the nomination is thrust upon him.

He indicates that he prefers to serve his full term as mayor, but at the same time he emphasizes that he feels no moral obligation to do so.

The statement, dated St. James, L. I., Sept. 26, in the form of a letter to John A. Dix, chairman of the democratic state committee, follows:

"Dear Sir:—I have further considered the matter as you requested when you called on me here with Mr. Mack last Wednesday, but can only reiterate to you that I am not a candidate for nomination for governor. This must have been well known all along, for I have written it to many people during the last six months.

"I am not influenced in my course by assertions made here and there that I made an agreement or compact, during the mayoralty campaign to serve out the four years if elected. These false assertions are made by persons who opposed me and voted against me, and would do so again.

"I made no such agreement. I certainly did not with those who opposed me and voted against me. I could have had no compact with them. It takes two sides to make a compact. Nor did I make it with those who nominated and supported me. They did not ask for it.

"I did say of my own motion and at the request of no one that I proposed to devote the next four years to the service of the city. But this only started a hue and cry against me that I should make a pledge or compact to that effect, which I refused to do. And if I had made a pledge, that could not prevent the voters from electing me in some other office.

"I am well aware, as has been pointed out to me, that there are some large things which a governor could readily do for the city of New York, by oversight and legitimate interference which the mayor of the city cannot do without much time and difficulty, if at all.

"Among them I may mention the planning and construction of a comprehensive system of subways, with a single fare over the whole system, which, in the discordance or duality of government, be both, now existing in that city, is a difficult and protracted matter.

"But, nevertheless, my wish to remain as mayor is such that I do not care to become a candidate for nomination for governor. May I add that as a matter of fact the office of mayor of the city of New York, considering the power and the constant occasion for the exercise of the highest functions of free government lodged in it, is second to no office in this country, save one.

"Many tell me and write me that in taking this course I give up my future. But I shall not take myself or my future into consideration. None of us has a future, but only the present. And if I thought I had a future, I should be content to entrust it to the people of the city of New York.

"I trust that the convention will nominate some one who is not a mere dealer in the political compromises and jingles of the last 25 or 30 years, but who has kept pace and grown with the times, and whose absorbing purpose will be to make the government of the state, in all its branches, general and local, intelligent, honest and

QUIET AFTERNOON

Up to 4 o'clock this afternoon a light vote was reported at all the caucuses and the candidates are banking on a rush after 6 o'clock. As the polls close one hour earlier this year than previously it is believed that many into comers will fail to get an opportunity to vote.

Nothing had occurred up to the time of going to press of an unusual nature at any of the polling places. There was a temporary rush during the noon hour which was expected and was adequately handled by the caucus officials.

JIMMIE GARDNER Appears in Town in Fine Shape

Jimmie Gardner came to town this afternoon looking better than he has for a year. He is right down to weight and states that he has never felt better. He has been training for several weeks at South Framingham and Natick and the effect of his work appears on him. He has matches on with Hough and Klaus and relative to the Klaus match, Jimmie states that he is going to contend even the most sceptical this time that he can trim Klaus. He admits that he was in poor condition when he met Klaus at the Army club and is now in fine shape ready and desirous of wiping out the sting of that defeat.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—Push ball will take the place of hazing at the University of Oregon this year. Rivalry between the freshmen and sophomores will be settled by the aid of the big sphere. ## STOCK MARKET

WAS STEADY AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Reading Was a Fraction Under the Closing Price of Yesterday. Other Features of the Dealings Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—First prices of stocks varied only an eighth or a quarter from last night's closing for the principal issues. The amount of orders was insufficient to effect a greater movement. Reading opened unchanged and then sagged 1/8.

Stocks were offered for sale on rallies and the rise which followed the bidding up of Chesapeake & Ohio was lost. Reading and U. P. were sold persistently and their decline dragged down the rest of the market. There were a number of substantial advances in some of the less active stocks.

Traders in stocks watched Reading closely for guidance in their operations. Signs of realizing in that stock and the lack of confirmation for the rumors which gave it strength yesterday had a repressive effect on the speculation. Prices moved upwards gradually toward noon. Bonds were firm.

A sudden upward rush of 1 1/4 in Reading failed to affect the general list much and it soon dropped back to 147, rallying afterwards to near the highest again.

Active stocks began to drop late in the day and the Pacifics, St. Paul, U. S. Steel and several others fell fractionally below yesterday's closing. Reading lost its advance but some minor stocks continued strong.

The market closed steadily. A rather sharp decline in St. Paul kept the general tone heavy. Reading got a fraction under yesterday's closing price.

"While under the table I touch Cox's feet.

I cannot with Lorimer sit down and eat. Fellow citizens of New York, has the correspondence with Mr. and Mrs. Harriman passed from your mind? While the firm was Roosevelt & Harriman, the shooter and railroad men were engaged in a joint plan to get money, and in writing the senior member of the firm assured Harriman that they were both practicing.

"Faithfully yours, 'Theodore Roosevelt'."

"Col. Roosevelt manifestly felt that he dared to propound the doctrine of the new nationalism, admitting with his characteristic frankness that we were right in selecting the vice-president if we preferred the traditional republicanism of William H. Taft founded on the great national administration of Lincoln. Grant, McKinley and Roosevelt himself, for which James S. Sherman with his quarter of a century of splendid service in congress and as vice-president has always stood and stands today. In accordance with the instructions of the state committee I present as temporary chairman of this convention Hon. James S. Sherman."

Col. Roosevelt led the handclapping when President Taft's name was mentioned.

Hisses Were Heard

There were cheers when Vice President Sherman's name developed in the chairman's speech. Hisses punctuated his speech.

"I therefore, on behalf of the state, present the name of Vice President Sherman as its temporary chairman," concluded Chairman Woodruff. Amid the cheers for Mr. Sherman Joseph Hells of Nassau county nominated Col. Roosevelt.

Col. Abner Gruber of New York, selected to fire the broadsides of the "old guard," was recognized and said:

Gruber Spoke

General Abraham Gruber of New York was selected to fire the verbal hot shot for the "old guard." He said:

"Twelve years ago, on this platform, I warned a republican candidate against turning the executive mansion into a shooting gallery. My advice was not needed. Since that memorable day the man who has ever since been shooting has seen his party organization divided in every state, his party's candidates overwhelmingly defeated, business depressed, and the intelligent and honest workmen without employment and hungry. Looking for other fields for shooting practice this man is now shooting at the courts and the judges. Himself posing as a lawyer who never had a case or drew a brief he now finds sport in holding up the courts and judges to the scorn of the mob, while he stands on the head of the barrel. He should be the target of the supreme court and the judges of the New York court of appeals craftily decided important cases.

"Lincoln and I, Taft and I, both did the same thing," cried the shooter. It should have been Bryan and I, and

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

Number of Persons Have Died in the Streets of Naples

ROME, Sept. 27.—With the removal of the censorship startling details of the cholera epidemic at Naples are being revealed. A number of persons have died in the streets and the population excitement is such that the police have great difficulty in maintaining public order. It is reported that 100,000 persons of the better classes already have died from Naples.

HURDY GURDIES

Were Badly Damaged by Fire Early This Morning

An alarm from box 19 at about 2.30 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a lively blaze in a whod in the rear of 28 Summer street, where Michael Grosse's hurdy gurdies were stored. How the fire started is a mystery both to Mr. Grosse and to Chief Hosmer. The machines were practically destroyed.

People in the vicinity were awakened by the glare of light which emanated from the burning building and an alarm was sent in.

Mr. Grosse was early on the scene, having been awakened by the shouts of the people in the vicinity. He does not know the cause of the fire and cannot understand how a fire could have started. There were many machines in the place and his whole outfit is a practical loss.

Fred C. Church carried the insurance on the property.

No Sign of Fire
A telephone alarm shortly before seven o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the department to an alleged fire in the Glidden building in Middlesex street. When the department arrived on the scene there was no sign of a fire, but an investigation showed that some person had left a kettle filled with water and a rag on a stove and neglected to remove it. The water boiled away and the heat then set the rag afire which caused a smoke.

"Ralph Waldo Emerson once said: 'Every hero must become a bore at last. From Schlatter, the healer, to Dowie, the Elijah, and then from Cook to every faker in politics, the cry that roared was loud and long. When detection came the groans were like the thunder and they have not yet died out.

MANSLAUGHTER "PROGRESSIVES"

Charge Against Bennett Was In Control of the New Hampshire Convention

BELFAST, Me., Sept. 27.—The charge of manslaughter against Sidney Bennett of this city for the killing of Mrs. Hattie French Thomas in her home here on February 22 last was not pressed in the supreme court today on motion of County Attorney Buzzel. Bennett and Ira S. Grady, a Unity blacksmith, were indicted on a charge of murder at the April term of the court. Grady was tried last May but not convicted. Then the charge of murder against Bennett was reduced to one of manslaughter and the case continued to this term of court.

MINING CONGRESS

To be Called at Pinchot's Suggestion

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Gifford Pinchot's contention that the conservation idea had taken such a hold on the American people that it was bound to prevail and that it would be wise for the mining and oil men of the country to take up rather than oppose it, is the principal topic of discussion among the delegates to the American Mining congress. Resolutions demanding the enactment of employers' liability laws that will have the effect of rendering mine operators and heads of other industries more cautious and thus protect the lives of their men constituted one of the main subjects for discussion in the resolutions committee today. Other resolutions presented to-day commend the federal bureau of mines for its activity in the direction of lessening the hazard of mining; recommend the establishment of a national chemical or physical laboratory for the development of new and better processes of ore treatment and urge that the bureau devote special attention to assist legitimate mining interests in the task of eliminating "wild cats."

TO ISOLATE CARS

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The government has issued an order that all railroad cars entering Paris from Austria and Italy be isolated in the Bercy depot for medical inspection. Bercy forms a quarter in the southeast of Paris.

Let democrats grasp their opportunity at the primaries today and nominate candidates who can be elected.

A Godsend to Sickly Children

Mr. N. L. Duffee, of Helena, Ala., the thankful father of a little baby girl who was made healthy and fat after she was not expected to live, writes: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the finest of medicines. I have a girl baby, now five months old, who until she was two months old, we hardly saw any chance of raising her. At that time I procured a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and gave her a few drops at a time. Now she is acknowledged to be the finest looking baby in town. Baby is still growing as fast as a pig."

can be safely given to children, no matter what age, in small doses. mittee which was almost unanimously "progressive." All of the state officers, headed by Robert Bass of Peterboro, the "progressive" leader for governor, were chosen at the first direct primaries ever held in this state on Sept. 6.

Dr. John Giles of Hanover was the permanent presiding officer at today's proceedings and his speech with that of Mr. Bass and the adoption of the platform practically opened the fall political campaign in this state for the democratic convention. Disposed of its business on Sept. 22, Clarence Carr of Andover, the democratic gubernatorial nominee of the primaries, will be the chief opponent of Mr. Bass at the polls. The republican state convention today was one of the largest in the history of the party, although the new primary law limited its duties to the adoption of a platform and the election of a state committee.

Judge Oscar L. Young of Laconia, chairman of the republican state committee, called the convention to order at 11:25 a. m. and Rev. William H. Trickey of Tilton, a delegate, offered prayer.

The organization of the convention recommended by the caucus of Monday night was adopted, with Dr. John M. Giles of Hanover as chairman.

The committee on resolutions presented a platform, which was amended by giving a personal endorsement to the work and results of Governor Henry B. Quinn's administration and was then unanimously adopted without debate.

It was voted to increase the number of members of the state committee from 109 to 130, and the election of such committee was the closing business of the convention, which was the most harmonious in the history of the republican party in New Hampshire.

BLEW OPEN SAFE

Burglars Entered the Post Office at Claremont, N. H.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Sept. 27.—Burglars robbed the postoffice here early today while two citizens looked on, blew open the safe and succeeded in escaping with about $450 in cash and stamps. There were seven men in the party of robbers and it is believed they used an automobile, as all those who were seen wore automobile coats.

It was early this morning when W. O. Fuller, who lives in back of the postoffice, observed the men walking around in the building. Mr. Fuller stated that there were six men inside and one on watch in front. They had entered by forcing the bars off a rear window. Another neighbor of Mr. Fuller's, Jeffrey R. Noyes, who lives upstairs, was aroused and both men watched the robbers at work but apparently were too excited to give any alarm. Mr. Noyes had a revolver in his hand but refrained from using it. The burglars blew open the safe and

STANDARDIZATION TEST

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 27.—The standardization test today of the torpedo boat destroyer Perkins, a product of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. of Quincy took on a new interest through a decision of the navy department that builders wishing to establish speed records must do so while accumulating standardization data. It has been found that greater accuracy is obtained in a series of runs over a measured mile course than on high speed endurance runs to sea.

The Perkins began a series of 25 runs, three each at 12, 16, 20, 23, 25, 27½ and 29½ knots and five at the highest possible speed. There is considerable interest in the showing of the Perkins from the fact that she is equipped with Curtis turbine engines while all the other destroyers thus far completed and tried have the Parsons type of turbines.

The Perkins is the fourth of the all-burning type of torpedo boat destroyers to be tried. The Paulding, built at Bath, is the fastest to date, having attained a speed of 33.94 knots an hour on one run over the mile course. The Roe made a fraction in excess of 32 knots on her fastest mile. The Terry off Newport News last Friday developed 32.3 knots speed for the mile. All of the Perkins trials this week will be out of this port.

F. O. Wellington, assistant to the president of the company, has charge of the ship and Rear-Admiral Chauncey Thomas is president of the board of inspection and survey.

DR. GRANT ARRESTED

Is Held in Connection With Death of Eva Swan

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The real name of "Dr. James E. Grant," the man under arrest in connection with the death from an alleged illegal operation of Miss Eva Swan, a young school teacher of Paso Robles, is Dr. Robert Thompson, according to his professional associates in this city.

Thompson is said to have come here about a year ago from Boston, where he is reported to have had a bad record.

Early in the year he bought out the business of Dr. West and put up his sign as "Dr. J. I. Grant," also retaining Dr. West's sign.

His patients at the establishment on Golden Gate avenue knew him as Dr. J. E. Grant and the nurse, Miss Marie Messer Schmidt, who was arrested with him, as Dr. Mary Grant.

The police late Sunday got what they say is conclusive evidence that Dr. James Grant caused the death of Miss Swan.

Miss Schmidt, the trained nurse, has made a confession.

To the detective she said:

"Eva Swan had made two visits to Dr. Grant's office before she came for the operation. The doctor put her on an operating table, but before he was through he became greatly alarmed over her condition.

"She was placed in the doctor's hospital and I nursed her. On the tenth day after the operation she died. Young Paul Parker was a frequent caller on her and she told me he was responsible for her condition.

"Dr. Grant was in a state of great alarm and decided that the body must be removed promptly and he swore both me and Willie Saack, office boy, to secrecy, declaring that we were all in one boat. Then he fetched a trunk from upstairs and began sawing the bones of the dead girl's legs, so he could crowd the corpse into the trunk. He went about this work as though he were butchering an animal and it made so great an impression on me that I fainted. When I came to the doctor was chafing my hands. I told him I couldn't help him, as I couldn't stand the sight, so he told me to go home and brace up.

"I don't know when the body was removed. All I know is that when I came back two days later the trunk was gone."

Parker is a well known Stanford graduate and a prominent athlete. Parker lived in the house where Miss Swan roomed.

When the news was broken to Dr. Grant in his cell that Miss Schmidt had confessed he had a hysterical attack. He sobbed and moaned and declared the woman had sent him to his death.

MANY PETITIONS

Passed Upon by Committee on Sewers

The committee on sewers met last night and gave hearings on various petitions. The committee went a-viewing during the afternoon and acquainted itself with the places mentioned in the petitions.

The matter of relaying the Gorham street sewer between Union and Appleton streets was taken up. City Engineer Bowers said that the present sewer was laid about two years ago and though it is a comparatively new sewer there have been many complaints concerning it. Mr. Bowers allowed that it would cost about $2000 to fix the sewer and Supt. Putnam was instructed to investigate the matter and report to the committee at its next meeting.

A communication to the mayor and board of aldermen, relative to laying a sewer over the Lawrence street bridge, was read. It was stated that the sewer would be used later on in connection with the draining of Wiggsville. It was voted to recommend the sewer.

A Mr. Joyce appeared to remonstrate against the petition of Joseph R. Barrelet for a sewer in Harland avenue. The committee voted to recommend the sewer. Other petitions recommended were: J. Edwin Lyle and others for a sewer in Summit street; George H. Waterhouse and William B. Watson for a sewer in Sanborn street; Nathan N. McEwan for a sewer in Holden street; Caleb L. and Sarah A. Smith for a sewer in Albert street. The petition of Charles L. Marren for a catch basin in Burlington avenue was laid on the table.

FRANK McDEVITT

WATCHMAN AT BROOKLINE COUNTRY CLUB KILLED

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Frank McDevitt, employed as a watchman at the Brookline country club, died at the Massachusetts general hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries received while riding a bicycle on Walnut street near Chestnut street, in Brookline, about 8 in the morning.

McDevitt was on his way home, and when about to descend the Walnut street hill he lost control of the bicycle. It dashed into a tree and McDevitt was thrown forcibly against the tree.

Word was sent to the Brookline police station and Dr. Francis was notified. The injured man was removed to the hospital in the police auto ambulance.

McDevitt did not leave his address at the Country club and it was not until late in the afternoon that his relatives were located. He has a sister, Miss Fannie McDevitt, who lives on Jamaica street, Jamaica Plain. She has been notified of her brother's death.

NARROW ESCAPE

MAN FELL IN FRONT OF AN ELEVATED CAR

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—F. J. Cunningham who lives in Almont street, Winthrop, narrowly escaped death at the Forest Hills station of the elevated last night.

Cunningham, who was standing on the outbound platform about 11:20 was stricken with faintness and fell from the platform into the pit. At that moment an incoming train, carrying a large number of passengers, came into the shed and bore directly upon Cunningham, who lay in its path unable to move.

The motorman, Peter Pallo, saw his body lying on the track and put on the emergency brakes. Pallo brought the car to a stop within half a car length of Cunningham, who escaped without injury.

Cunningham, who fell beyond the third rail, was taken out of the pit by guards and soon revived.

SULTAN OF SULU

Plans to Build a "White House"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—His sublime highness, Hadji Mohammed Janulu Kiram, the sultan of Sulu, who won fame some years ago by proposing to Alice Roosevelt and having a Geo. Ade comic opera named after him, paid his respects to Acting Secretary of War Oliver and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army yesterday.

To Gen. Wood and Col. Scott the sultan talked over old times, with Charles Werble interpreting. His highness recalled how Gen. Wood, soon after he went to the island as military governor, gave him a life annuity in the nature of 6000 pesos, or $2000 in Uncle Sam's money, a year.

Gen. Oliver greeted the only titled American subject cordially. The general said he hoped his highness was

JOHN R. THAYER

To be Chairman of the State Convention

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Ex-Congressman John R. Thayer of Worcester will be named as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention, at the meeting of the executive committee of the state committee, to be held at headquarters tomorrow.

This was announced by Mayor Fitzgerald, following a call upon him by the ex-congressman, yesterday. The mayor said Chairman Macleod of the state committee had asked him to urge upon Mr. Thayer the acceptance of the chairmanship, and the Worcester man had given his consent to the program of the party leaders.

Besides selecting a permanent chairman, the executive committee will choose a temporary chairman, and a chairman of the committee on resolutions, who will draft the party platform. Representative William H. O'Brien of Boston has been mentioned for temporary chairman of the convention, and Harvey H. Pratt and Louis D. Brandeis for the chairman of resolutions.

A majority of the members of the executive committee are working in harmony with Fitzgerald, and it is expected that whatever program he lays down will be carried out. The membership of the committee is: John P. McDonald, chairman, Boston; Frederick J. Collins, Boston; Walter H. Creamer, Lynn; Daniel F. Doherty, Westfield; Henry A. Frothingham, Boston; Roger Sherman Hoar, Concord; Thomas L. Lawler, Greenfield; Joseph A. Maynard, Boston; John P. Meany, Blackstone; David F. O'Connell, Worcester; Phreay O'Sullivan, Lowell; Charles F. Sullivan, Fall River; James W. Synar, Pittsfield.

After his conference with the mayor, Mr. Thayer said the democratic party never had a better chance to win than it has this year.

"We ought to sweep the state, from the head of the ticket down," he said, "and by working together I am con-

ident we will do it. I look for a harmonious convention, because I believe the candidates for the gubernatorial nomination will see the necessity of sinking personal ambitions and working together for the good of the party. Let us act with judgment. It is a worthy thing to have political ambitions, but there should be no bad blood when it comes to facing the enemy. Then we should close up and present a united front. I believe any one of the four candidates mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination could win this year if his campaign was properly handled and the democrats were united."

Asked what he thought of the fight being made by Congressman Ames for Senator Lodge's seat, Mr. Thayer said: "I believe there is a splendid opportunity to defeat Senator Lodge. Butler Ames has campaign material of a most convincing kind. I listened to him on his recent visit to Worcester, and was deeply impressed with the argument he made against the senator."

LOWELL SINGERS

The following call for a public meeting will be of interest to all singers:

We are a city of 106,000 people. Among our varied activities we should have a live singing society; and with our population to draw from, and a competent and energetic conductor, it would seem easy to have it. Sometimes an old idea under a new name will win success. Suppose we have a choir guild or a singers' union, would it go any better than a choral society?

On Monday evening, Oct. 3, at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the First Unitarian Congregational church, Dutton street, a meeting of singers is called to meet Professor William R. Lane, baritone and conductor. With twenty years' experience along musical lines, he believes he has the qualifications for carrying to success a musical organization. He has a pleasing personality which, combined with zest and vim, makes a good leader.

This meeting is called to take action for the coming fall and winter, and it is hoped there will be a rousing attendance, full of enthusiasm and anticipation. If feasible, an organization will be perfected and rehearsals appointed.

Professor Lane will have on hand

music for the evening and will give an hour's preliminary rehearsal. Be sure to come, and interest someone else to come, and let us talk it up with success as the end in view. Remember the date and save the evening. Yours sincerely, George F. Kenagott, Pres. Lowell Choral Society, Thomas F. Boulger, Vice Pres., John A. McKenna, Secretary, Samuel Kershaw, Treasurer, Harry Stocks.

WOMAN IS HELD

SHE IS CHARGED WITH BEING AN ELOPER

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Manuel Da Braga, a woman and eight small children, are detained at the immigration station on request of the United States consul at St. Michael's Azores. The group arrived Sunday on the Romanic, but the consul's cablegraph reached Boston almost a week before the liner put in an appearance.

Da Braga is a Portuguese, 46 years old, and the woman he claims as wife is about 35. The question has arisen whether Da Braga is eloping with the mother and family and an investigation is on foot. Da Braga stoutly maintains the children are his. He smiles broadly at the suggestion that he has assumed the job of feeding and clothing some other man's offspring.

SULTAN OF SULU
PHOTOGRAPH BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

having a good time and was learning something of the life of the occident.

"I like the country very much, especially this city. It is grand and I would like to stay here a long time," said the sultan.

From Gen. Oliver's office the party went to Maj. McIntyre's office in the bureau of insular affairs. Maj. McIntyre spent several years in the Philippines and visited the island of Jolo and the sultan.

Today the party is going to the Washington monument. How his highness will ever reach the top is beyond the conception of his hosts. If he refuses to ride in the slow-moving elevator there is not for him to do but walk the 500 and some odd feet up.

Gen. Wood tried to persuade the sultan to ride down in one of the small elevators in the war department, but the nearest he could get him to it was in the shadow of the sliding door.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the sultan will pay his respects to President Taft.

A trip about the city in an automobile yesterday afternoon and last night seemed to delight the entire party. They wore broad smiles from the time they left the hotel until they returned.

His highness will look over some agricultural implements while here. He said yesterday that he wanted to introduce some modern ideas into his country when he returned.

The sultan is captivated by "American palaces," as he calls the White House and departmental buildings. He told his interpreter that when he returned to his native country he would build himself an American house if it cost him all the money he had.

When he passed the White House yesterday morning he stopped to admire it, and said, in his native tongue, "I would like to live in that house or one like that."

BURGLARS' HAUL WORTH $68,000

Wakefield Residence Robbed of Large Booty Secured by Noted Flat Workers

$2500 Last Night

WAKEFIELD, Sept. 27.—The police today are looking for the perpetrators of the largest burglary that has taken place in Wakefield for some time. The residence of John E. O'Brien at 4 Shumway Circle, in the most fashionable district of the town, was entered last evening while the family and servants were out and jewelry and silverware which Mr. O'Brien estimates to be worth about $2500 was stolen. Entrance was gained through a window opening on the piazza. When members of the family returned they found the house in great disorder, closets, bureaus and cabinets having been ransacked.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—John Clinton, 22 years old, who has turned state's evidence against Isaac Marks, a South Side jeweler, on trial for operating a "fence," testified in Judge Kavanaugh's court yesterday that he and his "pal" robbed from one to five flats or houses a night from January 1st to April 23rd, the day of his arrest. The goods recovered are valued at $68,000 and Clinton testified that Marks paid them only $400 for the lot. Clinton, telling of his methods of working, said:

"If we were detained over seven minutes in a flat we figured we were losing money. First we would ring a doorbell, and if we got a response we would inquire for somebody. If not, we got busy. That big 'jimmy' was all we ever used. We never took anything but money or jewelry."

$125,000 LOSS

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Fancy lumber to the value of $125,000 was destroyed by fire early today in the yard of the Parker & Palmer Lumber Co. in Charlestown. It was covered by insurance. The flames started in the drying room from whence they spread to the piles in the yard, where they were checked after two alarms had been turned in.

BAGGAGE HELD

CUSTOMS DECLARATION OF WOMAN WAS NOT SATISFACTORY
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mrs. H. N. Slater of Roxbury, Mass., said to be related to the prominent Slater family of New England and financially interested in a New York firm of the same name, was not permitted to take away her baggage when she arrived yesterday at the Hotel Augusta Victoria, accompanied by her daughter and a maid.

She declared 10 gowns valued at $1400 and additional personal effects worth $300, but the customs inspectors were not satisfied and insisted on a complete appraisal of the contents of her trunk.

After the seizure Mrs. Slater said that she could not remember exactly how many gowns she brought over. No charge was filed against her, but her declaration will be compared with the contents of her trunks.

STRUCK BY ROCK

GRANITEVILLE QUARRYMAN INJURED BY BLAST

While blasting with his son at his quarry on Saturday, Thomas Rafferty, a well known sign contractor of Graniteville, was struck by a jagged piece of rock, which ripped an ugly hole in his left side and splintered the hip bone. He was hurried to his home in the village and Dr. W. J. Sherman summoned and later Dr. O. V. Wells of Westford was called. It was found necessary to take 18 stitches to close the wound and the patient is now resting as well as can be expected.

FIERCE FIGHT

POLICEMAN WAS ATTACKED BY PRISONER AT MANCHESTER

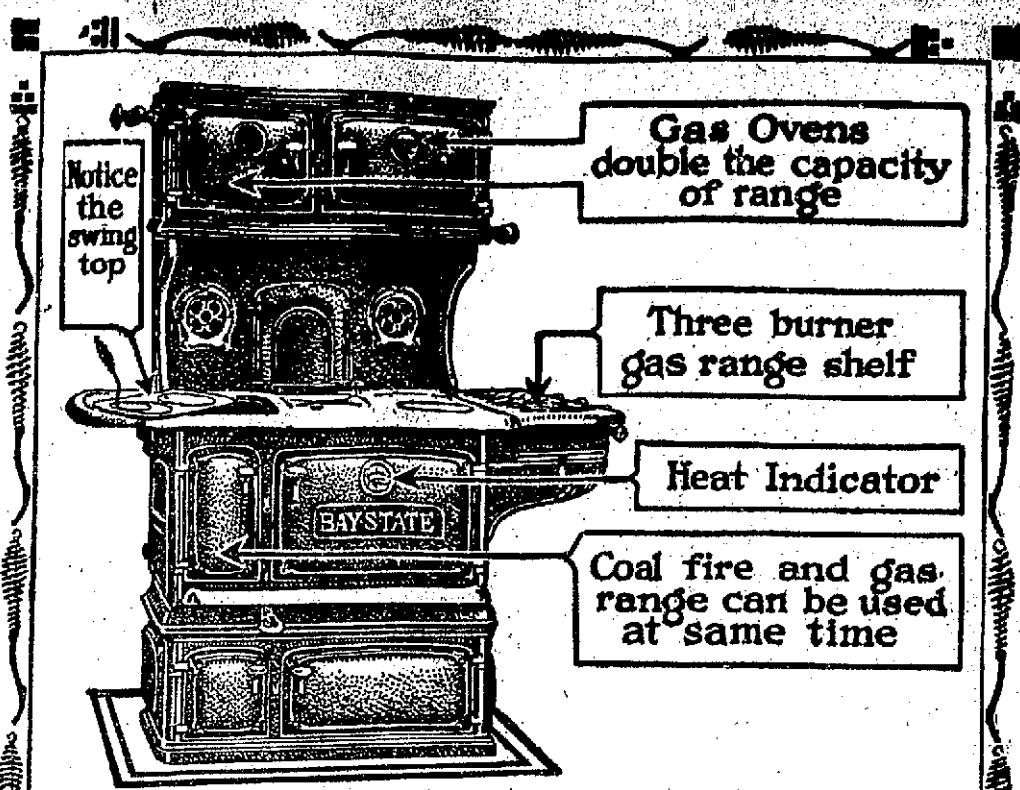

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 27.—One of the fiercest fights between a prisoner and a policeman ever seen here took place yesterday in McGregorville between Patrolman Elmer E. Somers and a man who is supposed to be Joseph Theriault. The latter had been placed under arrest on suspicion of having stolen a quantity of liquor, when he suddenly turned on his captor, attacking him with such ferocity that he succeeded in partially disabling the policeman and made his escape to the woods, although himself hurt.

The affair caused great excitement. When the prisoner broke away the policeman, although crippled, followed him up the street and fired a shot from his revolver in a vain effort to stop him. Patrolman Somers had his left wrist crushed and had to fight with a single hand. Theriault is a man of more than ordinary strength.

DOCTOR SUDDENLY STRICKEN
SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 27.—Dr. Charles J. Dowling of Eastern avenue, died yesterday afternoon of acute uremia. He complained of feeling ill Sunday afternoon and retired to his office in the evening, where he evidently became unconscious and remained all night and yesterday.

A visitor saw him on his couch yesterday afternoon, and feeling to get any response to his knocks, informed Dr. S. E. Ryan. He was removed to the Mercy hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Dowling was about 30 years old and was born in Springfield. He was graduated from Ottawa medical college in 1903, and from Baltimore medical college in 1906.

WILL COST $3,000,000

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Papers were signed last night which give a complete right of way to the Lehigh & New England railroad for an extension of 31 miles from its main line at Danielsville near Slatington to Tamaqua. The new road will cost $3,000,000. The securing of this right of way was the work of two years, and the completion of this preliminary work means the construction without delay of the most important railroad link in Pennsylvania in years. The new line will connect more particularly the collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. and the whole anthracite region in general with the shortest route to Boston, via the Poughkeepsie bridge route. The present shortest line is 170 miles long, but this will be 40 miles shorter. By this stroke the Lehigh & New England will become an important tonnage factor in the New England coal trade in competition with the Lehigh Valley, Jersey, Pennsylvania, Reading on the south and the Erie and Lackawanna on the north. Its management expects an addition of 4,000,000 tons of freight from the start.

FITCHBURG MAN

Says That He Was Held Up

FITCHBURG, Sept. 27.—Frank Moyer reported to the police last night that he was held up by an unknown man in a dark place near the Fitchburg gas plant. He said the stranger demanded he give him all his money. Moyer told the police that the stranger then put his hand in his pocket and made the threat he would shoot him if he did not give up his money. Just as Moyer was about to hand over the money a wagon driven by an employee of the gas company came along and the highwayman made his escape. Moyer gave a description of the man, which the police say answers that of a man they know.

WOMAN RESCUED

She Was Nearly Drowned at Nantasket

NANTASKET, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Rosa Flood of Nantasket avenue was rescued from drowning yesterday afternoon on the ocean side of Nantasket beach, near Atlantic Hill, by James McNamara, mate of the steamer Nantasket, and a young man whose name was not ascertained.

Mrs. Flood is a good swimmer, but one of her arms gave out, rendering her unable to swim, and in the strong current she was in a perilous position. A young man was gathering kelp on the beach and heard her cries for help.

At that moment McNamara, who was on his way from his home at West's Corner to the Nantasket steamboat landing, also heard her cries, and both ran into the surf fully clothed.

They reached the drowning woman, who is quite large, just in time and brought her ashore in an exhausted condition. She was taken to her home nearby, where she is resting comfortably.

It was with considerable effort that Mr. McNamara got ashore, his collar, which was stiffened by the water, nearly strangling him.

Rescuers assisting at the rescue of Mrs. Flood McNamara has saved six other persons from drowning. One of these was a boy whom he rescued at Pemberton some time ago. The boy's parents rewarded him with a gold watch. Although he cannot swim a stroke Mr. McNamara has never hesitated to risk his life in saving others.

SOME OF HARVARD'S FOOTBALL SQUAD IN ACTION ON THE FIELD

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 27.—Judging by the great deal of attention Coach Haughton is giving to the kicking department during practice, it appears that men booting the ball will play an important figure in Harvard's games this season. Nearly half the practice finds some squad at work booting the pigskin. In Feltton the Crimson should have a punter of rare ability. His kicks travel regularly from fifty-five to sixty yards and also hang in the air just long enough to allow his ends to flit with whoever receives them. "Ham" Corbett, the red headed varsity back, is no mean kicker either. Captain Withington, Wigglesworth and Bob Fisher have so far had a monopoly on the drop kicking and place kicking game. The captain has sent over several good "sallies" from the forty yard line. From now on scrimmages will be held every day, and by the middle of next week the squad will go into ac-

cret practice. Harvard opens her season Sept. 28 with Bates college at the stadium. Old fashioned football will undoubtedly be tried against the Maine lads and some two dozen players sent into the game. Paul Withington, last fall's varsity center, arrived here the other day to accept a position in the office of the Harvard Athletic association. He will join the football coaches in an effort to develop a reliable center for Harvard's weakest place.

COWARDLY AUTOISTS Men Suspected of Killing Man Held at Portsmouth

BEVERLY, Sept. 27.—Chief of Police Ferguson of this city, who began a search through New England last night for the occupants of the auto that struck and fatally injured Samuel Hollingshead, the Wenham car conductor, sent word here today that he had Edward Dupie of New York and his chauffeur, Fred Halsey, under detention in Portsmouth, N. H., pending identification. Several witnesses have started for Portsmouth to identify the men.

STORY OF THE CRIME
BOSTON, Sept. 27.—After hurrying a conductor from the running board of a car and fatally injuring him while attempting to pass between the car and an ice wagon, a large brown touring car on the state highway in North Beverly, containing a man and a woman, put on extra speed and disappeared early last evening.

The conductor, Samuel W. Hollingshead, was in charge of a Boston & Northern car running from Wenham to Beverly. In front of the residence of Charles A. Mason on Dodge street, he was standing on the running board collecting fares, when the touring car dashed along in the opposite direction and tried to pass between the car and a wagon of the Salem & Beverly Ice company that was proceeding in the same direction as the car.

The auto struck Hollingshead, tossing him high into the air, and he fell on the macadamized roadbed. The occupants of the automobile did not slacken speed and when the passengers and track workers who were in a car behind, yelled to the driver to stop, he put on more speed and dashed away toward Hamilton.

Dr. George J. Hill of Beverly in his runabout reached the scene a few minutes after the accident. There was a deep gash in the head of the unconscious conductor. Halting the touring car of Dr. John C. Phillips, Dr. Hill had Hollingshead taken to the Beverly hospital. There it was found that his skull had been fractured. He died, without regaining consciousness, in about 50 minutes after the accident.

The number of the machine causing his death could not be determined, as the auto was traveling very fast. One woman was positive it bore a New York number, but could not decipher the numerals. The auto was a dark brown and had a khaki colored top which was up. The car was equipped with a mica windshield, and the only couple were riding on the front seat, the man driving.

As soon as the Beverly police were notified, they telephoned to every other police station along the route the machine was traveling as far away as Portsmouth.

Hollingshead had been employed on the Boston & Northern for about nine years. He lived on Patch avenue, near Audin street, Wenham. He leaves a wife and one child. Another child died three weeks ago. He was an Old Fellow.

WEST POINT MEN Gave Captain Longan "Silence" Treatment

WEST POINT, Sept. 27.—More than 400 cadets, the whole cadet corps of the United States Military academy, are practically under arrest as a result of the corps having administered the "silence" treatment to Captain Rufus E. Longan of the Eleventh Unit.

ed States Infantry at supper in the Grant Memorial hall recently. Not in years has an officer on duty at West Point suffered the "silence" treatment, and the victimizing of Captain Longan has caused one of the most delicate situations that any superintendent has ever been called upon to handle. HOOSAC TUNNEL

The Engineers Favor Overhead System

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Vice President McHenry of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is receiving almost daily reports from the corps of engineers he has sent from New Haven to North Adams to formulate plans for the electrification of the Hoosac tunnel, as ordered by President Mollen the first day he was acting president of the Boston & Maine system.

His preliminary survey has convinced the engineers that the overhead trolley system is better fitted to the tunnel problem than the third rail equipment. This decision has been approved by Mr. McHenry, under whose direction the work is to be done.

Although the overhead system has worked so well in the electrification of the New Haven line from Stamford, Ct., to the terminus at New York city, a careful examination of the tunnel was necessary before the engineers could safely conclude that they could carry out their first and natural desire to employ the same system there.

A rough estimate of the entire cost of equipping the tunnel with an overhead trolley system places it at $1,000,000. This will electrify the line from as far west as Williamsport to as far east as the eastern portal of the tunnel.

The necessary electric power station will be erected at or near the west portal of the tunnel, in North Adams.

The assured change of the motive power of trains during their passage through the tunnel has aroused much interest among railroad ticket agents in the west and the New Haven-Boston & Maine authorities have received from such agents estimates of increased through passenger business from the west over the Pittsburgh branch, ranging from $50,000 to $150,000 annually. The tunnel with its old, disagreeable conditions has doubtless kept considerable revenue from the Boston & Maine system because of the determination of many experienced travelers to avoid going through the tunnel if possible.
